HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 3.—(AP)—Filling a rapid-fire round of engagements here today, Postmaster General James A. Farley talked plenty of politics but no personalities.

He told newspapermen at a press conference and Arkansas postmasters assembled at annual convention that the 1940 Democratic platform would be written around the accomplishments of the Roosevelt administration. He assured members of the Future Farmers of America that the administration's agricultural program has made the future more promising for farmers.

But to questions about who might be chosen to lead the party next year, the Democratic national committee chairman returned what is now his stock reply:

It is futile to talk about 1940 possibilities until the president expresses himself.

EUROPE EFFECTS SCANT PROGRESS

Week Of Intensive Diplomatic Maneuvering Brings Slight Results

By the Associated Press

Europe's opposing camps came to the end of another week of intensive diplomatic maneuvering yesterday but with little to show for their efforts.

Soviet Russia wrote "inadequate" across Britain's latest proposals to bring her into the British-French front and sat back awaiting the next move from the western powers.

Britons, diverted from the Soviet negotiations late in the week by the submarine Thetis disaster, still held hope, however, that an understanding eventually would be reached with Moscow.

On the other side of the fence, Adolf Hitler lavished considerable attention upon Yugoslavia whose Regent Prince Paul was wined and dined in Berlin on a five-day state visit.

Across the banquet table the Nazi fuehrer guaranteed the borders of the Balkan state in an exchange of toasts with the Belgrade regent.

Talk was heard in Belgrade, the Yugoslav capital, of a possible non-aggression pact with Germany. Reliable sources there said at the same time that Yugoslavia would appeal to

SENATOR NOE ASKS $2,000 EXEMPTION

State Senator James A. Noe, anti-administration candidate for governor, announced today that he has written State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell requesting that homestead exemption be raised from $1,000 to $2,000.

"My understanding of the law," Senator Noe said, "is that the treasurer may designate when the state of Louisiana is financially able to afford this exemption. According to press dispatches there now exists a surplus of sixteen million dollars in the state treasury and a surplus in the homestead fund of over two times the amount which existed in that fund at the time an exemption of $1,000 was declared."

Hope Given Up For 98 On U-Boat

RELATIVES TOLD ALL MEN ABOARD SUBMARINE DEAD

BIRKENHEAD, England, June 3.—(AP)—Hope vanished tonight for 98 men at the bottom of the Irish sea in the sunken British submarine Thetis—the greatest number ever to perish in an underseas disaster.

The admiralty gave the men up for dead nearly 15 hours after the air supply was calculated to have been exhausted behind the Thetis' silent, thick steel walls. Admiralty officials acknowledged that slow seepage of water into the submarine's batteries probably had formed chlorine gas and that the fumes had suffocated the men.

At 1:40 a.m. (6:40 p.m., central standard time, Friday night) 36 hours—the deadline for the Thetis' sealed-up air—had passed since the new $1,500,000 submarine dived into Liverpool bay in a test on a trial run for acceptance by the British navy.

For six hours after that divers tapped urgently at her sides for a signal that life still flickered within. They got what they believed might have been their final, faint answer at 2 a.m. today (7 p.m., central standard time, Friday night) although some thought they might have heard only loose gear rattling against the swaying sides of the hulk.

Then, at 4:30 p.m. (9:30 a.m., central standard time), after incessant rescue attempts spurred by the trapped men's ebbing chances had failed, the admiralty abandoned hope.

It issued a statement saying "There is now no longer justification for hope that any further lives can be saved from the Thetis."

But it said salvage work was continuing.

Posted for grieving relatives of the entombed men to see, a telegram from the admiralty was placed in the window of Cammell Laird, Ltd., builders of the Thetis. It read:

"Regret that hope of saving victims in Thetis must now be abandoned."

The Thetis, her nose buried in 65 feet of mud in wreck-littered Liverpool bay, carried 102 men below with her in her dive. Four men escaped with Davis breathing "lungs." Three others were said to have died in vain attempts.

The catastrophe had all the elements of a major mystery.

The Thetis had had several minor accidents in previous trials but there was still no official explanation of why she suddenly plunged into the mud.

Neither was there any explanation of why four men managed to get through the aft escape hatch within an hour Friday morning and then no more escaped.

Those four were Captain H. P. K. Oram, Lieutenant G. F. Woods, Chief Stoker W. C. Arnold and Frank Shaw but none of them was allowed for the present to make any official statement of what happened at the time of the accident or what plight the others

Former Judge Manton Found Guilty By Jury

Faces Maximum Penalty Of Two Years In Prison And $10,000 Fine

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Former Federal Circuit Court Justice Martin T. Manton was convicted by a federal court jury tonight of conspiracy to obstruct justice and to deprive the United States of his impartial services.

He faces a maximum penalty of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

George M. Spector, former confidential agent for the late promoter Archie M. Andrews, was convicted on the same charges.

The jury—ten men and two women—received the case at 3:15 p.m., eastern standard time, after a trial of 11 days and returned their verdict about four hours later, after taking an hour out for dinner.

Benjamin Golder, of Manton's counsel, asked that bail be continued for Manton pending the filing of a motion for a new trial or notification of intention to take an appeal to a higher court.

Manton's bail is $10,000. His co-defendant Spector is held in $17,000 bail.

The continuance of bail was granted and a hearing on a motion for a new trial was set for June 20.

22 STATES WARNED AGAINST SMALLPOX

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 3.—(AP)—New York's health department warned 22 other states tonight to be on guard against the spread of smallpox in the wake of an outbreak of the disease in the Onondaga county penitentiary at nearby Jamesville.

Department officials, urging statewide smallpox vaccination in New York, said 196 persons released from the penitentiary since May 14 had been exposed to infection and not only had scattered throughout New York but may have returned to their home states.

They notified health departments of the following 22 states the names and addresses of persons who may be exposed:

Connecticut, California, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

"There has been sufficiently wide exposure so that it is impossible to predict what might happen," declared Dr. Ernest L. Stebbins, assistant commissioner for preventable disease.

Eleven cases of smallpox have been located in the penitentiary, while five additional cases have been reported.

AIR CARNIVAL'S FLIERS DELAYED

Several Participants Arrive Late Because Of Having To Dodge Storms

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 3.—(AP)—Storm to northward and squalls to southward delayed participants in the national air carnival, but the sun broke through on Birmingham's municipal airport today and the ninth annual show went on in full swing.

Late arrivals forced to detour around storms in the midwest were Colonel Roscoe Turner and Miss Willo Sheridan, Detroit, representing Michigan in competition for the "Miss American Aviation" title.

From Greensboro, N. C., Devon Francis, Associated Press aviation editor, reported he was grounded by bad weather. Squeek Burnett, stunt flier, also delayed at Greensboro, messaged he expected to arrive here by nightfall.

Reports of squalls along the gulf coast came from United States navy fliers from the Pensacola air base and from members of the Cuban air force, Captain Victor Bermudez and Lieutenant Tomas Alvarez.

Minor mishaps added mild excitement to the opening day's events, but the carnival maintained its 9-year record of no fatalities.

A. J. Hartman, Burlington, Ia., flying a 1910 model plane, nosed over in landing after a demonstration flight. Later Hartman, who was unhurt, said the ancient little craft hit a soft spot on the field. The propeller and a wing-rib were damaged.

OAK GROVE GIRL, MISSING, HUNTED

OAK GROVE, La., June 3.—(Special)—Mildred Burch, 13-year-old daughter of a rural mail carrier, often talked of leaving home to seek adventure, and today state police were seeking her after she disappeared from home here with a considerable sum from the family pocketbook, and her father's automobile.

Jesse Burch, father of the girl, reported to state police this morning that his daughter had disappeared from home late last night, taking between $50 and $65 in cash and the family automobile, a green two-door Ford sedan. She has not been reported seen since.

The girl, who was believed to have left home around 10 o'clock last night, took all her clothing with her. It is believed that she is traveling alone.

She was described as a blue-eyed blonde, about five feet in height and weighing about 100 pounds.

No reason was given for her act except that she had "often talked of going away to seek adventure and a good time."

British People Critical Of Submarine Rescue Efforts

LIVERPOOL, England, June 3.—(AP)—Britain's man-in-the-street, stunned by the Thetis disaster, was sharply critical today, along with some newspapers, of the futile rescue efforts.

It was predicted freely there would be repercussions in parliament and the possibility was mentioned of a civil as well as an admiralty inquiry.

Marine circles, however, generally withheld judgment until all facts were known. They pointed out that the layman has little knowledge of the extent of technical problems involved in submarine operation.

Typical of the immediate reaction by the man-in-the-street was the comment of one man:

"Look what the Yanks did when the Squalus sank. Why should they be any more efficient than we are? Their boat was deeper down than ours."

Thirty-three of 59 trapped in the Squalus were saved and only four of 102 were rescued from the Thetis; the Squalus was in 240 feet of water, the Thetis in only 130, with 18 feet of her stern above the surface for a time.

The wife of one victim said "it certainly looks to me as if they could have done something with all the time they had." The Thetis was first located Friday morning at which time those aboard were estimated to have had about 18 hours' supply of oxygen left.

But soberly balanced against perplexity and questioning were these assertions:

1. R. S. Johnston, managing director of Cammell Laird, Ltd., the submarine's builders, said that "whatever has been done in the rescue work, we were thinking only of the people in the ship and not of the ship itself."

2. A semi-official explanation issued early this afternoon stating that the possibility of cutting a hole in the stern during the hours it was exposed yesterday was considered "but not found practicable."

The statement said that there was only a tiny compartment in that section of the stern which was above water and that if a hole had been cut

BOY'S FEARS OF SCHOOL FAILURE PROVE UNFOUNDED

BATON ROUGE, La., June 3.—(AP)—Everything's okay now with Calvin Ashworth, 10-year-old grammar school kid.

He felt so sure he had failed in his classes he ran away from home in humiliation. Police put out a dragnet and, 30 hours later, Detective V. C. Williams found Calvin riding his bicycle down a main street.

"I went out and got myself a job selling papers," the youngster told police.

The prodigal's return home was in complete happiness. He learned his fears were unfounded. He had passed all his subjects.

FINAL EXERCISES OF O. P. H. S. HELD

More Than 300 Graduates Hear Address By Snellings On Values Of Thrift

More than 300 members of the Ouachita Parish High school class of 1939 received their diplomas at the annual commencement held at the Neville High school auditorium Friday night. The huge stage was beautified with seasonal flowers and the large class almost completely filled the space assigned. The speaker of the occasion, Attorney George M. Snellings, Jr., brought an inspiring message on "Dividends of Thrift."

The program opened with invocation by Rev. W. C. Scott, pastor of the First Methodist church, followed by "Daybreak" (Faning) by a mixed glee club.

The salutatory address, "Our School, a Laboratory of Citizenship," was delivered by Sybil Gates. The valedictory address was by Norman Nelson but, because of illness, the paper was read by Mary Lavinia Inabnet. It was entitled "Our School, a Business Training Center."

Mr. Snellings, introduced by Fred G. Thatcher of the parish school board, said in part:

"The first concern of you graduates and of all others going forth into the world is to make a living. It is a prosaic subject but of utmost importance. In my talk tonight I shall try to point out a few fundamental principles which I hope may be of service to you and aid you in making a success in life.

"In the subject of thrift, there are two kinds to be considered. The first may be termed economic thrift. A book which I read with interest recently is entitled 'Cures for a Lean Purse.' It is the story of a man who lived in ancient Babylon, that city of past splendor. By following certain set principles, this man became one of the very richest men of that city. Summed up, his theory was to save a part of all he earned so that in years to come he might be self-sufficient economically.

This may seem simple but it is the fundamental principle of thrift. Too many are not careful and spend their lives working for others and spending as they go. If you members of this class will give heed to the matter of saving a percentage of your earnings, you can in later years become wealthy in proportion to your talents.

"There are five guiding rules in industrial thrift.

"1. I would say you must learn to

Lame and weary from the weight of his 78 years, Ignace Jan Paderewski lifted his hat in a gesture of farewell to America when he boarded the Normandie in New York to sail for his home-in-exile in Switzerland. The Polish wizard of the piano cancelled his current American tour because of illness.

MOSELEY COURT MARTIAL ASKED

Demands That Charges Be Brought Against Retired Army Officer Pile Up

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—Demands are piling up at the war department that outspoken Major General George Van Horn Moseley face an army court martial on charges growing out of his campaign against "enemies from within."

Authoritative sources disclosed this today at the same time that the White House acknowledged a letter from Representative Coffee, Democrat, Washington, suggesting that the retired officer was guilty of "subversive statements" in his testimony before the house committee on un-American activities.

It appeared that no action would be taken, at least for the time being.

At the White House it was said the matter was in the hands of the war department, but some army officers argued privately that a decision was up to the president as commander-in-chief of the army and navy.

The attitude of some of Mr. Roosevelt's principal military advisers was said to be that filing charges would only "make a martyr" of General Moseley, publicize his campaign against communism, and tend to

ORLEANS POLICE PARTY BROKEN UP

NEW ORLEANS, June 3.—(AP)—The police wanted to throw a party today but the police broke it up.

Some officers brought a whacking big load of ice cream and cake into the show-up room at headquarters to feed the prisoners. Newspaper photographers and reporters were summoned to watch jailed men eat.

The idea was to give a sort of light touch to sober proceedings that involved Detective Chief John Grosch earlier in the week. Grosch was quoted as saying at a Rotary club luncheon that he quashed major crime in the city with third-degree treatment.

Later, after a consultation with Police Superintendent George Reyer, Grosch denied using the term "third-degree" and insisted he had mentioned, sarcastically, that he obtained confessions from criminals by feeding them ice cream and cake.

So Grosch's well-wishers in the department ordered the goodies to give a practical demonstration of prisoners stuffing themselves. But some one, who thought the less said about ice cream and cake the better, notified police higher-ups. There came a mysterious telephone call to the show-up room, banning the whole thing and wanting to know who had the bright idea in the first place.

CATHOLICS TO BUILD EDIFICES

Site Purchased In West Monroe, Also One On Adams Street

Purchase is announced in behalf of the diocese of Alexandria of a large block of land on North Seventh street, near Vernon street, in West Monroe, for the erection of a Catholic church in that city. The tract of land is the equivalent of 13 ordinary sized building lots and will be adequate for some years to come, it is believed.

As soon as the necessary arrangements can be effected, it is expected that a church will be erected on the property. It will be the first Catholic church to be erected in West Monroe, where there are now many Catholics who are obliged to attend services in St. Matthew's church in Monroe.

St. Matthew's church is too small to accommodate the membership, it is stated. There are 1,200 to 1,500 members of the church and the seating capacity, with the addition of chairs, is not more than 500. It is believed that a new church in West Monroe will aid in caring for the present overflow.

It is not announced as to when construction will be started on the church, but is is believed that it will not be long.

Another site has been similarly acquired by the diocese of Alexandria for the erection of a Catholic church for colored members at the corner of Adams and 21st street, in Monroe. It is expected that a frame structure will be erected on this site before the summer ends. At the present time it is said that there are a considerable number of colored Catholics attending St. Matthew's and it is felt that if they are given a church of their own that the number will be greatly increased.

U. S. LAND BUYING PLANS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—The national forest preservation commission announced today it had approved plans for the purchase of 243,926 acres of land in 24 states and Puerto Rico for incorporation within 48 national forest units.

Representing a total area roughly one-third the size of Rhode Island, the land will cost $855,693. The commission said most of the land would be valuable for forest crops.

Locations of the tracts to be purchased, the forest to which they will be attached, the acreage and the cost, respectively, include:

Louisiana—Kisatchie, 2,934 acres, $15,926.

Arkansas and Oklahoma—Ouachita, 6,144 acres, $18,354.

Approves Efforts Of Supporters To Line Up Convention Delegates

SOME URGE HIM TO SPEAK OUT ON NATIONAL ISSUES

Group Of Senators Seek To Heal Differences Beween Democratic Factions

By William B. Ardery

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—Close friends of Vice-President Garner disclosed today that he had decided to seek the presidential nomination at the 1940 Democratic convention even if President Roosevelt should be a candidate.

Garner was said to be convinced that his name should go before the convention, regardless of the strength of any opposing aspirants for the nomination, and that consequently he had approved efforts of supporters to line up convention delegates in his behalf.

Headed by E. B. Germany, Texas Democratic state chairman, a Garner-for-President organization already has been formed and has mailed about 30,000 letters to Democratic voters urging support of Garner for the presidential nomination. Recently, Garner himself has had several off-the-record talks with state political leaders.

Some of the vice-president's political advisers were said to be urging him to participate actively in state primaries and conventions which will choose convention delegates next year.

His friends feel, congressional insiders said, that he would have an excellent chance for the presidential nomination if he exerted his influence to win delegates.

Even if it appeared he could not be nominated, they said, Garner-pledged state delegations would give him a strong voice in the convention.

Informed persons told reporters that some of Garner's supporters believed he could make political capi-

Baton Rouge Methodist Church Scarcely Half Filled At Simple Ceremony

BATON ROUGE, La., June 3.—(AP)—College romance reached the altar today for Russell Billiu Long, 20, son of the late Louisiana political dictator, Huey P. Long.

The youth—aspiring to follow in his father's footsteps in politics and already eyeing the state's governorship—was married to his college sweetheart, Katherine Mae Hattic, 19, a pretty brunette.

The nuptials were quietly performed at the First Methodist church before only a few friends and relatives, a simple ceremony compared with the elaborate wedding a year ago of Russell's sister, Rose, to Dr. Osmyn William McFarland.

Huey's curly-haired son bears a striking resemblance to his father. Only recently Russell revealed he would like, some day, to become Louisiana's governor and mourned the fact that his youth would prevent his becoming a candidate for many years to come.

After Huey was shot and killed at the capitol in 1935 Russell said he felt he never would enter politics but more recently he announced that only by carrying on where his father left

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 3.—(AP)—Storm to northward and squalls to southward delayed participants in the national air carnival, but the sun broke through on Birmingham's municipal airport today and the ninth annual show went on in full swing.

Late arrivals forced to detour around storms in the midwest were Colonel Roscoe Turner and Miss Willo Sheridan, Detroit, representing Michigan in competition for the "Miss American Aviation" title.

From Greensboro, N. C., Devon Francis, Associated Press aviation editor, reported he was grounded by bad weather. Squeek Burnett, stunt flier, also delayed at Greensboro, messaged he expected to arrive here by nightfall.

Reports of squalls along the gulf coast came from United States navy fliers from the Pensacola air base and from members of the Cuban air force, Captain Victor Bermudez and Lieutenant Tomas Alvarez.

Minor mishaps added mild excitement to the opening day's events, but the carnival maintained its 9-year record of no fatalities.

A. J. Hartman, Burlington, Ia., flying a 1910 model plane, nosed over in landing after a demonstration flight. Later Hartman, who was unhurt, said the ancient little craft hit a soft spot on the field. The propeller and a wing-rib were damaged.

OAK GROVE GIRL, MISSING, HUNTED

OAK GROVE, La., June 3.—(Special — Mildred Burch, 13-year-old daughter of a rural mail carrier, often talked of leaving home to seek adventure, and today state police were seeking her after she disappeared from home here with a considerable sum from the family pocketbook, and her father's automobile.

Jesse Burch, father of the girl, reported to state police this morning that his daughter had disappeared from home late last night, taking between $50 and $65 in cash and the family automobile, a green two-door Ford sedan. She has not been reported seen since.

The girl, who was believed to have left home around 10 o'clock last night, took all her clothing with her. It is believed that she is traveling alone.

She was described as a blue-eyed blonde, about five feet in height and weighing about 100 pounds.

No reason was given for her act except that she had "often talked of going away to seek adventure and a good time."

RELATIVES TOLD ALL MEN ABOARD SUBMARINE DEAD

BIRKENHEAD, England, June 3.—(AP)—Hope vanished tonight for 98 men at the bottom of the Irish sea in the sunken British submarine Thetis—the greatest number ever to perish in an underseas disaster.

The admiralty gave the men up for dead nearly 15 hours after the air supply was calculated to have been exhausted behind the Thetis' silent, thick steel walls. Admiralty officials acknowledged that slow seepage of water into the submarine's batteries probably had formed chlorine gas and that the fumes had suffocated the men.

At 1:40 a. m. (6:40 p. m., central standard time, Friday night) 36 hours—the deadline for the Thetis' sealed-up air—had passed since the new $1,500,000 submarine dived into Liverpool bay in a test on a trial run for acceptance by the British navy.

For six hours after that divers tapped urgently at her sides for a signal that life still flickered within. They got what they believed might have been their final, faint answer at 2 a. m. today (7 p. m., central standard time, Friday night), although some thought they might have heard only loose gear rattling against the swaying sides of the hulk.

Then, at 4:30 p. m. (9:30 a. m., central standard time), after incessant rescue attempts spurred by the trapped men's ebbing chances had failed, the admiralty abandoned hope.

It issued a statement saying "There is now no longer justification for hope that any further lives can be saved from the Thetis."

But it said salvage work was continuing.

Posted for grieving relatives of the entombed men to see, a telegram from the admiralty was placed in the window of Cammell Laird, Ltd., builders of the Thetis. It read:

"Regret that hope of saving victims in Thetis must now be abandoned."

The Thetis, her nose buried in 65 feet of mud in wreck-littered Liverpool bay, carried 102 men below with her in her dive. Four men escaped with Davis breathing "lungs." Three others were said to have died in vain attempts.

The catastrophe had all the elements of a major mystery.

The Thetis had had several minor accidents in previous trials but there was still no official explanation of why she suddenly plunged into the mud.

Neither was there any explanation of why four men managed to get through the aft escape hatch within an hour Friday morning and then no more escaped.

Those four were Captain H. P. K. Oram, Lieutenant G. F. Woods, Chief Stoker W. C. Arnold and Frank Shaw but none of them was allowed for the present to make any official statement of what happened at the time of the accident or what plight the others

British People Critical Of Submarine Rescue Efforts

LIVERPOOL, England, June 3.—(AP)—Britain's man-in-the-street, stunned by the Thetis disaster, was sharply critical today, along with some newspapers, of the futile rescue efforts.

It was predicted freely there would be repercussions in parliament and the possibility was mentioned of a civil as well as an admiralty inquiry.

Marine circles, however, generally withheld judgment until all facts were known. They pointed out that the layman has little knowledge of the extent of technical problems involved in submarine operation.

Typical of the immediate reaction by the man-in-the-street was the comment of one man:

"Look what the Yanks did when the Squalus sank. Why should they be any more efficient than we are? Their boat was deeper down than ours."

Thirty-three of 59 trapped in the Squalus were saved and only four of 102 were rescued from the Thetis; the Squalus was in 240 feet of water, the Thetis in only 130, with 18 feet of her stern above the surface for a time.

The wife of one victim said "it certainly looks to me as if they could have done something with all the time they had." The Thetis was first located Friday morning at which time those aboard were estimated to have had about 18 hours' supply of oxygen left.

But soberly balanced against perplexity and questioning were these assertions:

1. R. S. Johnston, managing director of Cammell Laird, Ltd., the submarine's builders, said that "whatever has been done in the rescue work, we were thinking only of the people in the ship and not of the ship itself."

2. A semi-official explanation issued early this afternoon stating that the possibility of cutting a hole in the stern during the hours it was exposed yesterday was considered "but not found practicable."

The statement said that there was only a tiny compartment in that section of the stern which was above water and that if a hole had been cut

BOY'S FEARS OF SCHOOL FAILURE PROVE UNFOUNDED

BATON ROUGE, La., June 3.—(AP)—Everything's okay now with Calvin Ashworth, 10-year-old grammar school kid.

He felt so sure he had failed in his classes he ran away from home in humiliation. Police put out a dragnet and, 30 hours later, Detective V. C. Williams found Calvin riding his bicycle down a main street.

"I went out and got myself a job selling papers," the youngster told police.

The prodigal's return home was in complete happiness. He learned his fears were unfounded. He had passed all his subjects.

FINAL EXERCISES OF O. P. H. S. HELD

More Than 300 Graduates Hear Address By Snellings On Values Of Thrift

More than 300 members of the Ouachita Parish High school class of 1939 received their diplomas at the annual commencement held at the Neville High school auditorium Friday night. The huge stage was beautified with seasonal flowers and the large class almost completely filled the space assigned. The speaker of the occasion, Attorney George M. Snellings, Jr., brought an inspiring message on "Dividends of Thrift."

The program opened with invocation by Rev. W. C. Scott, pastor of the First Methodist church, followed by "Daybreak" (Faning) by a mixed glee club.

The salutatory address, "Our School, a Laboratory of Citizenship," was delivered by Sybil Gates. The valedictory address was by Norman Nelson but, because of illness, the paper was read by Mary Lavinia Inabnet. It was entitled "Our School, a Business Training Center."

Mr. Snellings, introduced by Fred G. Thatcher of the parish school board, said in part:

"The first concern of you graduates and of all others going forth into the world is to make a living. It is a prosaic subject but of utmost importance. In my talk tonight I shall try to point out a few fundamental principles which I hope may be of service to you and aid you in making a success in life.

"In the subject of thrift, there are two kinds to be considered. The first may be termed economic thrift. A book which I read with interest recently is entitled 'Cures for a Lean Purse.' It is the story of a man who lived in ancient Babylon, that city of past splendor. By following certain set principles, this man became one of the very richest men of that city. Summed up, his theory was to save a part of all he earned so that in years to come he might be self-sufficient economically.

This may seem simple but it is the fundamental principle of thrift. Too many are not careful and spend their lives working for others and spending as they go. If you members of this class will give heed to the matter of saving a percentage of your earnings, you can in later years become wealthy in proportion to your talents.

"There are five guiding rules in industrial thrift.

"1. I would say you must learn to

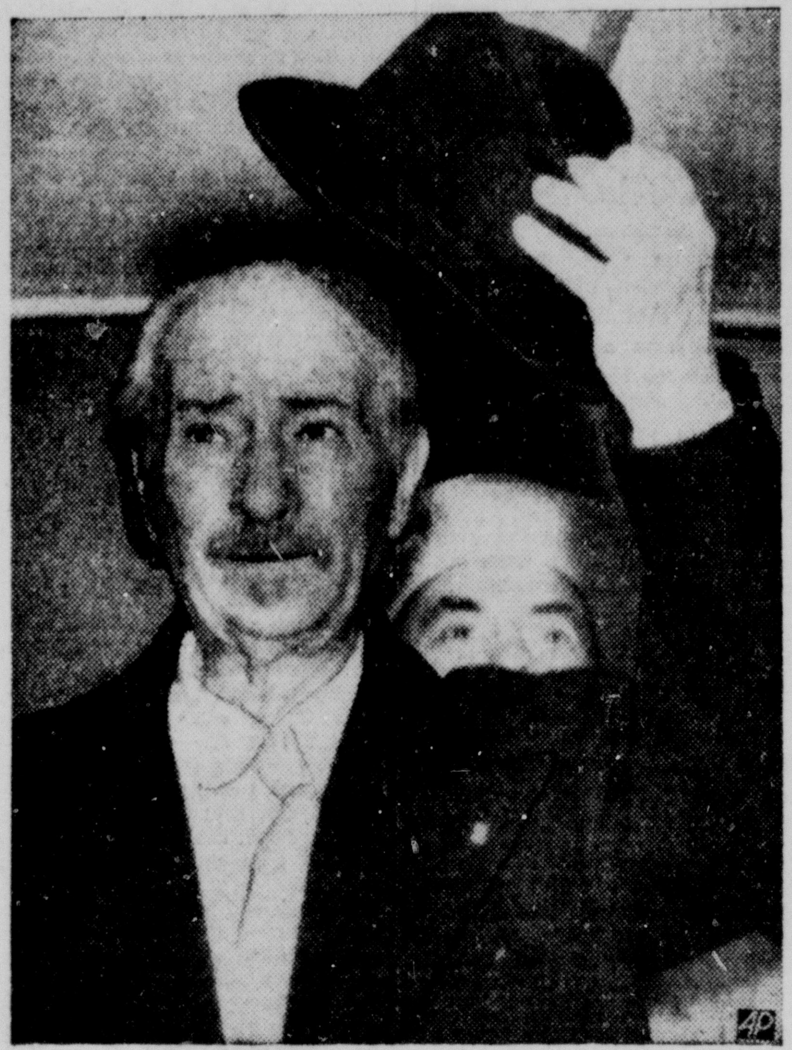
PADEREWSKI BIDS U. S. GOODBYE



Lame and weary from the weight of his 78 years, Ignace Jan Paderewski lifted his hat in a gesture of farewell to America when he boarded the Normandie in New York to sail for his home-in-exile in Switzerland. The Polish wizard of the piano cancelled his current American tour because of illness.

MOSELEY COURT MARTIAL ASKED

Demands That Charges Be Brought Against Retired Army Officer Pile Up

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—Demands are piling up at the war department that outspoken Major General George Van Horn Moseley face an army court martial on charges growing out of his campaign against "enemies from within."

Authoritative sources disclosed this today at the same time that the White House acknowledged a letter from Representative Coffee, Democrat, Washington, suggesting that the retired officer was guilty of "subversive statements" in his testimony before the house committee on un-American activities.

It appeared that no action would be taken, at least for the time being.

At the White House it was said the matter was in the hands of the war department, but some army officers argued privately that a decision was up to the president as commander-in-chief of the army and navy.

The attitude of some of Mr. Roosevelt's principal military advisers was said to be that filing charges would only "make a martyr" of General Moseley, publicize his campaign against communism, and tend to

ORLEANS POLICE PARTY BROKEN UP

NEW ORLEANS, June 3.—(AP)—The police wanted to throw a party today but the police broke it up.

Some officers brought a whacking big load of ice cream and cake into the show-up room at headquarters to feed the prisoners. Newspaper photographers and reporters were summoned to watch jailed men eat.

The idea was to give a sort of light touch to sober proceedings that involved Detective Chief John Grosch earlier in the week. Grosch was quoted as saying at a Rotary club luncheon that he quashed major crime in the city with third-degree treatment.

Later, after a consultation with Police Superintendent George Reyer, Grosch denied using the term "third-degree" and insisted he had mentioned, sarcastically, that he obtained confessions from criminals by feeding them ice cream and cake.

So Grosch's well-wishers in the department ordered the goodies to give a practical demonstration of prisoners stuffing themselves. But some one, who thought the less said about ice cream and cake the better, notified police higher-ups. There came a mysterious telephone call to the show-up room, banning the whole thing and wanting to know who had the bright idea in the first place.

CATHOLICS TO BUILD EDIFICES

Purchase is announced in behalf of the diocese of Alexandria of a large block of land on North Seventh street, near Vernon street, in West Monroe, for the erection of a Catholic church in that city. The tract of land is the equivalent of 13 ordinary sized building lots and will be adequate for some years to come, it is believed.

As soon as the necessary arrangements can be effected, it is expected that a church will be erected on the property. It will be the first Catholic church to be erected in West Monroe, where there are now many Catholics who are obliged to attend services in St. Matthew's church in Monroe.

St. Matthew's church is too small to accommodate the membership, it is stated. There are 1,200 to 1,500 members of the church and the seating capacity, with the addition of chairs is not more than 500. It is believed that a new church in West Monroe will aid in caring for the present overflow.

It is not announced as to when construction will be started on the church, but is is believed that it will not be long.

Another site has been similarly acquired by the diocese of Alexandria for the erection of a Catholic church for colored members at the corner of Adams and 21st street, in Monroe. It is expected that a frame structure will be erected on this site before the summer ends. At the present time it is said that there are a considerable number of colored Catholics attending St. Matthew's and it is felt that if they are given a church of their own that the number will be greatly increased.

U. S. LAND BUYING PLANS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—The national forest preservation commission announced today it had approved plans for the purchase of 243,926 acres of land in 24 states and Puerto Rico for incorporation within 48 national forest units.

Representing a total area roughly one-third the size of Rhode Island, the land wil cost $855,693. The commission said most of the land would be valuable for forest crops.

Locations of the tracts to be purchased, the forest to which they will be attached, the acreage and the cost, respectively, include:

Louisiana—Kisatchie, 2,934 acres, $15,926.

Arkansas and Oklahoma—Ouachita, 6,144 acres, $18,354.

Approves Efforts Of Supporters To Line Up Convention Delegates

Group Of Senators Seek To Heal Differences Beween Democratic Factions

By William B. Ardery

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—Close friends of Vice-President Garner disclosed today that he had decided to seek the presidential nomination at the 1940 Democratic convention even if President Roosevelt should be a candidate.

Garner was said to be convinced that his name should go before the convention, regardless of the strength of any opposing aspirants for the nomination, and that consequently he had approved efforts of supporters to line up convention delegates in his behalf.

Headed by E. B. Germany, Texas Democratic state chairman, a Garner-for-President organization already has been formed and has mailed about 30,000 letters to Democratic voters urging support of Garner for the presidential nomination. Recently, Garner himself has had several off-the-record talks with state political leaders.

Some of the vice-president's political advisers were said to be urging him to participate actively in state primaries and conventions which will choose convention delegates next year.

His friends feel, congressional insiders said, that he would have an excellent chance for the presidential nomination if he exerted his influence to win delegates.

Even if it appeared he could not be nominated, they said, Garner-pledged state delegations would give him a strong voice in the convention.

RUSSELL B. LONG, MISS HATTIC WED

BATON ROUGE, La., June 3.—(AP)—College romance reached the altar today for Russell Billiu Long, 20, son of the late Louisiana political dictator, Huey P. Long.

The youth—aspiring to follow in his father's footsteps in politics and already eyeing the state's governorship—was married to his college sweetheart, Katherine Mae Hattic, 19, a pretty brunette.

The nuptials were quietly performed at the First Methodist church before only a few friends and relatives, a simple ceremony compared with the elaborate wedding a year ago of Russell's sister, Rose, to Dr. Osmyn William McFarland.

Huey's curly-haired son bears a striking resemblance to his father. Only recently Russell revealed he would like, some day, to become Louisiana's governor and mourned the fact that his youth would prevent his becoming a candidate for many years to come.

After Huey was shot and killed at the capitol in 1935 Russell said he felt he never would enter politics but more recently he announced that only by carrying on where his father left

ST. MATTHEW'S HOLDS REUNION

Class Of 1930 Gathers To Enjoy Festivities Of Commencement Time

A reunion of members of the class of 1930 was held in connection with the annual banquet and dance held at Hotel Frances roof during commencement week of St. Matthew's High school. Eleven out of 16 graduates returned this year to celebrate the ninth anniversary of their graduation. These members were: Mrs. M. D. Quinn, Dallas, Tex., Mrs. Dick Dean, Miss Louise Morrison, Miss Eleona Brinsmade, and Stresau Womack, Henry Crawford, Frank Shaughnessy, Charles Biggar, Eddie Dalton and Joe Muffaleto.

Guests of honor were Mrs. Quinn (the former Mary Nell Kenney); Mrs. P. L. Hudson, Dallas Tex. (formerly Miss Gertrude Kenney); and Miss Margaret Mulvihill, Vicksburg, Miss. In addition to members of the class, the following called during the evening: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Breard, Mrs. Stresau Womack, Eddie Fitzpatrick, Eddie Shaughnessy, Miss Mildred Breard, Oswald Biggar, Louis Tonore, Miss Molly Belle Le Blanc, Miss Ella Rose Crawford, Miss Alice Daniels, Joe Drapela, Clifton Furlow, Willard Fisher, John Devereaux, Miss Ruth Morris, Miss Olive Lusk, Lynn McCarley, Miss Margaret Devereaux, John Conner, Walter Lee Hill, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Collins, and Miss Mary Louise Devereaux.

Saturday afternoon a swimming party was enjoyed by several friends of Mrs. Quinn. Following the swim the group met at the home of Mrs. Harold Breard.

'AND THE BABY MAKES THREE'

Proud smiles these parents are wearing, and well may they, considering that cute little third party. There will come a day when the baby will be too big to be held, and later perhaps will have his (or her) picture taken with a family of his own. At that time, we imagine they will value their chance encounter with the News-Star—World staff cameraman. Toward that end, this publication is presenting them with a big sepia toned enlargement.

STATE POLICE ISSUE REPORT FOR MONTH

Chocolate Chunking Duel At Louisiana Tech Described Before And After

By Kenneth F. Hewins
(World's Ruston Correspondent)

RUSTON, La., June 3.—(Special)—Since Louisiana Tech's historic chocolate-throwing combat between two coeds has made all America slapstick happy, this piece of pie and its inside story is submitted for public consumption.

In the first place, the duel between Anna Holstead of Shreveport, a Tech senior, and Varnelle Plastow of Bay Shore, Long Island, N. Y., did not originate as a publicity "gag"—not by a pie shot. In fact, the whole idea from start to finish, so far as the principals were concerned, was to avoid that thing called publicity.

Credit for uncovering the story goes to Johnile Curry of Rayville, a Tech junior and society editor of the Tech Talk, college newspaper.

Miss Curry, residing in the women's dormitory, where the now-famous duelists live, got on to the story first-hand. She reported to the supervisor of the paper that "two girls are going to fight a duel with chocolate pies at dawn some morning soon. They have been arguing for two weeks about which is the better writer of philosophical essays and other literary pieces. They say they are going to settle the matter with chocolate pies."

Advised to go and get a story about the proposed duel, Miss Curry returned shortly with this information:

"The girls said we could print the story if we didn't use their names. One of the girls said she was afraid the college authorities might keep her from graduating if they knew about it."

"Well, if they don't want their names mentioned, we don't want the story," Miss Curry was advised. "Who are the girls?"

"I promised them I wouldn't tell," Miss Curry said.

Later, the supervisor of the paper "managed to find out that the college administration would not bring any pressure to bear" upon the two coeds.

Miss Curry, contacted again, was informed that the duel would not cause any trouble officially. She went back to the two girls with that report and they consented to have their names printed. The yarn came out in the Tech Talk under a two-column head.

The week-end passed. Correspondents for newspapers and press associations winked at the duelling piece and let it alone, admittedly considering the thing ridiculous and most likely not to be carried to completion.

On Tuesday, however, Miss Curry came to the Tech Talk office with assurance that the girls "mean business."

"They're going to throw pies at each other at dawn tomorrow," Miss Curry said, "but they don't want any crowd to see them. They did say that photographers could be present if they wanted."

Then an Associated Press correspondent, [illegible], ventured forth with a brief report of the scheduled duel. The first report to "the outside world" caught hold like wildfire. Other agencies and newspapers started wiring to Ruston for coverage. It seemed destined to be a great ado about practically nothing.

Anyway, a couple of press representatives and two photographers got up before breakfast and parked on the battlefield back of the stadium. Presently, the two principals and their seconds strolled around the end of the concrete stands and advanced to the selected duelling spot.

It was a little after 5 a.m. and the sun was not at its best for pictures. Though the photographers had flashlights for the job, they wanted the two girls to pose and give them a chance.

"Nothing doing. No rehearsing," Miss Holstead declared. "Shoot what you see."

So they "shot"—and did fairly well, they thought.

A few hours later, all America apparently was out of bed, too, and rarin' to get the story and pictures. Miss Holstead escaped unscathed but some of her pie hit Miss Plastow slightly above front and center. Her second, dissatisfied, picked up some of the chocolate goo from the ground and smeared it on Miss Plastow's face—which made a pretty picture.

While the negatives were being developed, correspondents were pecking on the typewriters and receiving telegrams and telephone calls from all over the country. New Orleans wanted to hear "all about it." Requests for pictures came from New York, Chicago, Atlanta, Cleveland. St. Louis wired that "if no pictures of actual duel were obtained, get the girls to pose for some." News magazines sought the pictures and story. Even syndicates of lesser renown joined the nation-wide turmoil stirred up by the tossing of pies. One sent an air mail letter declaring that "this is unusual and in line with other oddities and I wonder if you can supply photographs of this affair." The fellow enclosed a clipping "showing that I do supply some of the surrounding magazines as a free-lancer."

The Tech news bureau, stringing along with the rest of them, hit a snag when Miss Holstead came in to see the pictures. The news bureau had already arranged a layout, which included as insets studio bust photos of the two principals "so the people could see what they looked like when not pie-faced."

"You can't use that picture of me," Miss Holstead said. "I've got to use that picture in applying for a job."

There was a slight delay while the news bureau made another layout.

That evening Miss Plastow received a wire from her family in New York, expressing sympathy over her loss to Miss Holstead.

The Times-Picayune of New Orleans was moved to editorial comment on the "Ordeal by Goo," observing that "we do not recall having read of any such joust which actually was carried to conclusion prior to the now-historic combat with chocolate pies at five paces waged by two coeds at Louisiana Tech." The editorial continued: "It is particularly fitting to the adjustment of those little differences which arise between artists and critics . . ."

So a matter which the girls wanted to keep secret is well known today. Some of the Tech teachers, incidentally, are mildly indignant over "such a form of cheap publicity." Other Tech professors of another school of thought inquire, "Why didn't you let the news-reel folks know about the duel?" And some just say "phooey gooey" and let it go at that.

MAY DECIDE ON 4TH BUS LINE

One To Caldwell And La Salle Parishes May Be Run By Junior College

Dean C. C. Colvert, of Northeast Junior college, recently announced that three bus lines are assured to be operated between the college and cities and towns of northeast Louisiana. In the announcement made, there was no inclusion of towns south of Monroe located in Caldwell and La-Salle parish.

The dean stated that he has received letters from several persons living in Columbia, inquiring as to the possibility of a bus line operating from that vicinity. In reply, the dean stated Saturday that if sufficient number will make reservations, the college will be glad to operate a bus line as far south as Urania and Olla. At least 30 students must make reservations in order to secure bus facilities, he said.

Within the next few days the dean will make a checkup of high school graduates in Columbia, Grayson, Kelly, Clarks, Olla and Urania to ascertain the number desirous of attending college here if a bus is operated.

Meantime, Dean Colvert asks that those planning to attend college here, and who reside in Caldwell and La-Salle parishes, notify him immediately so that the proper bus facilities can be arranged in case conditions seem to so warrant.

ST. MATTHEW'S HOLDS REUNION

A reunion of members of the class of 1930 was held in connection with the annual banquet and dance held at Hotel Frances roof during commencement week of St. Matthew's High school. Eleven out of 16 graduates returned this year to celebrate the ninth anniversary of their graduation. These members were: Mrs. M. D. Quinn, Dallas, Tex., Mrs. Dick Dean, Miss Louise Morrison, Miss Eleona Brinsmade, and Stresau Womack, Henry Crawford, Frank Shaughnessy, Charles Biggar, Eddie Dalton and Joe Muffaleto.

Guests of honor were Mrs. Quinn (the former Mary Nell Kenney); Mrs. P. L. Hudson, Dallas Tex. (formerly Miss Gertrude Kenney); and Miss Margaret Mulvihill, Vicksburg, Miss. In addition to members of the class, the following called during the evening: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Breard, Mrs. Stresau Womack, Eddie Fitzpatrick, Eddie Shaughnessy, Miss Mildred Breard, Oswald Biggar, Louis Tonore, Miss Molly Belle Le Blanc, Miss Ella Rose Crawford, Miss Alice Daniels, Joe Drapela, Clifton Furlow, Willard Fisher, John Devereaux, Miss Ruth Morris, Miss Olive Lusk, Lynn McCarley, Miss Margaret Devereaux, John Conner, Walter Lee Hill, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Collins, and Miss Mary Louise Devereaux.

Saturday afternoon a swimming party was enjoyed by several friends of Mrs. Quinn. Following the swim the group met at the home of Mrs. Harold Breard.

Proud smiles these parents are wearing, and well may they, considering that cute little third party. There will come a day when the baby will be too big to be held, and later perhaps will have his (or her) picture taken with a family of his own. At that time, we imagine they will value their chance encounter with the News-Star—World candid cameraman. Toward that day, this publication is presenting them with a big sepia toned enlargement.

PIE A LA MAID

By Kenneth F. Hewins
(World's Ruston Correspondent)

RUSTON, La., June 3.—(Special)—Since Louisiana Tech's historic chocolate-throwing combat between two coeds has made all America slapstick happy, this piece of pie and its inside story is submitted for public consumption.

In the first place, the duel between Anna Holstead of Shreveport, a Tech senior, and Varnelle Plastow of Bay Shore, Long Island, N. Y., did not originate as a publicity "gag"—not by a pie shot. In fact, the whole idea from start to finish, so far as the principals were concerned, was to avoid that thing called publicity.

Credit for uncovering the story goes to Johnile Curry of Rayville, a Tech junior and society editor of the Tech Talk, college newspaper.

Miss Curry, residing in the women's dormitory, where the now-famous duelists live, got on to the story first-hand. She reported to the supervisor of the paper that "two girls are going to fight a duel with chocolate pies at dawn some morning soon. They have been arguing for two weeks about which is the better writer of philosophical essays and other literary pieces. They say they are going to settle the matter with chocolate pies."

Advised to go and get a story about the proposed duel, Miss Curry returned shortly with this information: "The girls said we could print the story if we didn't use their names. One of the girls said she was afraid the college authorities might keep her from graduating if they knew about it."

"Well, if they don't want their names mentioned, we don't want the story," Miss Curry was advised. "Who are the girls?"

"I promised them I wouldn't tell," Miss Curry said.

Later, the supervisor of the paper "managed to find out that the college administration would not bring any pressure to bear" upon the two coeds.

Miss Curry, contacted again, was informed that the duel would not cause any trouble officially. She went back to the two girls with that report and they consented to have their names printed. The yarn came out in the Tech Talk under a two-column head.

The week-end passed. Correspondents for newspapers and press associations winked at the duelling piece and let it alone, admittedly considering the thing ridiculous and most likely not to be carried to completion.

On Tuesday, however, Miss Curry came to the Tech Talk office with assurance that the girls "mean business."

"They're going to throw pies at each other at dawn tomorrow," Miss Curry said, "but they don't want any crowd to see them. They did say that photographers could be present if they wished."

Then an Associated Press correspondent, his feet still cold, ventured forth with a brief report of the scheduled duel. The first report to "the outside world" caught hold like wildfire. Other agencies and newspapers started wiring to Ruston for coverage. It seemed destined to be a great ado about practically nothing.

Anyway, a couple of press representatives and two photographers got up before breakfast and parked on the battlefield back of the stadium. Presently, the two principals and their seconds strolled around the end of the concrete stands and advanced to the selected duelling spot.

It was a little after 5 a.m. and the sun was not at its best for pictures. Though the photographers had flashlights for the job, they wanted the two girls to pose and give them a chance.

"Nothing doing. No rehearsing," Miss Holstead declared. "Shoot what you see."

So they "shot"—and did fairly well, they thought.

A few hours later, all America apparently was out of bed, too, and rarin' to get the story and pictures. Miss Holstead escaped unscathed but some of her pie hit Miss Plastow slightly above front and center. Her second, dissatisfied, picked up some of the chocolate goo from the ground and smeared it on Miss Plastow's face—which made a pretty picture.

While the negatives were being developed, correspondents were pecking on the typewriters and receiving telegrams and telephone calls from all over the country. New Orleans wanted to hear "all about it." Requests for pictures came from New York, Chicago, Atlanta, Cleveland. St. Louis wired that "if no pictures of actual duel were obtained, get the girls to pose for some." News magazines sought the pictures and story. Even syndicates of lesser renown joined the nation-wide turmoil stirred up by the tossing of pies. One sent an air mail letter declaring that "this is unusual and in line with other oddities and I wonder if you can supply photographs of this affair." The fellow enclosed a clipping "showing that I do supply some of the surrounding magazines as a free-lancer."

The Tech news bureau, stringing along with the rest of them, hit a snag when Miss Holstead came in to see the pictures. The news bureau had already arranged a layout, which included as insets studio bust photos of the two principals "so the people could see what they looked like when not pie-faced."

"You can't use that picture of me," Miss Holstead said. "I've got to use that picture in applying for a job."

There was a slight delay while the news bureau made another layout.

That evening Miss Plastow received a wire from her family in New York, expressing sympathy over her loss to Miss Holstead.

The Times-Picayune of New Orleans was moved to editorial comment on the "Ordeal by Goo," observing that "we do not recall having read of any such joust which actually was carried to conclusion prior to the now-historic combat with chocolate pies at five paces waged by two coeds at Louisiana Tech." The editorial continued: "It is particularly fitting to the adjustment of those little differences which arise between artists and critics . . ."

So a matter which the girls wanted to keep secret is well known today. Some of the Tech teachers, incidentally, are mildly indignant over "such a form of cheap publicity." Other Tech professors of another school of thought inquire, "Why didn't you let the news-reel folks know about the duel?" And some just say "phooey gooey" and let it go at that.

MAY DECIDE ON 4TH BUS LINE

One To Caldwell And La Salle Parishes May Be Run By Junior College

Dean C. C. Colvert, of Northeast Junior college, recently announced that three bus lines are assured to be operated between the college and cities and towns of northeast Louisiana. In the announcement made, there was no inclusion of towns south of Monroe located in Caldwell and LaSalle parish.

The dean stated that he has received letters from several persons living in Columbia, inquiring as to the possibility of a bus line operating from that vicinity. In reply, the dean stated Saturday that if sufficient number will make reservations, the college will be glad to operate a bus line as far south as Urania and Olla. At least 30 students must make reservations in order to secure bus facilities, he said.

Within the next few days the dean will make a checkup of high school graduates in Columbia, Grayson, Kelly, Clarks, Olla and Urania to ascertain the number desirous of attending college here if a bus is operated.

Meantime, Dean Colvert asks that those planning to attend college here, and who reside in Caldwell and LaSalle parishes, notify him immediately so that the proper bus facilities can be arranged in case conditions seem to so warrant.

COUCH WILL GIVE ADDRESS AT TECH

Railroad Official Will Speak On 'Possibilities Of South' At 1:30 P. M.

RUSTON, La., June 3.—(Special)—Registration for the summer session at Louisiana Tech, starting Monday morning for seniors, will be halted at noon Monday so that all students may join an anticipated crowd of visitors in hearing a lecture by Harvey C. Couch of Pine Bluff, Ark., noted railroad official and financier. Mrs. Ruby B. Pearce, registrar, said the registration would be resumed for underclassmen Tuesday morning.

Mr. Couch is scheduled to speak on "Possibilities of the South" at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Tech auditorium, which has recently been equipped with new ventilating fans.

Mr. Couch recently was elected president of the Kansas City Southern railway, whose merger with the Louisiana and Arkansas railroad has been authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission, it is said. Mr. Couch is quoted as saying that he plans to make the enlarged system "the finest railroad in the country." An important expected result of the merger is the linking of New Orleans and Baton Rouge with Kansas City by a through service. Tentative plans also are being considered by the Kansas City Southern for an airplane route to follow the same itinerary.

President E. S. Richardson of Louisiana Tech visited Mr. Couch at his Arkansas home Saturday, when Postmaster-General James A. Farley was a guest at the Couch residence. The Tech president planned to invite Farley to come to Ruston with Mr. Couch Monday, but the outcome of the invitation has not been learned here.

TALLULAH SCHOOL GRADUATION HELD

TALLULAH, June 3.—(Special)—Commencement exercises for the graduating class of the Tallulah High school were held in the new gymnasium auditorium here before a large audience. Following the processional by the graduates in white caps and gowns, the invocation was given by Rev. George A. A. Tocher. The program was presented by members of the class, with addresses by the honor students.

Grace Brownlee, the valedictorian, spoke on "Appreciation of Our Democratic Republic." John Wroten, salutatorian, spoke on "Life as Lived in a Democratic School," and Kenneth Nettles spoke on "Promotion of Peace by Democracies of the World."

Ralph Taylor, president of the class, presided and presented the class book to the junior class which was accepted by their president, Harry Bankston. Music was rendered by the Tallulah High school band under the direction of Alfred Setaro.

Superintendent James R. Linton presented awards and scholarships as follows: Daughters of the American Revolution citizenship medals to Sallie Burleigh, Donald B. Lancaster, Geneva Rountree, Ralph Taylor and Naomi Alexander; American Legion medals to Grace Brownlee and Kenneth Nettles; Louisiana State university scholarship to John Wroten; Louisiana Tech scholarship to Grace Brownlee, and Southwestern institute scholarship to Robert Graves. Miss Clyde Mobley, state supervisor of home economics, presented the home economics scholarship to Grace Brownlee.

M. A. Phillips, principal, made a short talk and presented diplomas.

IRENE PIGUE INJURES ANKLE AT RESIDENCE

Irene Pigue, of 320 Walnut street, who graduated Thursday from the seventh grade into high school, fell and either sprained or fractured her ankle at her home Saturday.

She desires that her school friends call on her at her home, where she will be confined for some days or weeks.

She was seriously injured some time ago when struck by an automobile.

Be Careful

Schools of the city and parish closed last week-end, thus releasing thousands of children from the protection of school buildings and school playgrounds during most of the day. It now becomes even more important for motorists to exercise the utmost caution in driving through the residential sections of the city.

Many children will utilize various playgrounds throughout the city where signs are posted to warn motorists that children are playing, but a majority of the youngsters will play in or near their home lawns.

A young child, not realizing the danger, doesn't stop to think when he or she darts out into the street after a ball. Many accidents of this nature are unavoidable, yet others could be prevented if safe driving rules were observed by all motorists. At least fatalities from "unavoidable" accidents on our city streets can be kept to the very minimum if proper care in driving is practiced.

There's no logical excuse for an automobile driver to go racing through our streets in the residential sections. Rarely does an emergency arise that necessitates driving a car at a speed that is unsafe.

Incidentally, an educational campaign through which Louisiana state police seek to reduce motor vehicle accidents comes at a most opportune time, now that school "is out." The first step in this campaign, under the direction of Brigadier General Louis F. Guerre, state police superintendent, is to call the public's attention to the necessity of keeping reckless and unfit drivers away from the steering wheels of automobiles.

General Guerre cites the highway law providing that no person under 14 years of age may drive a car; that any person under the influence of narcotics or liquor while driving is subject to a heavy penalty; that no one who is mentally or physically deficient to such an extent as to interfere with or impair his ability to safely operate a motor vehicle shall be permitted to do so, and that anyone driving carelessly and heedlessly and at a speed which endangers any person or property is subject to punishment for reckless driving.

The motorist himself, according to General Guerre, is personally responsible for most of the accidents which occur and which annually exact a three times greater death toll than crime. The superintendent believes highway laws are futile if irresponsible drivers are allowed to run at large.

It is the wish of the state police to make Louisiana the "safest place in the world to drive" and the cooperation of the public is necessary if that end is to be achieved. That cooperation must be forthcoming immediately if our children are to be protected during the summer months.

WORLD UPSIDE DOWN

A little 9-year-old girl in South Africa has a curious eye disturbance which causes her to see everything upside down through her left eye. Physicians call it amblyopia.

It is a disease commoner than the physicians suppose. Many of us see the world upside down. So many, in fact, that it leads one to suspect that perhaps it is upside down.

There is poverty amid plenty; there are the losers of the World war, now winners; there are Communists who act like Fascists, and Fascists who act like Communists; there are conservative Democrats and radical Republicans; there are radicals demanding a bigger army, and conservatives demanding isolation; there are governments which used to send free seeds to farmers, now paying to cut down crops.

Say, doctor! Are you sure that little girl's eye is upside down?

GRAPEFRUIT ONE CENT

"Look, will you!" exclaimed a woman in a Tennessee town, as she rushed into the house followed by the chauffeur carrying a box. "Fifty grapefruit, fine ones, and only a cent apiece!"

Grapefruit at a cent apiece are really nothing to be glad about; they are something to be concerned about. Grapefruit at that price mean that somebody has lost money, probably the grower. Grapefruit can not be grown, harvested, and transported from Florida to Tennessee for a cent apiece. The man who grew those cent-apiece grapefruit may have needed what he should have received for his product to buy his family the necessities of life.

If we would all stand for the fair exchange, our economic situation would improve immensely. One part of the people cannot take from another part of the people without honest return and not disturb our economic balance.

A NEW SAVAGERY

The world faces a new savagery, a more horrible savagery than ever before, since the forces behind it are better equipped for savagery than ever before. Japan has plunged extensively into this new savagery; Italy has gone in for it; Russia is involved in it; Germany is committed to it.

The United States alone, with its great spiritual and material resources, can halt and turn back this march toward a new savagery. What will the United States do? Will the United States accept this great challenge courageously, capably, nobly?

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—With the blessing of the department of agriculture, a gray-haired, quiet, little man named David H. Young is out to make the legs of 45,000,000 American women do their share toward solving the cotton problem.

Frankly, Mr. Young wants those legs encased in cotton hose again, for at least part of the time.

He proposes to bring this about by devising cotton stockings which, for certain purposes, will be so good-looking and wearable that women won't be able to resist them.

Borrowed By The Government

It looks as if he might have some success, too. An expert in the hosiery trade, he was borrowed by the department last summer on a two-year loan and given a place in the division of textiles and clothing of the bureau of home economics.

He has obtained the cooperation of several textile companies, which have put some regular full-fashioned machines at work making cotton hose to his designs. He uses a combed yarn of long staple cotton, mercerized and put through a singeing process to give it a smoother texture. On his desk, he has two or three dozen samples of the finished process.

He has no idea of muscling in on the sheer hosiery field, and he isn't trying to create dress stockings. He has the notion that for occasions where a woman subjects her hose to a good deal of wear—for sports, for instance—something extremely good-looking and highly wearable can be offered that will have both style-appeal and price-appeal.

"We're not trying to compete with the silk people," he says. "Why, last year some 12 million dozen pair of sheer full-fashioned hose were sold in this country. If we can bring out cotton hose of a type that will induce each woman to buy two or three pairs a year, we'll be taking a big bite out of the cotton surplus."

He's A Real Stem Specialist

Man and boy, Mr. Young probably knows about as much about women's legs as any man in America, Billy Rose not excepted.

He recalls the time when he was with the Realsilk company in Indianapolis. He devised a new sort of weave or twist or something technical, anyway, the company wanted to try it out, so it made stockings of the new material, fitted out [illegible] of its girl employes with the new hose, and used them as guinea pigs.

"Do you know," says Mr. Young, "whenever any defect—any defect whatever—developed in a pair of those stockings, the girl who was wearing them had to troop right into my office and show 'em to me."

"While she was—ah—in them?"

"Yes. Sometimes there would be several of them coming in at once. . . . Oh, that was nothing at all compared with what I went through in Hollywood a year or two ago."

A Job Worth Fighting For

In Hollywood Mr. Young was connected with a company which made foundation garments. He was working out a new fabric with just the right amount of stretch in it, and the company was pretty particular about it. It had a lot of movie people for clients and its foundations had to be [illegible], wrinkleless, and all that sort of thing.

So as fast as Mr. Young knocked out with a new bit of fabric it would immediately be made up into a foundation garment. The garment would be donned by a perfect-36 model, who would come into Mr. Young's office and do all sorts of stretches, bends, splits and whatnot to test the thing thoroughly.

"For a man who is nearing 60," he remarks mildly, "all of that was a bit of a strain. They used to say, you know, that I got my gray hair because of the pace life I led. Well, perhaps it was as well."

Anyway, Mr. Young's cotton hose will be introduced to the trade in the near future. If they go over, the annual consumption of cotton will be upped by several million pounds per year.

Sea serpent stories are cropping up again—this time in Oregon. We thought that vintage had been entirely consumed several years ago.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 3—I'm not easily startled by talk of "big money" in Hollywood, but yesterday I heard figures on Mary Pickford's wealth that left me gasping. According to my informant, who's in a position to know, her statement of worth would include such items as these: 60 acres in Beverly Hills (approximate value $750,000); 18 acres occupied by the United Artists studio, together with all improvements (last time at about $5,000,000); a one-twentieth interest in the United Artists corporation (worth two to three millions); a one-fifth interest in the United Artists theaters (another two to three millions), various residences, ranches and an enormous block of Bank of America stock. Her total wealth, I'm told, is between 15 and 20 millions! I knew, of course, that Mary was "well fixed"—but I didn't dream that she was a lady Croesus.

I hear Pickford fans—and they're still legion—bemoan the fact that America's sweetheart is idle while a girl like Carole Lombard earns $150,000 a picture. Perhaps they'll be consoled by the knowledge that Mary's income, computed at only four per cent, must be somewhere between $600,000 and $800,000 annually. (H'yah, Carole?)

Not one of today's stars has a chance to amass a fortune like that. They are limited to salaries and bonuses, for the business men in command of the industry, having at last gained exclusive ownership of the production melon, will never again consent to divide it with actors and actresses.

Idol chatter: All together, now, quick like a flash—what's Bing Crosby's first name? Maybe some of the glamour girls do shade Bette Davis in a swim suit, but when la belle Bet dons hers, she actually goes swimming. Today's arithmetic lesson: subtract 40 pounds from Laurence Olivier, and what do you get? John Carradine, to be sure. Can't blame Jean Arthur for laughing when someone preaches the need of voice-training for movie success. In-a-line description of any studio research worker: the man who puts fact into factory. And isn't it amazing how many screen stars hail from the Lone Star state? I like Greer Garson so well that even her first name doesn't faze me. Olympe Bradna isn't a top-flight star—but many a top-flight star could imitate her politeness without losing popularity.

Now that "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" (a picture that you mustn't miss) is going into general release, I want to comment on the foreward which flashes on the screen just before the opening shot. It reads: "We wish to acknowledge our gratitude to the late Irving Thalberg, whose inspiration illuminates the picture, 'Goodbye, Mr. Chips.'" As I recall [illegible] my memory [illegible] one of Irving Thalberg's favorite [illegible] is [illegible] he invariably [illegible] the glorification of [illegible]. [illegible] are in a position to give [illegible] credit [illegible]. [illegible] thought the attitude [illegible] speech had a lot to do with Thalberg's greatness.

Odd-formation: One of Hollywood's most profitable by-products is the manufacture of imitation jewelry. H. B. Crouch, dean of [illegible], employs a staff of more than twenty workmen. If you think of Ginger Rogers as a syncopation addict, [illegible] the opinion: her favorite musical number is Bach's Concerto in D Minor. Parkyakarkus is an expert [illegible] and his most prized possession is a tree which, via his grafting, produces seven varieties of fruit. And speaking of hobbies, a chuckle for Fred MacMurray's [illegible] carving little horses in wood.

Hollywood stars who complain about being typed may find consolation in the problem of Anna Neagle, generally rated England's greatest screen star. I'm told that Miss Neagle, on completing her current starring role for RKO, will return to London to do a very small bit in a picture being filmed there. It seems a few shots of Queen Victoria are required—and Miss Neagle has played Victoria so often and so well that British fans simply refuse to accept any substitute in the queenly role.

An amusing story came this morning from "Babes in Arms" set at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. They were shooting a scene representing the old Palace Theatre in New York. Charles Winninger, playing a vaudeville headliner, had just been informed that he was a father and the news was being circulated in whispers through the orchestra. "It's a boy" . . . "It's a boy . . . "It's a boy." Each musician turned and passed the news along—all but one, Randy Reyburn, who emerged from a trance to ask, excitedly, "How do you know? Who told you?" The director stopped the scene. "That's not your line," he complained. Reyburn blushed. "I know it," he said. "But you see, we're expecting."

In [illegible] the Marine tigers have [illegible] the songs to the farthest [illegible] of the realm and in each [illegible] they have been adapted and changed. So with "Frankie and Johnny." In the anthology of Frankie songs there are the voices of forgotten [illegible] through all of America [illegible]. [illegible] a [illegible] murder, revenge. But, for the matter of that, so is Sophocles and Aeschylus and a fair sampling of grand opera and quite a deal of Shakespeare—Macbeth, for example. It is indeed a classical theme. Which might account for the fact that "Frankie and Johnny" has been sung by superb artists in Carnegie hall as well as by frowsy trulls in waterfront honkytonks.

Song sleuths never get quite to the end of the trail in back-tracking Frankie and Johnny. There was a supposedly authentic tale of one hard [illegible] in a St. Louis beer [illegible] in the early nineties after a [illegible] in which the details were said to have been accurately reported in the song. But an earlier version was discovered and now they have run it back to about 1880, whence it comes out of the mists and shadows of the Mississippi river and the early [illegible] town.

This song, however, had to do with "Frankie and Albert." There were only 12 verses, whereas it takes 29 to round out the epic story in the generally accepted version of today. It grows with the years, through many forms. "Josie," of the Kentucky hill-billy country, is one and "Sadie," traced to the logging camps and mine pits around Lake Michigan, is another. And now it shades off into the "Frankie Blues." A friend placed the blues version for me on the piano. It has only five verses. There is the usual slur and hitch-kick typical of these adaptations, the music wrenched pretty far out of its pattern, but there just the same. As to the words, they are quite different but they tell the same story, the story of love and death which runs through the classics of low-life and high-life.

It might have been presumed that we would carry over with us into the world of tomorrow the great classics of music. But the music hall at the world's fair has had to abandon its program of the masters, even at a 40-cent minimum admission charge. That is for some more informed student of [illegible]

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

Charlie is four years old, the [illegible] in a family of five adults. This spring he started to play with other children his own age [illegible]. All went well for a time and then he began showing [illegible] He galvanized [illegible] by shouting at her, "You can't [illegible]," when she told him it was time to go upstairs to wash [illegible] for dinner. He angered his grandfather by saying very loudly and with great [illegible], "Who you think you talking to? Think you're Mussolini [illegible]" He sent his mother into [illegible] by telling her, "Lay off. I'll eat what I please. You can't make me do nothing."

The shocked family held a conference. "He must have learned that from somebody he plays with. Did you see him spread his legs and swagger? Did you see him squint his eyes and twist his mouth? He's been with some youngster that is tough enough to chew nails."

"What are we to do with him?" asked mother tearfully. "I never dreamed he would behave like this."

"Where is he now?" asked grandfather.

"In his room. Getting ready for bed. I haven't gone near him since dinner. I don't know what to say to him or do to him."

"Just leave him alone. When he is ready for you go as usual and put him to bed and make no sign that you heard him. We will all do the same. Tomorrow you take him to the farm for a while. He'll forget this and we'll try to find the model for his behavior."

Next day when mother was ready to start for the farm Charlie looked thoughtful and said, "Can I take Ronny along?"

"Who's Ronny?"

"He's my friend. A big boy, more 'n six years old he is. I don't want to go unless he comes. He's my friend."

"Not this time," said mother. "There isn't room. We have to start right away now, too, because the car is waiting. Go say goodbye."

Children learn most of what they know by imitating. The more dramatic the model, the faster they are to copy it, and the quicker they learn it. Dramatic language is picked up quickly. It is unusual, it is spoken with vigor, with strong dramatic effect, and the listening child snatches it up at once.

Dramatic behavior has the same appeal to the little child. An unusual action such as punching someone on the nose appeals to a little child. The dramatic action meets his understanding at once; his mind-level is very close to that of the puncher's so the two minds meet swiftly and easily. Anything that is loud, crude, unusual and dramatic is certain to be imitated by the watching, listening child.

When he brings home some undesirable language, behavior, or attitudes, try to bear it and ignore it. If it is too much try to remove him from the in-

INJECTING HEMORRHOIDS OR PILES

[illegible]

[illegible] sufferers suffer for [illegible] the expense, danger and loss of time [illegible]. However, operation is not necessary [illegible] in a large number of cases [illegible] of the [illegible] hardening [illegible] hemorrhoid.

Dr. [illegible], St. Louis, in the Journal of the Missouri State Medical Association, says:

"There are three methods of [illegible] used in treating hemorrhoids, [illegible] in certain types of cases, second, injection which has [illegible] a large group of cases, and third, palliation—giving relief with ointments and suppositories.

"From a group of 100 cases 75 were selected for the injection treatment, ranging in age from 16 to 86 years. The interval between treatments was from five to ten days. Pain, bleeding and the protrusion of piles coming out were improved following the first and second injection. All cases showed the general effect upon the individuals such as nervousness, lack of endurance and emotional disturbances. The hemorrhoids returned in less than 10 per cent of the cases which is not as large a percentage as by operation.

"It is not the hard laborers but usually the office group with irregular diet habits that are mostly afflicted with hemorrhoids."

Remember, some cases can only be cured by surgery, but there is a large number of sufferers who can obtain relief by this injection method who could thus rid themselves with little expense of this ailment which, aside from its pain and discomfort, greatly depresses the entire nervous system.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON—The bloc on the hill pushing for legislation to tear apart the financial structure of railroads and put it together again will have an inside aide in a high place in the person of Jerome Frank, newly chosen chairman of the securities and Exchange commission.

Reforms in financing advocated by Senator Wheeler of Montana and other members of congress have been documented with philosophic speeches and SEC opinions by Frank.

Frank looks like a Spanish don—dark, oval-faced, and he plays with words with the facility of a toreador flicking a bull. He was a high priced attorney in New York before he joined the New Deal in 1933 and during a two-year recess between New Deal jobs he became the high-priced attorney again. Washington, currently at odds over $23 a week salaries for WPA white collar hands, had a whale of a good time over a dispute between Frank and the interstate commerce commission as to whether he should be paid $10 an hour or $13 an hour as counsel for two years in reorganization of the Missouri Pacific railroad. As attorneys' pay goes in the upper brackets it was fairly low, but what a contrast.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

MARVEL of 1939 is television, bringing the living image into your home by electrical impulses. Marvel of 1839 was the daguerreotype, preserving on metal for the first time the photograph.

Louis Jacques Daguerre discovered the secret of the daguerreotype process just 100 years ago in Paris, although his efforts were combined with the experiments of Joseph Nicephore Niepce. The discovery was hailed as one of the most important of all time and certainly it was, for up until then there was no way to preserve the human image except by wax and portraits and neither could approximate the photograph.

But the world came exceedingly close to missing the daugerreotype at that, although had not Daguerre perfected the process someone else doubtless would have. The final step was pretty much an accident. Niepce and Daguerre had worked on the problem for many years, independently. Then they met and revealed to each other the results of their experiments. Niepce told Daguerre he was using a chemical, "bitumen of Judea" to try to bring out the pictures. This opened up a new field for Daguerre.

He went home, closeted himself in his laboratory, worked feverishly for nearly two years trying this chemical in all manner of combinations. Finally, one day, he left a silver spoon in his chemical cupboard on a metal plate coated with iodine. Next day he found a clear picture of the spoon on the plate. Success was achieved at last!

Be Careful

Schools of the city and parish closed last week-end, thus releasing thousands of children from the protection of school buildings and school playgrounds during most of the day. It now becomes even more important for motorists to exercise the utmost caution in driving through the residential sections of the city.

Many children will utilize various playgrounds throughout the city where signs are posted to warn motorists that children are playing, but a majority of the youngsters will play in or near their home lawns.

A young child, not realizing the danger, doesn't stop to think when he or she darts out into the street after a ball. Many accidents of this nature are unavoidable, yet others could be prevented if safe driving rules were observed by all motorists. At least fatalities from "unavoidable" accidents on our city streets can be kept to the very minimum if proper care in driving is practiced.

There's no logical excuse for an automobile driver to go racing through our streets in the residential sections. Rarely does an emergency arise that necessitates driving a car at a speed that is unsafe.

Incidentally, an educational campaign through which Louisiana state police seek to reduce motor vehicle accidents comes at a most opportune time, now that school "is out." The first step in this campaign, under the direction of Brigadier General Louis F. Guerre, state police superintendent, is to call the public's attention to the necessity of keeping reckless and unfit drivers away from the steering wheels of automobiles.

General Guerre cites the highway law providing that no person under 14 years of age may drive a car; that any person under the influence of narcotics or liquor while driving is subject to a heavy penalty; that no one who is mentally or physically deficient to such an extent as to interfere with or impair his ability to safely operate a motor vehicle shall be permitted to do so, and that anyone driving carelessly and heedlessly and at a speed which endangers any person or property is subject to punishment for reckless driving.

The motorist himself, according to General Guerre, is personally responsible for most of the accidents which occur and which annually exact a three times greater death toll than crime. The superintendent believes highway laws are futile if irresponsible drivers are allowed to run at large.

It is the wish of the state police to make Louisiana the "safest place in the world to drive" and the cooperation of the public is necessary if that end is to be achieved. That cooperation must be forthcoming immediately if our children are to be protected during the summer months.

WORLD UPSIDE DOWN

A little 9-year-old girl in South Africa has a curious eye disturbance which causes her to see everything upside down through her left eye. Physicians call it amblyopia.

It is a disease commoner than the physicians suppose. Many of us see the world upside down. So many, in fact, that it leads one to suspect that perhaps it is upside down.

There is poverty amid plenty; there are the losers of the World war, now winners; there are Communists who act like Fascists, and Fascists who act like Communists; there are conservative Democrats and radical Republicans; there are radicals demanding a bigger army, and conservatives demanding isolation; there are governments which used to send free seeds to farmers, now paying to cut down crops.

Say, doctor! Are you sure that little girl's eye is upside down?

GRAPEFRUIT ONE CENT

"Look, will you!" exclaimed a woman in a Tennessee town, as she rushed into the house followed by the chauffeur carrying a box. "Fifty grapefruit, fine ones, and only a cent apiece!"

Grapefruit at a cent apiece are really nothing to be glad about; they are something to be concerned about. Grapefruit at that price mean that somebody has lost money, probably the grower. Grapefruit can not be grown, harvested, and transported from Florida to Tennessee for a cent apiece. The man who grew those cent-apiece grapefruit may have needed what he should have received for his product to buy his family the necessities of life.

If we would all stand for the fair exchange, our economic situation would improve immensely. One part of the people cannot take from another part of the people without honest return and not disturb our economic balance.

A NEW SAVAGERY

The world faces a new savagery, a more horrible savagery than ever before, since the forces behind it are better equipped for savagery than ever before. Japan has plunged extensively into this new savagery; Italy has gone in for it; Russia is involved in it; Germany is committed to it.

The United States alone, with its great spiritual and material resources, can halt and turn back this march toward a new savagery. What will the United States do? Will the United States accept this great challenge courageously, capably, nobly?

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—With the blessing of the department of agriculture, a gray-haired, quiet, little man named David H. Young is out to make the legs of 45,000,000 American women do their share toward solving the cotton problem.

Frankly, Mr. Young wants those legs encased in cotton hose again, for at least part of the time.

He proposes to bring this about by devising cotton stockings which, for certain purposes, will be so good-looking and wearable that women won't be able to resist them.

Borrowed By The Government

It looks as if he might have some success, too. An expert in the hosiery trade, he was borrowed by the department last summer on a two-year loan and given a place in the division of textiles and clothing of the bureau of home economics.

He has obtained the cooperation of several textile companies, which have put some regular full-fashioned machines at work making cotton hose to his designs. He uses a combed yarn of long staple cotton, mercerized and put through a singeing process to give it a smoother texture. On his desk, he has two or three dozen samples of the finished process.

He has no idea of muscling in on the sheer hosiery field, and he isn't trying to create dress stockings. He has the notion that for occasions where a woman subjects her hose to a good deal of wear—for sports, for instance—something extremely good-looking and highly wearable can be offered that will have both style-appeal and price-appeal.

"We're not trying to compete with the silk people," he says. "Why, last year some 12 million dozen pair of sheer full-fashioned hose were sold in this country. If we can bring out cotton hose of a type that will induce each woman to buy two or three pairs a year, we'll be taking a big bite out of the cotton surplus."

He's A Real Stem Specialist

Man and boy, Mr. Young probably knows about as much about women's legs as any man in America, Billy Rose not excepted.

He recalls the time when he was with the Realsilk company in Indianapolis. He devised a new sort of weave, or twist, or something technical; anyway, the company wanted to try it out, so it made stockings of the new material, fitted out 100 of its girl employes with the new hose, and used them as guinea pigs.

"Do you know," says Mr. Young, "whenever any defect—any defect whatever—developed in a pair of those stockings, the girl who was wearing them had to troop right into my office and show 'em to me."

"While she was—ah—in them?"

"Yes. Sometimes there would be several of them coming in at once. . . . Oh, that was nothing at all, compared with what I went through in Hollywood a year or two ago."

A Job Worth Fighting For

In Hollywood, Mr. Young was connected with a company which made foundation garments. He was working out a new fabric with just the right amount of stretch in it, and the company was pretty particular about it. It had a lot of movie people for clients, and its foundations had to be creepless, wrinkleless, and all that sort of thing.

So as fast as Mr. Young kicked in with a new bit of fabric, it would immediately be made up into a foundation garment. The garment would be donned by a perfect-36 model, who would come into Mr. Young's office and do all sorts of stretches, bends, splits and what-not to test the thing thoroughly.

"For a man who is nearing 60," he remarks mildly, "all of that was a bit of a strain. They used to say, you know, that I got my gray hair because of the pious life I led. Well, perhaps it was as well."

Anyway, Mr. Young's cotton hose will be introduced to the trade in the near future. If they go over, the annual consumption of cotton will be upped by several million pounds per year.

Sea serpent stories are cropping up again—this time in Oregon. We thought that vintage had been entirely consumed several years ago.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.—I'm not easily startled by talk of "big money" in Hollywood, but yesterday I heard figures on Mary Pickford's wealth that left me gasping. According to my informant, who's in a position to know, her statement of worth would include such items as these: 60 acres in Beverly Hills (approximate value $750,000), 18 acres occupied by the United Artists studio, together with all improvements (list that at about $5,000,000), a one-twentieth interest in the United Artists corporation (worth two to three millions), a one-fifth interest in the United Artists theaters (another two to three millions), various residences, ranches and an enormous block of Bank of America stock. Her total wealth, I'm told, is between 15 and 20 millions! I knew, of course, that Mary was "well fixed"—but I didn't dream that she was a lady Creosus.

I hear Pickford fans—and they're still legion—bemoan the fact that America's sweetheart is idle while a girl like Carole Lombard earns $150,000 a picture. Perhaps they'll be consoled by the knowledge that Mary's income, computed at only four per cent, must be somewhere between $600,000 and $800,000 annually. (H'yuh, Carole? . . .)

Not one of today's stars has a chance to amass a fortune like that. They are limited to salaries and bonuses, for the business men in command of the industry, having at last gained exclusive ownership of the production melon, will never again consent to divide it with actors and actresses.

Idol chatter: All together, now, quick like a flash—what's Bing Crosby's first name? Maybe some of the glamour girls do shade Bette Davis in a swim suit, but when la belle Bet dons hers, she actually goes swimming. Today's arithmetic lesson: subtract 40 pounds from Laurence Olivier, and what do you get? John Carradine, to be sure. Can't blame Jean Arthur for laughing when someone preaches the need of voice-training for movie success. In-a-line description of any studio research worker: the man who puts fact into factory. And isn't it amazing how many screen stars hail from the Lone Star state? I like Greer Garson so well that even her first name doesn't faze me. Olympe Bradna isn't a top-flight star—but many a top-flight star could imitate her politeness without losing popularity.

Now that "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" (a picture that you mustn't miss) is going into general release, I want to comment on the foreward which flashes on the screen just before the opening shot. It reads: "We wish to acknowledge our gratitude to the late Irving Thalberg, whose inspiration illuminates the picture, 'Goodbye, Mr. Chips.'" As I read that on the screen, my memory musters up one of Irving Thalberg's favorite mottoes. "Credit is valuable only when it's given you," he invariably told yes-men who urged the glorification of his name. "If you are in a position to give yourself credit, you don't need it." I've always thought the attitude expressed in that speech had a lot to do with Thalberg's greatness.

Odd-formation; One of Hollywood's most profitable by-products is the manufacture of imitation jewelry—H. B. Crouch, dean of that business, employs a staff of more than twenty workmen. If you think of Ginger Rogers as a syncopation addict, revise the opinion—her favorite musical number is Bach's Concerto in D Minor. Parkyakarkus is an expert citrus culturist and his most prized possession is a tree which, via his grafting, produces seven varieties of fruit. And, speaking of hobbies, a chuckle for Fred MacMurray's — carving little horses in wood.

Hollywood stars who complain about being typed may find consolation in the problem of Anna Neagle, generally rated England's greatest screen star. I'm told that Miss Neagle, on completing her current starring role for RKO, will return to London to do a very small bit in a picture being filmed there. It seems a few shots of Queen Victoria are required—and Miss Neagle has played Victoria so often and so well that British fans simply refuse to accept any substitutes in the queenly role.

An amusing story came this morning from "Babes in Arms" set at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. They were shooting a scene representing the old Palace Theatre in New York. Charles Winninger, playing a vaudeville headliner, had just been informed that he was a father and the news was being circulated in whispers through the orchestra. "It's a boy" . . . "It's a boy" . . . "It's a boy." Each musician turned and passed the news along—all but one Randy Reyburn, who emerged from a trance to ask, excitedly "How do you know? Who told you?" The director stopped the scene. "That's not your line," he complained. Reyburn blushed. "I know it," he said. "But, you see, we're expecting."

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE TWICE-BUILT HOUSE—Still standing atop Fischer hill in Brookline, Mass., is the huge stone mansion moved there from Marquette, Mich., in 1903, by John Longyear, iron ore and timber millionaire. A railroad was built along Lake Superior in front of Longyear's $500,000 Marquette mansion. His fight to stop the trains failed, so he determined to move. Rather than abandon his house, he decided to move it stone by stone. Seventy-four freight cars—two complete trains—were required to move it to its new site at Brookline. He lived in the rebuilt mansion nearly 20 years, until his death in 1922.

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Marching up the ramp, in the play of soft pastel light colors and the subdued throb of organ music, into the world of tomorrow, we'll be looking back over our shoulder. I thought of this the other day when I saw the new "Frankie and Johnny" murals, being painted for a New York night club by Julian Harrison.

This low-life classic, sung by nice people nowadays, has turned up in more than 150 versions, and new ones are still being found. It is not barflies and night hawks who are digging up the new versions. It is philologists of the universities and tune wizards like our Sig Spaeth who are forever uncovering some new mother lode of frankieandjohnnyana. Somebody wrote the other day that there are probably ten people in America who know "Frankie and Johnny" to one who knows the "Star-Spangled Banner," but the salty ballad is a lot easier to remember than the national anthem.

In the pre-Elizabethan England of Marlowe, Webster, Dekker and Peale, picaroon characters of the pot-houses created many songs, and many of them seeped on down into classical literary and musical lore, in the Provencal of France and the Paris of Francois Villon.

In every age, particularly in eras of great vitality, the Minnesingers have spread the songs to the farthest byways of the realm, and in each region they have been adapted and changed. So with "Frankie and Johnny." In this anthology of Frankie songs, there are the voices of forgotten singers through all of America—cities and towns, mountains and plains.

It is unadulterated low-life—jealousy, violence, murder, revenge. But, for the matter of that, so is Sophocles and Aeschylus and a fair sampling of grand opera and quite a deal of Shakespeare—"Macbeth," for example. It is, indeed, a classical theme. Which might account for the fact that "Frankie and Johnny" has been sung by superb artists in Carnegie hall, as well as by frowsy bums in waterfront flophouses.

Song scouts never get quite to the end of the trail in back-trailing "Frankie and Johnny." There was a supposedly authentic tale of some bard having tossed it off in a St. Louis beer joint, in the early nineties, after a jealousy killing in which the details were said to have been accurately reported in the song. But an earlier version was discovered, and now they have run it back to about 1880, whence it comes out of the mists and shadows of the Mississippi river and the early railroad towns.

This song, however, had to do with "Frankie and Albert." There were only 13 verses, whereas it takes 29 to round out the epic story in the generally accepted version of today. It grows with the years, through many forms. "Josie," of the Kentucky hill-billy country is one, and "Sadie," traced to the logging camps and mine pits around Lake Michigan, is another.

And now it shades off into the "Frankie Blues." A friend played the blues version for me on the piano. It has only five verses. There is the usual slur and hitch-kick typical of these adaptations, the music wrenched pretty far out of its pattern, but there just the same. As to the words, they are quite different but they tell the same story—the story of love and death which runs through the classics—low-life and high-life.

It might have been presumed that we would carry over with us into the world of tomorrow the great classics of music. But the music hall at the world's fair has had to abandon its program of the masters, even at a 40-cent minimum admission charge. That is for some more informed student of the folkways to examine and explain and appraise for good or ill. But when we pilgrims take staff and scrip to journey into the world of tomorrow, one wonders just what we will abandon and what we will take with us. And who will be the super-cargo, to say: this you may keep and this you must put aside?

My own idea is that many tributaries of the past will flow on into the future. The towers of the city of tomorrow may be taller and whiter than those of Camelot, but they will not be floating in mid-air. They will be grounded in the deep caissons of the human motivations which are common to Euripedes and "Frankie and Johnny."

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

Charlie is four years old, the only child in a family of five adults. This spring he started to play with other children his own age outside his own yard. All went well for a time and then he began showing new accomplishments. He galvanized his aunt by shouting at her, "You can't ride me; go fish," when she told him it was time to go upstairs to wash himself for dinner. He angered his grandfather by saying, very loudly and with great swagger, "Who you think your talking to? Think you're Mussolini, don't you?" He sent his mother into hysterics by telling her, "Lay off. I'll eat what I please. You can't make me do nothing."

The shocked family held a conference. "He must have learned that from somebody he plays with. Did you see him spread his legs and swagger? Did you see him squint his eyes and twist his mouth? He's been with some youngster that is tough enough to chew nails."

"What are we to do with him?" asked mother tearfully. "I never dreamed he would behave like this."

"Where is he now?" asked grandfather.

"In his room. Getting ready for bed. I haven't gone near him since dinner. I don't know what to say to him, or do to him."

"Just leave him alone. When he is ready for you go as usual and put him to bed and make no sign that you heard him. We will all do the same. Tomorrow you take him to the farm for a while. He'll forget this and we'll try to find the model for his behavior."

Next day when mother was ready to start for the farm Charlie looked thoughtful and said, "Can I take Ronny along?"

"Who's Ronny?"

"He's my friend. A big boy, more'n six years old, he is. I don't want to go unless he comes. He's my friend."

"Not this time," said mother. "There isn't room. We have to start right away now, too, because the car is waiting. Go say goodbye."

Children learn most of what they know by imitating. The more dramatic the model, the faster they are to copy it, and the quicker they learn it. Dramatic language is picked up quickly. It is unusual; it is spoken with vigor, with strong dramatic effect, and the listening child snatches it up at once.

Dramatic behavior has the same appeal to the little child. An unusual action such as punching someone on the nose, appeals to a little child. The dramatic action meets his understanding at once; his mind-level is very close to that of the puncher's so the two minds meet swiftly and easily. Anything that is loud, crude, unusual and dramatic is certain to be imitated by the watching, listening child.

When he brings home some undesirable language, behavior, or attitudes, try to bear it and ignore it. If it is too much try to remove him from the influence of his model without causing resistance. Talk as little as possible. Talking, excitement or dramatics on your part will only heighten his interest in all such behavior and cause him to imitate it more than ever. Try to be calm and wise and patient. The phase passes, but it is awful while it lasts. Our chief hope lies in the fact that home and home background always win out in the end. Imitation works there, too.

That Body of Yours

by JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

INJECTING HEMORRHOIDS OR PILES

While examining recruits for overseas service, cases of severe varicose veins in the legs were rejected. Some were so anxious to go overseas that they underwent operation and were later accepted. Cases of varicose veins in lower end of large intestine—hemorrhoids or piles—were likewise rejected unless they underwent operation.

Today in the great majority of cases operation is unnecessary as the injection of these varicose veins in the leg or bowel usually brings about a cure in a few weeks. The injection method, while known at the time, had been discredited to a considerable extent because of the failure of the sclerosing or hardening materials to work properly.

Hemorrhoids or piles are particularly distressing due to their pain, bleeding and itching, yet many suffer for years with them rather than undergo the expense, danger and loss of time, made necessary by operation. However, operation is not necessary now in a large number of cases due to the skill of the surgeon and the effectiveness of the sclerosing or hardening solution which "dries up" the hemorrhoid.

Dr. Lynn Krouse, St. Louis, in the Journal of the Missouri State Medical Association, says:

"There are three methods of procedure used in treating hemorrhoids; first, surgery, which is invaluable in certain types of cases; second, injection which has merited use in a large group of cases; and third, palliation—giving relief with ointments and suppositories.

From a group of 100 cases, 75 were selected for the injection treatment, ranging in age from 16 to 86 years. The interval between treatments was from five to ten days. Pain, bleeding and the protrusion (piles coming outside) improved following the first and second injections. All cases showed the general effect upon the individuals such as nervousness, lack of endurance and emotional disturbances. The hemorrhoids returned in less than 10 per cent of the cases which is not as large a percentage as by operation.

It is not the hard laborers but usually the office group with irregular diet habits that are mostly afflicted with hemorrhoids.

Remember, some cases can only be cured by surgery, but there is a large number of sufferers who can obtain relief by this injection method, who could thus rid themselves with little expense of this ailment which, aside from its pain and discomfort, greatly depresses the entire nervous system.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—The bloc on the hill pushing for legislation to tear apart the financial structure of railroads and put it together again will have an inside aide in a high place in the person of Jerome Frank, newly chosen chairman of the securities and Exchange commission.

Reforms in financing advocated by Senator Wheeler of Montana and other members of congress have been documented with philosophic speeches and SEC opinions by Frank.

Frank looks like a Spanish don—dark, oval-faced; and he plays with words with the facility of a toreador flicking a bull. He was a high priced attorney in New York before he joined the New Deal in 1933 and during a two-year recess between New Deal jobs he became the high-priced attorney again. Washington, currently at odds over $23 a week salaries for WPA white collar hands, had a whale of a good time over a dispute between Frank and the interstate commerce commission as to whether he should be paid $10 an hour or $13 an hour as counsel for two years in reorganization of the Missouri Pacific railroad. As attorneys' pay goes in the upper brackets it was fairly low, but what a contrast.

A Top-Flighter

The fact is that in these parts Frank is considered one of the really top flight figures in government, although he is not one of President Roosevelt's inner circle. His ideas are so challenging that in spite of his calm presentation of them he is frequently tilting with people both outside and inside the New Deal.

He wrote a book called "Save America First" which dealt broadly with foreign trade policy a swell as domestic affairs. Scholarly reviewers spent columns of space arguing with his ideas while scarcely pausing for a paragraph of explanation of what was in the book. It is that way with Frank.

But his ideas on rail reform are just now being pushed along in congress. He and those associated with him in the idea argue that bonds with prior claims and fixed rates of interest are things which railroads should replace with common stock as fast as possible. When a railroad gets in financial trouble, it can be immediately thrown into receivership by a minority of bond holders. In receivership it becomes a prey to all the factional interests that seem to sprout around railroads.

Has His Arguments

Why not set the financing up on a different basis, argues Frank. After all, when railroads default in interest payments on their bonds, the bondholders are thrown into something of the same position as the common stock holders. They can't sell the railroad and get their money out of it, regardless of what is written on the bond. The best they can claim is a priority share in such earnings as the railroad may have. And when the railroad reorganization is complete, chances are the face value of their bonds is cut down much as if it had been common stock.

But the real danger, Frank argues, is that when a railroad runs shy of income, the management begins neglecting upkeep and other necessary expenses in order to pay interest on the bonds. Unless such payments are made they face what Frank calls the "hideously expensive and drastic remedy of bankruptcy and reorganization."

The pending railroad legislation would, among other things, set up a special bankruptcy court to expedite railroad financing. Frank would take the next step and see to it that the indigestible bond values are replaced with more flexible types of security whose values and earnings will rise and fall with railroad earnings.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

MARVEL of 1939 is television, bringing the living image into your home by electrical impulses. Marvel of 1839 was the daguerreotype, preserving on metal for the first time the photograph.

Louis Jacques Daguerre discovered the secret of the daguerreotype process just 100 years ago in Paris, although his efforts were combined with the experiments of Joseph Nicephore Niepce. The discovery was hailed as one of the most important of all time and certainly it was, for up until then there was no way to preserve the human image except by wax and portraits and neither could approximate the photograph.

But the world came exceedingly close to missing the daugerreotype at that, although had not Daguerre perfected the process someone else doubtless would have. The final step was pretty much an accident. Niepce and Daguerre had worked on the problem for many years, independently. Then they met and revealed to each other the results of their experiments. Niepce told Daguerre he was using a chemical, "bitumen of Judea" to try to bring out the pictures. This opened up a new field for Daguerre.

He went home, closeted himself in his laboratory, worked feverishly for nearly two years trying this chemical in all manner of combinations. Finally, one day, he left a silver spoon in his chemical cupboard on a metal plate coated with iodine. Next day he found a clear picture of the spoon on the plate. Success was achieved at last!

ONLY U. S. CHURCH KING WILL ATTEND

The only church King George and Queen Mary will attend in this country is St. James Episcopal church near Hyde Park, N. Y. The pastor, Rev. Frank R. Wilson, has been so swamped with requests for admission that he cut off his phone at mealtimes to gain time to eat. He is pictured at left above, pointing out the pew where the president, Mrs. Roosevelt and the king and queen will sit. The tiny church, which seats only 200, is shown at right.

James A. Mills Describes Humorous Experiences With Royal Personages

Noted Foreign Correspondent Has Interviewed Many Of World's Rulers

By James A. Mills

NEW YORK, June 3.—[illegible] ...ng the globe as a reporter for the Associated Press, that one may walk with kings who keep the common touch.

That alteration of Kipling's famous rhyme is based on interviews I have had with the rulers of lands in Europe, Africa, the Near East and the Far East.

Some of course are distant and haughty. Some are frightened. But all are interesting as human beings.

Notable among those who have talked freely with me are King Boris of Bulgaria, King George of Greece, King Carol of Rumania, the late Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania and two others who have gone to their reward, King Constantine of Greece and King Alexander of Yugoslavia.

[illegible]

"How much is she worth?" asked Zog.

Her annual income is reported to be $750,000.

"That's not enough," retorted the ruler. "It must be at least a million. How can a king and queen both expect to live on a paltry three-quarters of a million a year?"

Then my memory goes back to another ruler, also forcibly dethroned and by Premier Mussolini. I saw Haile Selassie, the "Conquering Lion of Judah," serve a machine gun during the bombing of the city of Dessie in the Ethiopian war [illegible]

[illegible]

...with great dignity.

But the gigantic golden crown seemed to weigh and wobble on his small head as he walked. Through the ceremony the queen [illegible] to be assisted by her attendants, who kept her from toppling to the ground by grasping her under the arms.

Then I recall another coronation, that of the "boy emperor," Henry Pu-Yi, as Emperor Kang-Teh of Manchoukuo.

As the Japanese wanted to install the "son of heaven" in his new job with the greatest pomp [illegible], everybody was ordered to dress for the occasion like a Christmas tree. To give the coronation a realistic touch, the Japanese built a "celestial altar of heaven" on the plains of Manchuria, where in centuries gone by Ghengis Khan and Kublai Khan had mobilized their roaming thousands of warriors and horsemen.

Though it was freezing cold, all foreign spectators were compelled by the Japanese to wear full evening dress. Overcoats were strictly forbidden. For hours we stood there, chilled to the bone, but we were rewarded with a humorous incident.

It was discovered that the "son of heaven" would not fit in his bomb-proof American automobile while he wore his pagoda-like coronation hat. What to do? It was a question of the emperor discarding his head gear, removing the roof of the car or lowering the rear seat.

Eventually the floor of the car, which was of steel, was removed and the seat lowered. That accommodated his majesty's hat.

CREDIT REITZELL FOR ARREST OF 3

Monroe Police Chief Furnished Clues In Case Of Three Alleged Thieves

Police Chief Frank V. Reitzell yesterday was accredited by Baton Rouge authorities with the clues that led to the arrest Friday in Portland, Ore., of two men and a woman wanted on charges of burglary and grand larceny at Baton Rouge.

The trio, wanted for larceny of photographic equipment valued at $1,300 from Baton Rouge firms on the night of last May 19, were identified by authorities as Earl B. Williams, 27, an ex-convict, his 17-year-old wife, Dorothy Williams, and Merrill Weaver, 22.

A month ago the trio was traveling through this section making motion pictures of dancing and other scenes in night clubs of this area and appearing at the same clubs later to make public showings of the pictures.

On May 9, however, they were arrested for investigation when police found them sleeping in their automobile near the edge of the city on the [illegible]. But a check-up of their activities failed to reveal that they were wanted persons.

Williams, at the time of his arrest here, told Chief Reitzell that they were sleeping out because they were "going broke," and that they were about to [illegible] equipment [illegible]

Sheriff de Britton handled the case from then on, but in a letter to Chief Reitzell yesterday he said he was glad to place "credit where credit was due" in connection with the solution of the Baton Rouge cases. Sheriff de Bretton wired the bank at Portland to inform him where payments on the automobile had been coming from the past few days. He learned that Williams was back in Portland making payments personally. Portland authorities then arrested the fugitives and they were to be returned to Louisiana.

TO START POWER LINE WORK SOON

Rural Electric Lines Will Be Installed In Claiborne And Webster

HOMER, June 3.—(Special)—Work is scheduled to begin within 60 days now on construction of 231 miles of rural electric lines for Claiborne and Webster parishes, Willie Rainach, project official, announced.

The project is financed by a loan of $175,000 from the federal government, to be liquidated from revenue derived from current sold to customers.

Several hundred farmers will be served electric current to be purchased from some utility company and sold by a cooperative company.

An office is being opened here where the work will be let by contract. Forty thousand man hours of labor will be required for completion.

Starting from here and going to the suburbs of Haynesville, the line will include Ruple, Camp, Dykesville, Blackburn, Leaton, Shongaloo, Evergreen, Gordon, Green community, Ware and Bailey communities, Homer oil field, Harris, Dubberly, Fellowship, Sibley, Heflin and club houses on Lake Bistineau. Another line will go to Arizonia, Lisbon, Antioch, Tugwell community and the edge of Summerfield.

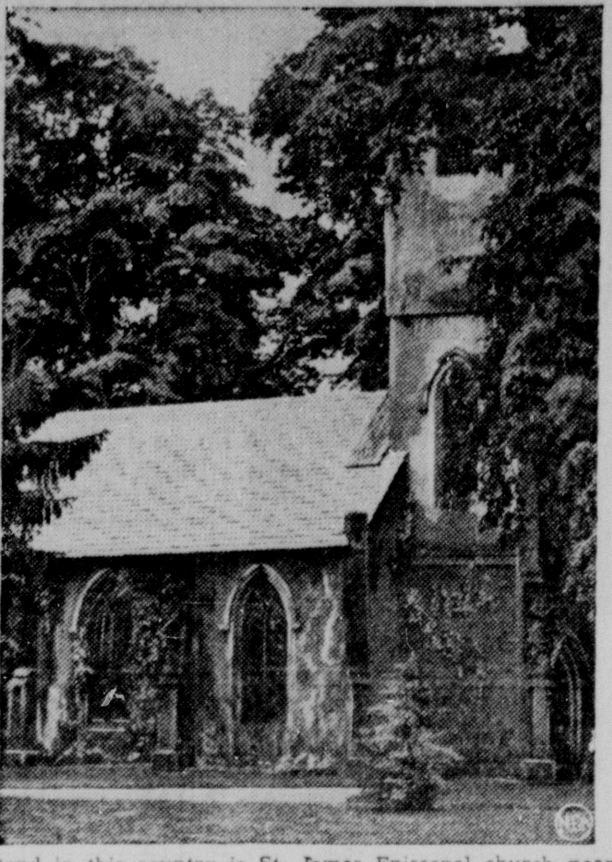
ONLY U. S. CHURCH KING WILL ATTEND



The only church King George and Queen Mary will attend in this country is St. James Episcopal church near Hyde Park, N. Y. The pastor, Rev. Frank R. Wilson, has been so swamped with requests for admission that he cut off his phone at mealtimes to gain time to eat. He is pictured at left above, pointing out the pew where the president, Mrs. Roosevelt and the king and queen will sit. The tiny church, which seats only 200, is shown at right.

Noted Foreign Correspondent Has Interviewed Many Of World's Rulers

(EDITOR'S NOTE: One of the most famous American foreign correspondents is James A. Mills, of the Associated Press. He has traveled the world over covering the great news of the moment, his assignments ranging from the World war through the more recent conflicts in India, Ethiopia and China. Kings and queens and other heads of nations know him well and have frequently called him into conference. He has returned to America to recuperate after an illness.)

By James A. Mills

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—It has been my good fortune to discover, in almost a quarter of a century of roaming the globe as a reporter for the Associated Press, that one may walk with kings who keep the common touch.

That alteration of Kipling's famous rhyme is based on interviews I have had with the rulers of lands in Europe, Africa, the Near East and the Far East.

Kings, dictators, presidents and royal princes sometimes not only keep the common touch but actually extend to newspaper men such confidence that they seek out the company or advice of members of the fourth estate.

Some, of course, are distant and haughty. Some are frightened. But all are interesting as human beings.

Notable among those who have talked freely with me are King Boris of Bulgaria, King George of Greece, King Carol of Rumania, the late Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania, and two others who have gone to their rewards, King Constantine of Greece and King Alexander of Yugoslavia.

King Constantine had a rich, overflowing sense of humor. King Alexander invariably interviewed the interviewer before he would consent to talk. He was one of the ablest and best-informed sovereigns in Europe. Once, during the last years of the World war, I had an interview literally "through a keyhole" with old King Peter of Serbia, then confined to his bed.

His doctors declined to let me into his sick room but I did get to see him through a keyhole and to transmit and receive questions and answers through his secretary. It made a very human and appealing story. It was the last interview the great war-time king gave. He died soon after.

King Boris would appeal to the average American. Very human and likeable, he is the personification of simplicity, charm and sociability. As everyone knows, the king is an expert locomotive engineer and mechanic. He loves to show his acquaintances his private narrow-gauge railroad which circles the royal palace near Sofia.

The lately dethroned King Zog of Albania was not easy to see or to interview. He held himself aloof from publicity. When Charles Hart, our former minister to Albania, was leaving once for a vacation in the United States, King Zog asked him to find a rich and beautiful wife.

Returning, Hart informed his majesty of the eligibility of one very well-known American girl.

"How much is she worth?" asked Zog.

"Her annual income is reported to be $750,000."

"That's not enough," retorted the ruler, "It must be at least a million. How can a king and queen both expect to live on a paltry three-quarters of a million a year?"

Then my memory goes back to another ruler, also forcibly dethroned, and by Premier Mussolini. I saw Haile Selassie, the "Conquering Lion of Judah," seize a machine gun during the bombing of the city of Dessie, in the Ethiopian war, and attempt to shoot down the aviators who were trying to kill him.

Three Italian bombs dropped within a few feet of me while I was photographing the Italian sky-raiders, but luckily, they were only incendiary bombs that burned and spluttered but did not explode. More than a score of big high explosive shrapnel bombs were dropped on the building where the emperor was living but all were "duds."

In the more than 30 minutes that bombs were showered on the city, 55 civilians were blown to bits and more than 200 other noncombatants were wounded or maimed.

Haile Selassie's coronation was one of the most extraordinary spectacles I have witnessed in my thirty-odd years as a reporter. To impress the visiting foreign delegations, he spent a million in building new roads and making other improvements in Addis Ababa, which was one of the strangest, most primitive capitals in the world.

To impart taste to the coronation, the emperor asked former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany for the loan of his imperial golden coach. Wilhelm offered to sell it to the Ethiopian sovereign for $5,000. The king of kings accepted. What about horses to pull the coach? Wilhelm referred Haile Selassie to the Hungarian government.

The descendant of Solomon and Sheba imported a dozen of Hungary's prancing Arabian steeds. Hitched up, they promptly ran away with the coach, the emperor and the 250-pound empress.

The Hungarian groom explained the animals were not accustomed to "black faces." Royalty was insulted but, once again, this time at the coronation, the heads of the state climbed into the coach. And, again, the animals ran away.

After that the fractious horses were led by equerries and never driven by the rein.

Shortly before the coronation the king of kings gave a gargantuan raw-meat feast to 25,000 of his warriors. Two hundred live cows were led in to an enclosure, their throats were slit, and the frenzied and famished warriors fell upon the meat like maddened wolves.

Forty-nine bishops, 800 priests and 400 acolytes participated in the coronation, which lasted a whole week. Inside the small, stuffy cathedral where the coronation ceremony was held, the emperor—a small, frail man with aquiline nose, kinky hair and curly black beard—carried himself with great dignity.

But his gigantic golden crown seemed weighty and wobbly on his small head as he walked. Throughout the ceremony the queen, a dwarfed, rotund, yellow-faced woman of 42, had to be assisted by her attendants, who kept her from toppling to the ground by grasping her under the arms.

Then I recall another coronation, that of the "boy emperor," Henry Pu-Yi, as Emperor Kang-Teh of Manchoukuo.

As the Japanese wanted to install the "son of heaven" in his new job with the greatest pomp and panoply, everybody was ordered to dress for the occasion like a Christmas tree. To give the coronation a realistic touch, the Japanese built a "celestial altar of heaven" on the plains of Manchuria, where in centuries gone by Ghenghis Khan and Kublai Khan had mobilized their teeming thousands of warriors and horsemen.

Though it was freezing cold, all foreign spectators were compelled by the Japanese to wear full evening dress. Overcoats were strictly forbidden. For hours we stood there, chilled to the bone, but we were rewarded with a humorous incident.

It was discovered that the "son of heaven" would not fit in his bomb-proof American automobile while he wore his pagoda-like coronation hat. What to do? It was a question of the emperor discarding his head gear, removing the roof of the car or lowering the rear seat.

Eventually the floor of the car, which was of steel, was removed and the seat lowered. That accommodated his majesty's hat.

CREDIT REITZELL FOR ARREST OF 3

Police Chief Frank V. Reitzell yesterday was accredited by Baton Rouge authorities with the clues that led to the arrest Friday in Portland, Ore., of two men and a woman wanted on charges of burglary and grand larceny at Baton Rouge.

The trio, wanted for larceny of photographic equipment valued at $1,300 from Baton Rouge firms on the night of last May 19, were identified by authorities as Earl B. Williams, 27, an ex-convict; his 17-year-old wife, Dorothy Williams, and Merrill Weaver, 22.

A month ago the trio was traveling through this section making motion pictures of dancing and other scenes in night clubs of this area and appearing at the same clubs later to make public showings of the pictures.

On May 9, however, they were arrested for investigation when police found them sleeping in their automobile near the edge of the city on the Winnsboro road. But a check-up of their activities failed to reveal that they were wanted persons.

Williams, at the time of his arrest here, told Chief Reitzell that they were "sleeping out" because they were "going broke" and that they were about to lose their photographic equipment because they were unable to make payments. Police also checked on the automobile they were driving and learned that payments were being sent in regularly on the machine to a Portland bank. The trio was turned loose.

Soon after May 19, Chief Reitzell received a state bulletin from Baton Rouge asking all officers to be on the lookout for a quantity of valuable photographic and motion picture equipment that had been stolen there.

Chief Reitzell quickly recalled the trio with the motion picture equipment which they had said they were about to lose. He concluded that they must have lost the equipment because of inability to pay for it, as they had said, and had supplied themselves anew by robbing the places at Baton Rouge.

Sheriff de Bretton at Baton Rouge had no idea who had committed the crimes, but Chief Reitzell soon sent him his theory. Chief Reitzell also sent fingerprints that had been taken here, and the prints compared with one set found in one of the burglarized places, it was stated. Chief Reitzell also informed Sheriff de Bretton of the automobile and the fact that regular payments were being made.

Sheriff de Britton handled the case from then on, but in a letter to Chief Reitzell yesterday he said he was glad to place "credit where credit was due" in connection with the solution of the Baton Rouge cases. Sheriff de Bretton wired the bank at Portland to inform him where payments on the automobile had been coming from the past few days. He learned that Williams was back in Portland making payments personally. Portland authorities then arrested the fugitives and they were to be returned to Louisiana.

C. C. Sheppard To Address Louisiana Legion Meeting

Lumberman Gains National Prominence As Industrial Leader, Speaker

CLARKS, La., June 3—(Special)—C. C. Sheppard, president and general manager of the Louisiana Central Lumber company of Clarks, has accepted an invitation from the Louisiana department of the American Legion, extended to him through the National Association of Manufacturers, to be the guest speaker on Sunday, June 18, at the state convention of the American Legion to be held in Alexandria June 15-18.

Mr. Sheppard, who has been engaged in the lumber business for the last 35 years, has gained national prominence for his leadership in the industry. From time to time he has been honored with the most important offices in the lumber organization in Louisiana, in the south and in the United States. He is a past president of the National Lumber Manufacturers association, the Southern Pine association, and the Southern Hardwood Producers, Inc. He served as chairman of the national control committee of the Lumber Code authority, and as a director of the National Association of Manufacturers, and the United States Chamber of Commerce, and is now a member of the state mineral board.

Self-Made Man

Born on a farm in Jackson county, Mo., Mr. Sheppard is a member of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, and upholds in his private and business life the ideals of patriotism and citizenship sponsored by all veteran organizations.

Mr. Sheppard lost his father in early youth, and was forced to go to work immediately after he was graduated from high school. For five years he was a teacher in Missouri schools, and at intervals during those years attended the Missouri State university.

In 1914 he went to Oakdale, La., as general manager of the Forest Lumber company, which position he attained as an employe of the Missouri Lumber and Mining company of Grandin, Mo., over a period of 12 years.

Soon after going to Oakdale, Mr. Sheppard became the president and general manager of the Louisiana Sawmill company of Glenmora. In 1927 he was transferred to Clarks, where he became president and general manager of the Louisiana Central Lumber company.

Town Is Parish Playground

In Clarks, Mr. Sheppard operates two large sawmills, one pine and one hardwood, which maintain an ideal industrial town of about 2,500 people. The town is known as the playground of Caldwell parish, as the lumber company has built and maintains two beautiful parks there as an accommodation to the people of Caldwell parish. In one park there is a large concrete swimming pool and playground equipment, in the other there is an excellent athletic field, lighted for night games.

Mr. Sheppard's interest in the people of his town was expressed last month when he announced that the lumber company would construct a $5,000 gymnasium on the Clarks school campus to be ready for use at the opening of the school term in September. Another recent expression of personal concern for the welfare of those about him was made when Mr. Sheppard, in assisting the local parent-teacher association unit to carry on its outlined program, announced that the lumber company had employed a band instructor to conduct classes through the summer months at Clarks, for the band members of the Columbia, Grayson and Clarks high schools, and that a director of recreation activities for all ages had also been employed by the company for the summer months.

Eloquent Speaker

When Mr. Sheppard is at his desk in the lumber office at Clarks, anyone wishing to see him takes their place in the waiting line, and receives a cordial greeting when their turn comes. His office door stands ajar to those in all walks of life, and many come not because they have business with him, but because they desire his counsel.

Mr. Sheppard is well informed on the current problems confronting our nation, and a master of words with an eloquent delivery. He is in great demand as public speaker, and while he is a very busy man, he finds time to accept many of the calls to address clubs, civic organizations and conventions. His keen mind, mellowed philosophy and his incisive tones always cause those who have heard him eager to have an opportunity to hear him again.

CONFEDERATE DAY OBSERVED HERE

Confederate Memorial day was observed in Monroe Saturday, when all banks and other financial houses were closed all day, as it was a state-wide legal holiday.

The Confederate Memorial day committee held its annual service at the Confederate monument in the old city cemetery at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Charles M. Mitchell as chairman presided and was assisted by Mrs. John Windes, vice-chairman.

Others who participated in the services were Mrs. Joe Renwick, Mrs. J. C. Liner, Sr., and Misses Edith and Olive Gunby.

There were short talks and musical selections.

KEYSTONE CHOOSES DU PONT PAINT TO SERVE CLIENTELE

The Keystone Paint and Decorating company, after careful study and experience with the best known brands of paint, have chosen DuPont paint and paint products to service their large clientele, according to Frank Davis, store manager. "This DuPont paint has got everything from quality down to price," he said. One of the largest stocks of paint featured in retail stores is now at the Keystone Paint and Decorating company.

In order to introduce DuPont paint to their clientele, one quarter can of DuPont enamel will be given free with any purchase made in their store.

Jimmy Cash and Walter Cash, well known local painting contractors, and officials of the Keystone Paint and Decorating company have contracted work in Monroe for the past 15 years and have acquired valuable knowledge of paint. Its durability and beautiful workmanship have resulted in the use of DuPont paint. This is one of the main reasons they are now feautring this brand. Frank Davis, store manager and city salesman for Keystone Paint and Decorating company, was formerly manager of the Sherwin Williams store here, but has been affiliated with Keystone since it opened for business here some months ago. Mr. Davis has given the past 15 years of his life to the study of paints and painting problems and his advice is always available. The Keystone Paint and Decorating company is a 100 per cent home owned store.

MONROE PRISONER WANTED IN TEXAS

A man wanted in Texas on a burglary charge has been confined in the city jail here for the past week, serving a 25-day sentence for being drunk and disorderly, it was learned yesterday at police headquarters.

A week ago Police Officers H. E. Webb and William Soureal arrested a man who gave his name as B. E. Harper and placed him in jail on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. Last Monday in city court he was fined $25 or 25 days in jail.

But yesterday, as Sergeant L. S. Meek was checking a new edition of a Texas bulletin on wanted persons, he quickly recognized the picture of a man wanted for burglary as that of Harper. Fingerprints accompanied the picture and corresponded with prints taken by Sergeant Meek soon after the fugitive's arrest here.

Communication with Sheriff O. R. Martine at Plainview, Tex., where the man is wanted, revealed that the man's name was Raymond Keller instead of Harper and that he had previously served a four-year term in prison at Huntsville, Tex., for burglary.

Keller, alias Harper, has admitted his true identity, it was reported, and will be returned to Texas as soon as authorities come here for him.

SLIPCOVERS FOR CHARM

For variety's sake the modern homemaker likes to provide two or even more sets of living room slipcovers. She believes it economical to select materials for this purpose that are of fine quality, since shoddy fabrics neither wear well nor retain their shape. Good workmanship, too, is important. Poorly fitted covers make the room appear sloppy, careless. She will bring home swads of samples to experiment with colors and patterns before final selection, because she discovers using several harmonizing but different materials in the same room adds individuality, interest. For serviceability, she will assure herself that the materials she chooses are processed to resist dampness, dust, fading and shrinkage.

NEGRO PRISONER TO BE RETURNED

Garland Kennedy, alias Johnny Williams, negro, wanted here for burglary of the Quality grocery at North Sixth street and Stubbs avenue, was being returned here late yesterday from El Dorado, Ark., by Chief of Police Frank V. Reitzell and Sheriff Milton Coverdale.

The negro was arrested at El Dorado while visiting an aunt. His brother, Steve Kennedy, is already in jail here as an alleged accomplice in the burglary of the Quality grocery on May 8. The negroes are said to have taken 12 cartons of cigarettes, a ham, smoking tobacco, cigars and chewing gum in the burglary.

Garland Kennedy was recently paroled from the Texas penitentiary where he was serving an eight-year sentence for breaking and entering in the night time. He was paroled last February 15 after serving five years. His home is here, however, police said.

OFFICERS PROBING KILLING OF NEGRO

Sheriff's officers last night were holding O. B. Zeigler, 18-year-old negro, until completion of an investigation into the death of his cousin, Crete McClendon, 13, who died of a bullet wound in his chest early Friday night in woods near the Finley plantation, five miles southwest of Calhoun.

Coroner Irving J. Wolff, who investigated the shooting, said the negro boy had died of a wound caused by a pistol bullet which had penetrated his left chest and entered the heart.

At the time of the fatal shooting, which the Zeigler negro claims was accidental, the two negroes were on their way from the plantation to feed some hogs owned by their grandmother. First news of the shooting was brought from the woods when the older boy came running to the plantation with the information.

Zeigler told officers that the McClendon boy accidentally shot himself while twirling a pistol around on his forefinger as they were walking through the woods.

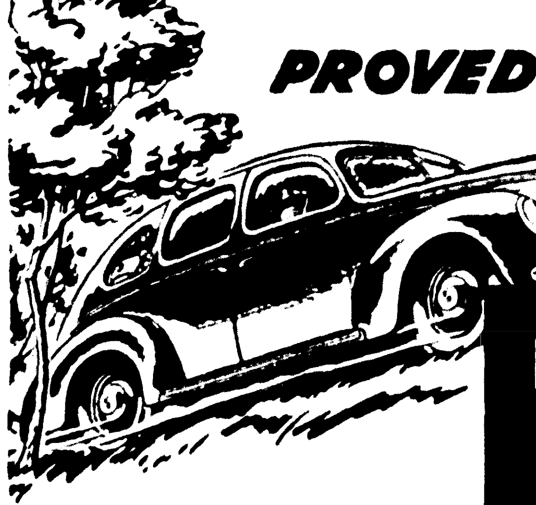
PROVED IN OPEN COMPETITION!



IT HAS THE SPEED

IT HAS THE ENDURANCE

IT HAS THE ECONOMY

Through all the speed ranges from lowest to highest, the Ford V-8 gives you the economical, well-balanced performance of a soundly engineered car. You can see what it does on the roads you know Now read what happened in the three great competitive tests of this year!

And remember that the things which made these Fords winners, all Fords have. The same fine materials, the same precision workmanship, the same economy!

- FLORIDA—March—In the tough going of the Daytona Beach Race, over 150 miles of sand and road, a Ford-built Mercury 8 finished first with a Ford V-8 only 200 yards behind it. Ford-built V-8 cylinder cars made a clean sweep of all prizes. The average speed of the winning car was 70.30 miles per hour.
- BUENOS AIRES—April—The Argentines held a race that was a race—the South American Grand Prize. 4515 miles, much of it over steep and tortuous Andean mountain roads. 69 cars were entered, including all leading low-price American makes. The race was won by a Ford V-8 and 10 of the 28 cars which finished were Fords.
- CALIFORNIA—January—The annual Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run was conducted under the worst conditions in years. 314 miles over two mountain ranges (4000 and 6000 feet elevation) with rain all the way and snow the last 40 miles! Nearly half the entries, including the leading low-price cars, failed to finish within the time limit. But performance figures recorded by Motor Age show that the 85-hp. Ford V-8 delivered the best gasoline mileage in its class! The Mercury 8 was also best in its class.

C. C. Sheppard To Address Louisiana Legion Meeting

Lumberman Gains National Prominence As Industrial Leader, Speaker

CLARKS, La., June 3.—(Special)—C. C. Sheppard, president and general manager of the Louisiana Central Lumber company of Clarks, has accepted an invitation from the Louisiana department of the American Legion, extended to him through the National Association of Manufacturers, to be the guest speaker on Sunday, June 18, at the state convention of the American Legion to be held in Alexandria June 15-18.

Mr. Sheppard, who has been engaged in the lumber business for the last 35 years, has gained national prominence for his leadership in the industry. From time to time he has been honored with the most important offices in the lumber organization in Louisiana, in the south and in the United States. He is a past president of the National Lumber Manufacturers association, the Southern Pine association, and the Southern Hardwood Producers, Inc. He served as chairman of the national control committee of the Lumber Code authority, and as a director of the National Association of Manufacturers, and the United States Chamber of Commerce, and is now a member of the state mineral board.

Self-Made Man

Born on a farm in Jackson county, Mo., Mr. Sheppard is a member of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, and upholds in his private and business life the ideals of patriotism and citizenship sponsored by all veteran organizations.

Mr. Sheppard lost his father in early youth, and was forced to go to work immediately after he was graduated from high school. For five years he was a teacher in Missouri schools, and at intervals during those years attended the Missouri State university.

In 1914 he went to Oakdale, La., as general manager of the Forest Lumber company, which position he attained as an employe of the Missouri Lumber and Mining company of Grandin, Mo., over a period of 12 years.

Soon after going to Oakdale, Mr. Sheppard became the president and general manager of the Louisiana Sawmill company of Glenmora. In 1927 he was transferred to Clarks, where he became president and general manager of the Louisiana Central Lumber company.

Town Is Parish Playground

In Clarks, Mr. Sheppard operates two large sawmills, one pine and one hardwood, which maintain an ideal industrial town of about 2,500 people. The town is known as the playground of Caldwell parish, as the lumber company has built and maintains two beautiful parks there as an accommodation to the people of Caldwell parish. In one park there is a large concrete swimming pool and playground equipment, in the other there is an excellent athletic field, lighted for night games.

KING WELCOMED BY PRAIRIE FOLK

Royal Pair Enjoy Viewing Mirage And Rare Early Summer Beauty

By Frank H. King

When the royal train arrived at 2:19 p.m. (4:19 p.m., eastern standard time) a crowd of 100,000—more than twice Saskatoon's population—thronged the city and sent up wave upon wave of cheers as the king rode slowly over an 11-mile route.

The royal visitors looked refreshed after a night's sleep aboard their train and appeared to enjoy immensely the greetings from the prairie folk, who have gone through hard times in recent years but didn't show it today.

The two-hour visit to Saskatoon was limited to the motor ride, the reading of an address by Mayor C. Niderost and the usual inspection of a guard of honor by the king.

A railway siding on the empty prairie tonight held the royal train, giving the king and queen a night of rest undisturbed even by train movement.

Tomorrow at Portage la Prairie, 54 miles west of Winnipeg, they will attend services at the United Church of Canada. Later their train will roll across northern Ontario, arriving at Sudbury junction at 7:30 p.m., eastern standard time, for a 10-minute ride and a 50-minute stop at Sudbury.

All day long today the blue-and-silver train clicked off mile after mile of Canada's thousand-mile-wide wheat belt. From their observation car, the king and queen enjoyed a day of rare early summer beauty on the prairies.

Rolling expanses of wheat field, broken by groves and lakes, blue skies puffed with white clouds, sunshine tempered by cool breezes—these were the vistas which rolled by.

With variations for latitude, much the same scenes could have been unfolded for the royal tourists from the American Rockies to the Mississippi.

During the day the king and queen saw a prairie mirage. They watched "twisters," little wind whirlpools, pick up dust and race across the fields. Tall wheat elevators reared their bleak heads from the prairies.

In his speech, Saskatoon's Mayor Niderost told the king that many people of this part of Canada came from European countries not under his rule but that they "have come to know and appreciate the blessings of freedom and liberty."

He recalled that many men of the province "heeded the call of their country 20 years ago, and for which they would again should it be necessary."

This was one of the few utterances by an official at any stop of the royal tour, even indirectly, to the European situation.

The annual total cost of maintaining the road patrols is estimated to be well above $24,000,000.

Twin Cities Will Be Host To Foreign War Veterans

The Twin Cities will entertain the next big convention of the year this week when the Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold their ninth annual encampment which will start Friday and continue for three days. A program of interest has been prepared, and advance indications are that there will be from 800 to 1,000 in attendance at the encampment.

In the interest of the encampment, a tabloid newspaper has been issued from the press of the News-Star-World, devoted to the V. F. W., department of Louisiana. Pictures of leading officials and sketches of some of the salient features of the work being accomplished in the state are told. There was a generous patronage by Twin City business firms who used space for their advertisements, and in this way contributing to the treasury of the local Rodney J. Hobbs post, which will be host to the visitors.

This post has the following officers: J. W. Keene, commander; H. M. James, senior vice-commander; N. O. Freeman, junior vice-commander; Drew Pritchard, adjutant; Samuel Blackwell, officer of day.

This post has had continued growth since it was founded, April 13, 1930, and has been engaged in numerous civic activities too numerous to mention, taking part in the 1932 flood situation in Monroe, operating the canteen with and in conjunction with the Salvation Army, feeding and handling over 1,000 levee workers and refugees.

The post equipped a drum corps that attended national encampments in Milwaukee, Louisville, New Orleans and Denver and also took part in departmental encampments held in New Iberia, Biloxi, Alexandria, Baton Rouge, Lake Charles, and Shreveport and won $650 in prize money, besides taking part in veterans' rallies in Arkansas, Mississippi and numerous other places, traveling by bus owned by the post. The average post membership for the nine years has been 150 and the ranks are ever increasing, numbering some of the outstanding citizens in its rolls.

A burial plot is owned in Riverview Burial park where 12 "buddies" are buried and where memorial services are held annually on Memorial day. The plot is decorated with trench motors and a monument with a plaque, bearing the name of Rodney J. Hobbs, who was killed in action on the western front while a member of the 28th infantry, First division, and for whom the post is named.

The ladies auxiliary of Rodney J. Hobbs post was organized here October 19, 1931. The officers are as follows Mrs. Deveria Blackwell, president; Mrs. Gladys K. Miller, senior vice-president; Mrs. June M. Nelson, junior vice-president; Mrs. Martha W. Logan, conductress; Clara Lassiter, guard; Evvie Freeman and Mrs. Ida Hamilton, Iris Hobbs, and Vera Ramsey, color bearers; Mrs. Aline B. Hunt, secretary; Mrs. Sallie B. Elliott, treasurer; Mrs. Golda B. Logan, chaplain; Mrs. S. B. Wilson, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Grace H. Johnson, historian.

SHREVEPORT BANK SUIT DISMISSED

SHREVEPORT, La., June 3.—(AP)—The suit brought by a group of stockholders of the Commercial National bank of Shreveport (the old bank) to set aside the sale of 3,951 5-6 shares of stock of the Continental-American Bank & Trust company to F. D. Lee and associates and the Commercial National bank in Shreveport (the new bank) was dismissed in an opinion by Judge Ben C. Dawkins recorded in the federal clerk's office here today.

The suit is one of several that have been filed here in connection with the transfer of the assets of the old Commercial bank to the new bank.

The suit, styled Edson Realty Co. et al vs. The Commercial National bank in Shreveport, et al was dismissed on an exception of no cause of action.

The suit brought by the Edson company of Jefferson, Tex., also included the following plaintiffs: Mrs. Fred Seufert and Mrs. Sybil D. Bates of Harrison county, Texas; Mrs. Pearl Ebet, Mrs. Phil Dariss, Phil Dariss, Mrs. Juanita D. Comegys, L. B. Webster, Sr., H. F. Doll, Jr., and Mrs. Ludy J. Doll, all of whom the petition stated, owned "more than 100 shares" of stock of the old bank.

Defendants named were the Commercial National bank in Shreveport Charles K. Leslie, present receiver for the old bank, Paul M. Brown, former receiver, and Frank D. Lee, president of the board of the new bank.

CRAFT UNIONISM IS 'UNIMPORTANT'

Report To This Effect Made To Labor Board By Two Economists

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—Economists of the national labor relations board, in a report made in the midst of the A. F. L. effort to revise the Wagner act to give more protection to non-industrial unions, have advised the board that "craft" unions no longer are important in modern industry.

The report was put on the desks of board members several weeks ago by David J. Saposs, chief economist of the labor board, and his aide, Sol Davison, but was not given general circulation.

After a study of the structure of the American Federation of Labor, the economists concluded that:

Less than 10 per cent of the federation's present membership belong to purely craft unions; industrial and semi-industrial unions are preponderant; only 12 unions with 25,800 members could be regarded as "pure craft unions" out of 85 member unions with an aggregate membership at the last annual A. F. L. meeting of 3,030,100.

Asked about the analysis, William Green, A. F. L. president had this to say:

"The American Federation of Labor has applied both forms—craft and industrial—wherever they were found to be suitable.

"We have attempted to preserve the integrity of the craft union as well as the industrial form of union."

He asserted that as early as 1890 the federation experimented with the industrial form of union organization.

(The industrial union theory calls for organization of all workers in an industry into one union, irrespective of the nature of their work.)

After studying the constitutions of 85 A. F. L. unions, Saposs and Davison decided that "in modern industry the craft has ceased to be important and the structure of the A. F. L. unions reflects this change."

In segregating A. F. L. unions into various classifications of craft and industrial union types, Saposs and Davison drew their own demarcation lines and evolved the following breakdown by classification and membership:

12 craft	25,800
19 multiple craft	458,300
13 trade unions	814,800
27 semi-industrial	611,000
10 industrial	815,600
4 miscellaneous	304,600

From the economists' three dominant groups—industrial, semi-industrial and trade unions aggregating 2,241,400 members—come 10 of the 15 vice-presidents of the A. F. L. executive council who expelled John L. Lewis and his C. I. O. followers in the labor split over the application of industrial unionism to mass production industries.

GOVERNOR WHITE STARTS ROAD LINK

GULFPORT, Miss., June 3.—(AP)—The first spade of earth was turned today by Governor Hugh White in the new double highway that eventually will extend 26 miles along the Mississippi gulf coast and link Pass Christian with Biloxi.

Work on the project, costing about $3,000,000 and employing 300 WPA laborers, will start Tuesday. The initial project is nearly five miles long but others to extend the driveway five times that distance are nearing completion.

The highway, just north of the seawall and having concrete pavement sufficiently colored to prevent glare from sun and headlights, is a major effort of the state highway commission in cooperation with the Works Progress administration.

Governor White, who removed his hat and coat before gripping the shovel, predicted great progress for the Mississippi coast as a result of the beach development program and recommended further efforts for mosquito eradication in the coastal area.

TWO KILLED IN WRECK

RANGER, Tex., June 3.—(AP)—A westbound Texas and Pacific passenger train carrying 25 passengers derailed today at Colony Fork, four miles west of here, killing two and injuring nine persons. J. N. The dead were Engineer L. M. Mann, 65, and Fireman Ernest Preston, 45, both of Fort Worth.

MAY DELAY RULING ON FREIGHT CASE

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—Capitol Hill developments in the north-south freight rate scrap caused speculation this week-end that the interstate commerce commission might withhold a decision temporarily on the southeastern governors' complaint.

The determination of this case probably will establish the principle upon which other rate cases on southern shipments will be decided. Lawyers argued over it for two days this week before the I. C. C.

Legislation already passed by the senate would call upon the commission for a general investigation of rates on manufactured articles with a view to eliminating unlawful discriminations.

Some persons declared the governors' case, involving only a few manufactured articles, would have the effect of pre-determining the sectional rate situation which congress would have the I. C. C. investigate.

It was pointed out, therefore, that the commission might easily hold up the current proceeding until the house passes or rejects the order to inquire into interterritorial rates. Then, if the legislation were enacted, the governors' case might become a part of the general investigation.

"Then," it said, "the trapped men, many of whom by that time must have been in a weakened condition, would have had to climb up a steep incline and be dragged through the hole out of the compartment.

"The tide only allowed an hour or two for this work and it was not possible in the time. Any pronounced movement of the ship would have doomed the men instantly.

"The submarine was held only by her nose at the bottom and was moving about slightly under the influence of a very strong tide which runs at this spot. An air line was ready in the rescue ship, but the operation of cutting even a small hole in the stern and welding this line into it so that fresh air could be pumped to the men on board would have taken longer than tidal conditions allowed."

Among the demands voiced in the British press were one for a "stern inquiry and rigorous judgment" by the Daily Mail.

KING WELCOMED BY PRAIRIE FOLK

By Frank H. King

When the royal train arrived at 2:19 p.m. (4:19 p.m., eastern standard time) a crowd of 100,000—more than twice Saskatoon's population—thronged the city and sent up wave upon wave of cheers as the king rode slowly over an 11-mile route.

The royal visitors looked refreshed after a night's sleep aboard their train and appeared to enjoy immensely the greetings from the prairie folk, who have gone through hard times in recent years but didn't show it today.

The two-hour visit to Saskatoon was limited to the motor ride, the reading of an address by Mayor C. Niderost and the usual inspection of a guard of honor by the king.

A railway siding on the empty prairie tonight held the royal train, giving the king and queen a night of rest undisturbed even by train movement.

Tomorrow at Portage la Prairie, 54 miles west of Winnipeg, they will attend services at the United Church of Canada. Later their train will roll across northern Ontario, arriving at Sudbury junction at 7:30 p.m., eastern standard time, for a 10-minute ride and a 50-minute stop at Sudbury.

All day long today the blue-and-silver train clicked off mile after mile of Canada's thousand-mile-wide wheat belt. From their observation car, the king and queen enjoyed a day of rare early summer beauty on the prairies.

Rolling expanses of wheat field, broken by groves and lakes, blue skies puffed with white clouds, sunshine tempered by cool breezes—these were the vistas which rolled by.

With variations for latitude, much the same scenes could have been unfolded for the royal tourists from the American Rockies to the Mississippi.

During the day the king and queen saw a prairie mirage. They watched "twisters," little wind whirlpools, pick up dust and race across the fields. Tall wheat elevators reared their bleak heads from the prairies.

In his speech, Saskatoon's Mayor Niderost told the king that many people of this part of Canada came from European countries not under his rule but that they "have come to know and appreciate the blessings of freedom and liberty."

He recalled that many men of the province "heeded the call of their country 20 years ago, and for which they would again should it be necessary."

This was one of the few utterances by an official at any stop of the royal tour, even indirectly, to the European situation.

Twin Cities Will Be Host To Foreign War Veterans

The Twin Cities will entertain the next big convention of the year this week when the Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold their ninth annual encampment which will start Friday and continue for three days. A program of interest has been prepared, and advance indications are that there will be from 800 to 1,000 in attendance at the encampment.

In the interest of the encampment, a tabloid newspaper has been issued from the press of the News-Star—World, devoted to the V. F. W. department of Louisiana. Pictures of leading officials and sketches of some of the salient features of the work being accomplished in the state are told. There was a generous patronage by Twin City business firms who used space for their advertisements, and in this way contributing to the treasury of the local Rodney J. Hobbs post, which will be host to the visitors.

This post has the following officers: J. W. Keene, commander; H. M. James, senior vice-commander; N. O. Freeman, junior vice-commander; Drew Pritchard, adjutant; Samuel Blackwell, officer of day.

This post has had continued growth since it was founded, April 13, 1930, and has been engaged in numerous civic activities too numerous to mention, taking part in the 1932 flood situation in Monroe, operating the canteen with and in conjunction with the Salvation Army, feeding and handling over 1,000 levee workers and refugees.

The post equipped a drum corps that attended national encampments in Milwaukee, Louisville, New Orleans and Denver and also took part in departmental encampments held in New Iberia, Biloxi, Alexandria, Baton Rouge, Lake Charles, and Shreveport and won $650 in prize money, besides taking part in veterans' rallies in Arkansas, Mississippi and numerous other places, traveling by bus owned by the post. The average post membership for the nine years has been 150 and the ranks are ever increasing, numbering some of the outstanding citizens in its rolls.

A burial plot is owned in Riverview Burial park where 12 "buddies" are buried and where memorial services are held annually on Memorial day. The plot is decorated with trench motors and a monument with a plaque, bearing the name of Rodney J. Hobbs, who was killed in action on the western front while a member of the 28th infantry, First division, and for whom the post is named.

The ladies auxiliary of Rodney J. Hobbs post was organized here October 19, 1931. The officers are as follows: Mrs. Deveria Blackwell, president; Mrs. Gladys K. Miller, senior vice-president; Mrs. June M. Nelson, junior vice-president; Mrs. Martha W. Logan, conductress; Clara Lassiter, guard; Evvie Freeman and Mrs. Ida Hamilton, Iris Hobbs, and Vera Ramsey, color bearers; Mrs. Aline B. Hunt, secretary; Mrs. Sallie B. Elliott, treasurer; Mrs. Golda B. Logan, chaplain; Mrs. S. B. Wilson, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Grace H. Johnson, historian.

Sports Chatter

By GEORGE V. LOFTON

THE REASON

Last week we suggested to President Emmet Harty of the Cotton States league that he move his umpires about at more frequent intervals. The good prexy comes right back with a most logical reason why his arbiters must remain in one place for a week.

It's finances.

We hadn't thought of that angle. After all, it's the coin of the realm that turns the wheels of even a baseball league. And things can't be done unless there's dough in the till with which to do it.

President Harty took time off to explain his position in a letter received Friday. Here it is:

"Dear George:

"My attention has been directed to a suggestion appearing in your 'Sports Chatter' column several days ago.

"At the beginning of the season we had the schedule maker prepare two tentative schedules for the umpires, one providing for them to move after each series and the other for them to move after each home stay. To move them after each series involved 22,000 miles of travel; whereas, to move them after each home stay only totaled 13,000 miles—a difference of about $450 from the league treasury.

"Changing after each home stay was never satisfactory either to the club owners or the umpires but with the league in debt and the falling off of attendance which marked the opening of this season, I did not feel justified and do not yet feel justified in changing the umpires each series. However, each two weeks as we route the umpires for the following two weeks, Lueckenbach and I are checking the state of the treasury to see if we can finance moving the umpires each series for the following period.

"So far we have not seen our way to do this but attendance is beginning to pick up and I am hopeful that with the next assignments, that is on the 15th of June, we will be able to go over to changing the umpires each series.

"Thanking you for the suggestion and assuring you of my appreciation of any others you may see fit to make."

Thanks, prexy. We hope conditions will soon permit more frequent changing of umpires, but if the finances aren't on hand, don't try it. You're giving this circuit a most efficient administration. You're holding down the expenses and the league will wind up with money in the bank. We've seen too much of the other kind not to appreciate what you're doing.

ANOTHER SUCCESS

The third annual Twin City Golf tournament is in progress at McGuire Park Golf club, and this year's event attracted 108 players. Thus another McGuire tourney goes down in history as a distinct success.

A number of out-of-town golfing stars are entered in the current battle for the championship but most of the field comes from Monroe and West Monroe. And the championship flight includes the names of some outstanding golfers who are home folks.

It's nice to have as our guests several "big name" players and we all join in giving them the high sign of an enthusiastic welcome. We hope they enjoy themselves and visit us often.

But, after all, it's the "field" that makes the tournament; the boys who play the course day in and day out and the gentlemen who pay their dues to belong to our home club. The McGuire club wisely hasn't devoted the entire prize fund to trophies for first flight golfers but has provided attractive awards for the "dubs" in the

COOPER TAKES OVER LEAD IN GOODALL EVENT

Score Stands At Plus 26; Guldahl Dropped to Second; Shute Third

By Bill Boni

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Two men who together could fit into his shadow over-shadowed National Open Champion Ralph Guldahl today as one went flying by him and the other came nipping at his heels in the third day of the $5,000 Goodall Round-Robin Golf tournament.

Light-Horse Harry Cooper cut two points off Guldahl's lead by beating him and Tony Penna, 1 up apiece, in the morning round while Guldahl was finishing all even. In the afternoon, Cooper piled up nine more points against Craig Wood and Johnny Revolta. Guldahl, stacking up against the hottest scoring streak the tourney has had so far, finished four down to Denny Shute and 2 up on Paul Runyan for a net loss of two.

That combination of events raised Cooper's point score to plus 26, lowered Guldahl's to 21, and lifted Shute into third place with a plus 17 score.

Shute made the most remarkable recovery. Starting the day far down the list of 15 contenders with a minus 6 rating, Denny carved out a three-under-par 67, one shot off the course record, to win 15 holes from Revolta and Jimmy Thomson. Then he came back after lunch to post a 68 and finish 4 up each on Guldahl and Runyan. Denny thus gained 23 points.

Snead, who won last year at Cincinnati, took a decided tumble. The West Virginian after losing four holes his first time out, fired a 71 for his fifth round. But even though he was only one over par, he lost four more points as Hines shot a 68 at him and Hogan posted a 69. That dropped Sam down to ninth with plus 5.

Today's scoring generally was the best of the tournament. In addition to Shute's two sub-par performances and the one each by Hines and Hogan, Wood cracked out a 69 in the morning and Penna a 68 in the afternoon. The little Dayton, O., pro's round was the more remarkable for the fact that it included a 6 on the par-four 11th.

Shute's 36-hole score of 135 was the best for this course since Sarazen finished 70-66 to win the 1932 Open title. Cooper, the most consistent scorer of the entire field, barely missed his third straight 70 when he rimmed the cup from 3 feet on the 18th of his final round.

The leaders, after Cooper, Guldahl and Shute, are Hines, plus 15; Penna, plus 12, all of them gained on his 68; Wood and Hogan plus 7, Runyan, plus 6, and Snead, plus 5.

HORSE PROVES HIMSELF CHAMP OF 3-YEAR-OLDS

Clears Up Any Doubt As To Ability; Belay Second, Gilded Knight Third

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Tall, dark and handsome Johnstown just about cleared up any lingering doubt to his right as champion of the 3-year-olds today by galloping home a five-lengths winner in the 71st running of the classic Belmont Stakes.

Adding this mile-and-a-half test of endurance and speed to his previous conquests in the Withers Mile, the Kentucky Derby, the Wood Memorial and the Paumonok, William Woodward's whirlwind ran away from a field of five others.

Starting from the rail, he broke on top, and made every pole a winning one as he covered the long run in 2 minutes 29 3-5 seconds, just one second off the track record, set by War Admiral in winning this stake two years ago.

Without the hindrance of heavy going, such as that which proved him no mudder in the Preakness—his only defeat in seven 3-year-old starts—"Big John" was the whole show. Jockey Jimmy Stout had to do little more than hold on.

Coming into the stretch Stout even had time to turn his head to see what was doing behind him. It was plenty, for A. C. Bostwick's Belay and Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Gilded Knight, the latter Johnstown's entry-mate, were battling it out head-to-head for the place position.

Belay, a consistent brown son of Display, finally won out by half a length, with the Knight third and the Earle Sande-trained Heather Broom a length farther back in fourth place.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Hash, which had run second most of the way up to a mile, tired and wound up fifth. Joseph E. Widener's Knicker-Bocker, previously undefeated in three outings, was last in a field which had been cut to six by earlier scratches of William Ziegler, Jr.'s, Time Sheet and Woodward's stable-mate of Johnstown, Challenge.

With a lightning fast track and bright, warm weather, there were few among the 20,000 spectators who could see anything but Johnstown. As a result, the 3-year-old "Mr. Big" was backed far down in the betting, winding up at 1 to 8, and "out-and-out" for place and show. Belay was 7-1 for place.

GOLDEN PANTHERS TO QUIT FOOTBALL

Grid Game Hasn't Been Paying Way At Birmingham-Southern

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 3.—(AP)—The Golden Panthers of Birmingham-Southern, a power in small college gridiron circles in the south, will sing their football swan song this fall.

Dr. Raymond R. Paty, president of the Methodist school here, announced abandonment of intercollegiate football at the end of the 1939 season after studying a report by the college planning board which recommended such a step unless Birmingham-Southern was willing to undertake the sport on a "big time" scale.

The Panthers won the Dixie conference football championship in 1937, but dropped five of their nine games in 1938, including conference contests with Southwestern and Howard. The 1934 team was unbeaten and untied, including triumphs over Auburn and all Dixie conference rivals.

That football has not been paying its way at the Methodist school has been common knowledge in recent years. The subcommittee which reported to Dr. Paty last week fixed the 1938 deficit from the sport at $14,000.

Dr. Paty said a broad program of intramural sports will be substituted for intercollegiate football.

There was no announcement concerning the coaching staff, but Lex Fullbright, line coach, has tendered his resignation to take effect at the end of the 1939 season. Jenks Gillem, a star at Sewanee during his student days, has been head football coach at Birmingham-Southern since 1927.

It was understood Athletic Director Ben Englebert will continue as director of the new intramural program.

Nova Not Ready For Louis, Says Discoverer Of Tunney

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Jimmie Bronson, the man who discovered Gene Tunney when the future champion was upholding the honor of the marines in the prize rings of post-war France, regrets the tendency to compare Lou Nova with his former protege.

Jimmie, one of the rare gentlemen of the fight game, watched Lou carefully as he jabbed and ripped his way to a bloody victory over Max Baer Thursday night. He said he liked the young Californian very much, but couldn't see any resemblance between him and the Tunney who beat Jack Dempsey at Philadelphia and Chicago.

"What people keep on forgetting about Tunney," said Bronson, "is that he was one of the greatest defensive fighters who ever lived. Baer wouldn't have hit him in a month with the right hand he was bouncing off Nova's jaw.

"Nova has this much in common with Tunney: he is a synthetic, or 'made' fighter, and he has that same belief in his destiny that Gene had. But he is several years away from being the fighter Gene was at his peak, and I doubt that he ever can achieve Tunney's defensive skill.

"They kidded Tunney, but he was exceptionally smart. He could make the other man fight his kind of fight every time, and he was devilishly hard to hit. You must remember, too, that it was 1919 when he was fighting in France and 1926 when he won the title from Dempsey.

"Compared to Nova at his present stage, Gene was a veteran when he reached the top. All those years he lived cleanly like Nova is doing now and worked constantly to improve his boxing. That's the same road Nova should travel. By no means should he be put in the ring with a man like Joe Louis this year.

"Certainly, he shook off Baer's rights and came back fighting. He is game. Perhaps Louis can hit him no harder than Max did. But Max hurt him and then let him get away. When Louis hits and hurts a man there is no getting away. Joe finishes him off."

Bronson's opinion of the newest "white hope" is given at length because it happens to reflect the consensus of local fight characters, of whom Jimmie is by long odds the most intelligible and least likely to give a man a wrong steer.

It may be noted that Bronson, like practically all the experts, seems to take it for granted that Louis will knock the wadding out of Galento later this month. This is very disgusting to Joe Jacobs, manager and shrill spokesman for the challenger.

"They better quit worrying about what this Louis is going to do to anybody after June 28," said Joe, "and start wondering how they're going to dodge Tony. I'm telling you Tony is going to belt that guy right out of the ring."

He refused to promise he was telling us that for the last time.

SUGAR BOWL TROPHY ON DISPLAY AT WORLD'S FAIR

The 14-inch high solid silver cup, beautifully embossed, was selected by Christy Walsh, director of sports at the fair, for exhibition.

Permission to place it on display was given by Texas Christian university who won its possession for a year by victory over Carnegie Tech in the 1939 Sugar Bowl football classic here.

ONLY TWO GAMES SATURDAY NIGHTS

Eddie McLane Clears Up Misunderstanding About Tech Grid Schedule

RUSTON, La., June 3.—(Special)—Only two of six home football games to be played by Louisiana Tech this fall will be staged on Saturday nights, Athletic Director Eddie McLane pointed out today, to clear up some "misunderstanding."

"Some of the local fans," McLane said, "seem to have the idea that we are going to play all of our games on Saturday nights. As a matter of fact, only the game with Illinois Wesleyan here on September 23 and the game with the Alabama State Teachers here on September 30 will be played on Saturday nights."

Arkansas A. and M. will open Tech's home schedule on Friday night, September 15. The University of Tampa is booked for Friday night, October 27. Southwestern will be Tech's homecoming opponent on Saturday afternoon, November 4, and Centenary will play the Bulldogs here on Thanksgiving afternoon.

McLane said he thought Friday nights "belong to the high schools and colleges should cooperate by playing as many of their games on Saturdays as possible." He said that one of his classes in physical education had conducted a survey showing that there are 24 high school football teams between El Dorado and Winnfield and Shreveport and Tallulah, which means that there will probably be 12 football games on Fridays for high schools in the area surveyed.

LOUIS-GALENTO SIGNING UPROAR PROVES FIZZLE

Champ Doesn't Even Show Up, Challenger Offers But One Wisecrack

By Bill White

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—The champion didn't even show up; Tony Galento, the challenger, had only one wisecrack to offer, and so the expected fireworks at the formal signing for the Joe Louis-Galento heavyweight championship fight today fizzled completely.

So, with popping flashlights as the only fanfare, Galento, Brigadier-General John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York state athletic commission, and Julian Black, co-manager of the champion, all signed the triplicates that binds the fight to New York's Yankee stadium on June 28.

Tony's only contribution to the assembled newspapermen, was "Louis is afraid. He didn't show up."

The word along "Jacobs beach" had been that plenty was going to happen before the fight would be formally ratified. In the first place, there was talk that it would be transferred to Philadelphia.

Secondly, the matter of issuing a second's license to Joe Jacobs, Galento's manager was to be aired and the two items were so entwined that a refusal to grant the license was to be the signal for an exodus of the battle to Philadelphia—or Chicago, depending on where you got your information.

But the commission, in a closed session, granted Jacobs his license. That left nothing for anyone to do but sign for the Yankee stadium on June 28—and that was attended to without incident—other than Galento's re-

TAITT, YELOVIC HOLD CRACKERS TO FOUR HITS

Brother Of Sox Manager Hurls Five Innings Of No-Hit, No-Run Ball

GREENWOOD, Miss., June 3.—(Special)—The Monroe White Sox defeated the Greenwood Crackers here tonight, 5 to 1, with a rookie hurler and a veteran moundsman sharing the Sox pitching and holding the locals to four hits.

GREENVILLE HERE TODAY

Rivalry between the Greenville Buckshots and Monroe White Sox will be resumed here this afternoon when the two teams clash at 3 o'clock at Casino park. Only a single game is scheduled for today. The Buckshots will also be here tomorrow and Tuesday.

The Sox hope to even the score with Greenville in today's engagement. The Bucks won the first four games of the season with Monroe, but the White Sox this week at Greenville walloped the Buckshots three straight games. Monroe hopes for a fourth victory today to make it all square with the visitors.

George Taitt, brother of the Sox manager, Outfielder Doug Taitt, was the starting Monroe pitcher and hurled five consecutive innings of no-hit, no-run ball. However, the Crackers got to the young right-hander for two hits, one a double, in the sixth inning and scored their only run as the result. With only one out in the inning, young Taitt was replaced by John Yelovic, veteran of the White Sox hurling staff.

Yelovic hurled the remainder of the game, allowing only two more hits, but the victory was Taitt's.

The 1938 league champions rapped two Greenwood pitchers, Embler and Hardin, for twelve hits. Guy "Red" Pruitt led the assault on Greenwood's hurlers with three hits in four times

THE REASON

Last week we suggested to President Emmet Harty of the Cotton States league that he move his umpires about at more frequent intervals. The good prexy comes right back with a most logical reason why his arbiters must remain in one place for a week.

It's finances.

We hadn't thought of that angle. After all, it's the coin of the realm that turns the wheels of even a baseball league. And things can't be done unless there's dough in the till with which to do it.

President Harty took time off to explain his position in a letter received Friday. Here it is:

"Dear George:

My attention has been directed to a suggestion appearing in your 'Sports Chatter' column several days ago.

At the beginning of the season we had the schedule maker prepare two tentative schedules for the umpires, one providing for them to move after each series and the other for them to move after each home stay. To move them after each series involved 22,000 miles of travel [illegible] to move them after each home stay totaled 13,[illegible] miles, a difference of about $1[illegible] [illegible]

COOPER TAKES OVER LEAD IN GOODALL EVENT

Score Stands At Plus 26; Guldahl Dropped to Second; Shute Third

By Bill Boni

NEW YORK, June 3—(P)—Two men who together could fit into his shadow over-shadowed National Open Champion Ralph Guldahl today as one went flying by him and the other came nipping at his heels in the third day of the $5,000 Goodall Round-Robin Golf tournament.

Light-Horse Harry Cooper cut two points off Guldahl's lead by beating him and Tony Penna, 1 up apiece, in the morning round while Guldahl was finishing all even. In the afternoon, Cooper [illegible] against Craig Wood and Johnny Revolta. Guldahl, stacking up against the hottest scoring streak the tourney has [illegible] so far, fell four down to Denny Shute and 2 up on Paul Runyan for a net loss of two.

That combination of events raised Cooper's point score to plus 26, lowered Guldahl's to 21, and lifted Shute [illegible] with a plus 17 score.

Shute made the most remarkable recovery. Starting the day far down the list of 15 contenders [illegible] a three-under-par 67 [illegible] off the course [illegible] from Revolta and Jimmy Thomson. Then he came back after lunch to post a 68 and [illegible] 4 up each on Guldahl and Runyan. Denny thus gained 23 points [illegible] a [illegible] tumble. HORSE PROVES HIMSELF CHAMP OF 3-YEAR-OLDS

Clears Up Any Doubt As To Ability; Belay Second, Gilded Knight Third

NEW YORK, June 3—(P)—Tall, dark and handsome Johnstown just about cleared up any lingering doubt to his right as champion of the 3-year-olds today by galloping home a five-lengths winner in the 71st running of the classic Belmont Stakes.

Adding this mile-and-a-half test of endurance and speed to his previous conquests in the Withers Mile, the Kentucky Derby, the Wood Memorial and the Paumonok, William Woodward's whirlwind ran away from a field of five others.

Starting from the rail, he broke on top and made every pole a winning one as he covered the long run in 2 minutes 29 3-5 seconds, just one second off the track record set by War Admiral in winning this stake two years ago.

Without the hindrance of heavy going, such as that which proved him no mudder in the Preakness, his only defeat in seven 3-year-old starts, "Big John" was the whole show. Jockey Jimmy Stout had to do little more than hold on.

Coming into the stretch Stout even had time to turn his head to see what was doing behind him. It was plenty, for A. C. Bostwick's Belay and Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Gilded Knight, the latter Johnstown's entry-mate, were battling it out head-to-head for the place position.

Belay, a consistent brown son of Display, finally won out by half a length, with the Knight third and the Earle Sande-trained Heather Broom a length farther back in fourth place.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Hash, which had run second most of the way up to a mile, tired and wound up fifth. Joseph E. Widener's Knickerbocker, previously undefeated in three outings, was last in a field which had been cut to six by earlier scratches of William Ziegler, Jr.'s Time Sheet and Woodward's stable-mate of Johnstown, Challenge.

With a lightning fast track and bright warm weather there were few among the 20,000 spectators who could see anything but Johnstown. As a result the 3-year-old "Mr. Big" was backed far down in the betting, winding up at 1 to 8, and "out-and-out" for place and show. Belay was 7-1 for place.

GOLDEN PANTHERS TO QUIT FOOTBALL

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 3—(P)—The Golden Panthers of Birmingham-Southern, a power in small college gridiron circles in the south, will sing their football swan song this fall.

Dr. Raymond R. Paty, president of the Methodist school here announced abandonment of intercollegiate football at the end of the 1939 season after studying a report by the college planning board which recommended such a step unless Birmingham-Southern was willing to undertake the sport on a "big time" scale.

The Panthers won the Dixie conference football championship in 1937, but dropped five of their nine games in 1938, including conference contests with Southwestern and Howard. The 1934 team was unbeaten and untied, including triumphs over Auburn and all Dixie conference rivals.

That football has not been paying its way at the Methodist school has been common knowledge in recent years. The subcommittee which reported to Dr. Paty last week fixed the 1938 deficit from the sport at $14,000.

Dr. Paty said a broad program of intramural sports will be substituted for intercollegiate football.

There was no announcement concerning the coaching staff, but Lex Fullbright, line coach, has tendered his resignation to take effect at the end of the 1939 season. Jenks Gillem, a star at Sewanee during his student days, has been head football coach at Birmingham-Southern since 1927.

It was understood Athletic Director Ben Englebert will continue as director of the new intramural program.

Nova Not Ready For Louis, Says Discoverer Of Tunney

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, June 3—(P)—Jimmie Bronson, the man who discovered Gene Tunney when the future champion was upholding the honor of the marines in the prize rings of post-war France, regrets the tendency to compare Lou Nova with his former protege.

Jimmie, one of the rare gentlemen of the fight game, watched Lou carefully as he jabbed and ripped his way to a bloody victory over Max Baer Thursday night. He said he liked the young Californian very much, but couldn't see any resemblance between him and the Tunney who beat Jack Dempsey at Philadelphia and Chicago.

"What people keep on forgetting about Tunney," said Bronson, "is that he was one of the greatest defensive fighters who ever lived. Baer wouldn't have hit him in a month with the right hand he was bouncing off Nova's jaw.

"Nova has this much in common with Tunney: he is a synthetic, or 'made' fighter, and he has that same belief in his destiny that Gene had. But he is several years away from being the fighter Gene was at his peak, and I doubt that he ever can achieve Tunney's defensive skill.

"They kidded Tunney, but he was exceptionally smart. He could make the other man fight his kind of fight every time, and he was devilishly hard to hit. You must remember, too, that it was 1919 when he was fighting in France and 1926 when he won the title from Dempsey.

"Compared to Nova at his present stage, Gene was a veteran when he reached the top. All those years he lived cleanly like Nova is doing now and worked constantly to improve his boxing. That's the same road Nova should travel. By no means should he be put in the ring with a man like Joe Louis this year.

"Certainly, he shook off Baer's rights and came back fighting. He is game. Perhaps Louis can hit him no harder than Max did. But Max hurt him and then let him get away. When Louis hits and hurts a man there is no getting away. Joe finishes him off."

Bronson's opinion of the newest "white hope" is given at length because it happens to reflect the consensus of local fight characters, of whom Jimmie is by long odds the most intelligible and least likely to give a man a wrong steer.

It may be noted that Bronson, like practically all the experts, seems to take it for granted that Louis will knock the wadding out of Galento later this month. This is very disgusting to Joe Jacobs, manager and shrill spokesman for the challenger.

"They better quit worrying about what this Louis is going to do to anybody after June 28," said Joe, "and start wondering how they're going to dodge Tony. I'm telling you Tony is going to belt that guy right out of the ring."

He refused to promise he was telling us that for the last time.

SUGAR BOWL TROPHY ON DISPLAY AT WORLD'S FAIR

The 14-inch high solid silver cup, beautifully embossed, was selected by Christy Walsh, director of sports at the fair, for exhibition.

Permission to place it on display was given by Texas Christian university who won its possession for a year by victory over Carnegie Tech in the 1939 Sugar Bowl football classic here.

ONLY TWO GAMES SATURDAY NIGHTS

RUSTON, La., June 3—(Special)—Only two of six home football games to be played by Louisiana Tech this fall will be staged on Saturday nights, Athletic Director Eddie McLane pointed out today "to clear up some misunderstanding."

"Some of the local fans," McLane said, "seem to have the idea that we are going to play all of our games on Saturday nights. As a matter of fact, only the game with Illinois Wesleyan here on September 23 and the game with the Alabama State Teachers here on September 30 will be played on Saturday nights."

Arkansas A. and M. will open Tech's home schedule on Friday night, September 15. The University of Tampa is booked for Friday night, October 27. Southwestern will be Tech's homecoming opponent on Saturday afternoon, November 4, and Centenary will play the Bulldogs here on Thanksgiving afternoon.

McLane said he thought Friday nights "belong to the high schools and colleges should cooperate by playing as many of their games on Saturdays as possible." He said that one of his classes in physical education had conducted a survey showing that there are 24 high school football teams between El Dorado and Winnfield and Shreveport and Tallulah, which means that there will probably be 12 football games on Fridays for high schools in the area surveyed.

LOUIS-GALENTO SIGNING UPROAR PROVES FIZZLE

Champ Doesn't Even Show Up, Challenger Offers But One Wisecrack

By Bill White

NEW YORK, June 3—(P)—The champion didn't even show up. Tony Galento, the challenger, had only one wisecrack to offer, and so the expected fireworks at the formal signing for the Joe Louis-Galento heavyweight championship fight today fizzled completely.

So, with popping flashlights as the only fanfare, Galento, Brigadier-General John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York state athletic commission, and Julian Black, co-manager of the champion, all signed the triplicates that binds the fight to New York's Yankee stadium on June 28.

Tony's only contribution to the assembled newspapermen was: "Louis is afraid. He didn't show up."

The word along "Jacobs beach" had been that plenty was going to happen before the fight would be formally ratified. In the first place, there was talk that it would be transferred to Philadelphia.

Secondly, the matter of issuing a second's license to Joe Jacobs, Galento's manager, was to be aired and the two items were so entwined that a refusal to grant the license was to be the signal for an exodus of the battle to Philadelphia—or Chicago, depending on where you got your information.

But the commission, in a closed session, granted Jacobs his license. That left nothing for anyone to do but sign for the Yankee stadium site—and that was attended to without incident other than Galento's re-

TAITT, YELOVIC HOLD CRACKERS TO FOUR HITS

GREENWOOD, Miss., June 3—(Special)—The Monroe White Sox defeated the Greenwood Crackers here tonight, 5 to 1, with a rookie hurler and a veteran moundsman sharing the Sox pitching and holding the locals to four hits.

George Taitt, brother of the Sox manager, Outfielder Doug Taitt, was the starting Monroe pitcher and hurled five consecutive innings of no-hit, no-run ball. However, the Crackers got to the young right-hander for two hits, one a double, in the sixth inning and scored their only run as the result. With only one out in the inning, young Taitt was replaced by John Yelovic, veteran of the White Sox hurling staff.

Yelovic hurled the remainder of the game, allowing only two more hits, but the victory was Taitt's.

The 1938 league champions rapped two Greenwood pitchers, Embler and Hardin, for twelve hits. Guy "Red" Pruitt led the assault on Greenwood's hurlers with three hits in four times

GREENVILLE HERE TODAY

Rivalry between the Greenville Buckshots and Monroe White Sox will be resumed here this afternoon when the two teams clash at 3 o'clock at Casino park. Only a single game is scheduled for today. The Buckshots will also be here tomorrow and Tuesday.

The Sox hope to even the score with Greenville in today's engagement. The Bucks won the first four games of the season with Monroe, but the White Sox this week at Greenville walloped the Buckshots three straight games. Monroe hopes for a fourth victory today to make it all square with the visitors.

3 MONROE GOLFERS IN TWIN CITY SEMI-FINALS

DOWNING, GIRAULT, HAAS REMAIN IN RACE FOR TITLE

Tommy Bolt Of Shreveport Only Out-Of-Towner In Championship Battle

Three Monroe golfers and one from Shreveport remained in the battle for the championship of the third annual Twin City golf tournament here yesterday following completion of first and second round matches.

Tommy Bolt, a former caddy, was the lone Shreveport survivor, while Ben Downing, Jr., who recently won his third consecutive state high school championship; E. S. "Shep" Girault, runner-up in the first Twin City tourney and last week's winner of the McGuire club title; and Cramer Haas, former city champion, represented the local club in the semi-finals.

In the second flight matches, Downing defeated Al Mailhes, of Shreveport, the 1937 champion, 1 up in 19 holes; Girault shaded L. L. Vann, of New Orleans, 2 and 1; Bolt eliminated Morton Braswell, of Monroe, 3 and 2; and Haas trimmed Wesley Shafto, of Monroe, 6 and 5.

The result of yesterday's matches assures McGuire park of a new Twin City champion. Henry Castillo, the 1938 winner, failed to compete, and Mailhes, first winner of the event, lost a hard battle trying to stay in the running.

Mailhes, upon reaching the 18th hole with Downing, apparently was sure to win when Downing barely missed a long putt from the edge of the green, while he, Mailhes, had to make only a short put of about four feet to win. Mailhes was probably a little too sure of himself, and the putt stopped beside the cup. As both finished even on the 18th, they went into the extra hole, playing No. 1.

But Mailhes never finished. Downing, in two drives, placed his ball at the green, but Mailhes, after an initial drive that matched Downing's first drive for the 19th, drove two more balls into the lake to the left, and thus, seeing victory slipping, conceded Downing the victory.

Despite a course made soggy by rain, there was plenty of good golf shot. Haas was the "hottest" on the links, shooting sub-par on the outgoing nine. He barely missed a hole-in-one on one of the short holes.

In the first round Downing shaded K. E. Holt, McGuire park golfer, 1 up in 19 holes; Mailhes defeated Allen Andrews, of Bastrop, 5 and 4; Vann advanced by default from J. L. Keenan, of Monroe; Girault gained the second round by default from Dr. D. H. Allen, of Tallulah; Bolt trimmed Ben Downing, Sr., of Monroe, 5 and 4; Braswell eliminated L. D. Hepinstall, of Houston, Tex., 1 up; Shafto advanced over Dr. Nat Gaston, of Monroe, 6 and 5; and Haas beat Ray Alleman, of Monroe, 2 and 1.

In this morning's semi-finals Downing meets Girault and Bolt meets Haas. The 18-hole finals will be played this afternoon in all flights.

Results in all other flights yesterday:

First flight: J. M. Menefee, Monroe, beat A. B. Sherrard, McGuire, 2 up; M. C. McDonald, McGuire, beat P. O. Clark, McGuire, 2 and 1; Ralph Wheat, Hodge, defeated Vance Rhodes, McGuire, 2 and 1; Billy McDonald, Hodge, won on a default from M. Browning, McGuire; Jack Rogers, McGuire, beat Cary Phillips, McGuire, 1 up; F. Bennett, Monroe, defeated H. L. Brown, San Antonio, Tex., 2 and 1; Bunn Beasley, McGuire, beat Paul Stinson, Hodge, 3 and 2; Ed Shaver, McGuire, beat Dickey Touchstone, McGuire, 5 and 3; M. C. McDonald beat Menefee, 3 and 2; Wheat beat B. McDonald, 4 and 3; Bennett defeated Rogers, 1 up in 21 holes; and Shaver beat Beasley, 2 and 1.

Second flight: B. M. Murphy, Monroe, beat Harvey McDonald, McGuire, 1 up; Jordan Barton, Monroe, beat Ford Hines, McGuire, 5 and 4; John Myers, Monroe, defeated R. B. Ace Of Washington Mound Corps Can't Speak English

Alejandro Carrasquel Of Venezuela Looks Older Than He Admits

By Eddy Gilmore

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—The toast of the Washington Senators' pitching staff is a fellow who can't even pronounce the word baseball.

Alejandro Carrasquel is his name, but beyond that President Clark Griffith of the Senators has been able to learn but little. He can't find out, for instance, Carrasquel's age.

"He says 24," said Rene.

"He looks a lot older than that," suggested another newsman. "Ask him again."

"He says 26," Rene corrected.

Later in the day another sports writer looked up the two Latins.

"Ask him if it isn't true that he's 30 or older."

Carrasquel nodded his head affirmatively.

Since winning three games for the faltering Senators and losing another in which he hit a home run and allowed but four hits, Alex has settled down to the age of 27 and is more or less sticking to it.

Carrasquel has shown a great coolness for the English language. He hasn't learned a single word, or if he has, he pretends he hasn't.

He made his debut under as trying a situation as a rookie could experience. The Senators were playing the world champion Yankees, the bases were full and Joe DiMaggio was at bat when Alex was sent in to pitch his first official game in the United States.

He did all right—Joe popped out.

Carrasquel was born in Caracas, Venezuela, but has done most of his pitching in Cuba and Mexico. To get him into the United States the Senators had to post a $400 bond to guarantee that he would not become a burden on the government if he should get out of work.

"Right now," said Griffith, "his chances of permanent employment are better than those of any pitcher we've got."

17-POINT CLIMB REGISTERED BY SLUGGING YANK

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—For the first time this season the major league batting leadership came to rest during the week with the eastern clubs as Bill Dickey of the New York Yankees inflated his average 17 points to take over the American league pace and Moe Arnovich of the Phillies moved into the National league lead.

Both players were close to the leaders all spring, but couldn't match the early rush of St. Louis, Cincinnati and Chicago hitters.

Including games up to and including Friday Dickey had a percentage of .372 compared with the .355 which landed him in sixth place a week ago.

Arnovich also jumped, but hadn't so far to go. He was in second place last week with .374 and now has a .377 mark.

Pepper Martin of the St. Louis Cardinals, who led both leagues a week ago with .382, slipped to fifth in the senior circuit this week on .330 while George McQuinn of the St. Louis Browns, last week's leader in the American with .369, dropped to Dickey's deserted sixth spot with .344.

Mel Mazzera of the Browns, an early hitting leader, slumped out of the first ten American leaguers altogether along with Ken Keltner of Cleveland and Dee Miles of the Philadelphia Athletics. Their places were taken by Bruce Campbell of the Indians, Bill Sullivan of the Browns, Pinky Higgins of Detroit and Barney McCosky, his rookie teammate, who tied for tenth.

Four changes in the National league saw Joe Medwick of the Cardinals, Augie Galan of the Chicago Cubs, Lee Handley of Pittsburgh and Joe Demaree of the New York Giants give way to Lonnie Frey of Cincinnati, Zeke Bonura of the Giants, Tony Cuccinello of the Boston Bees and Gil Brack of the Phillies.

The first ten in each league:

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Observation ward: The Erie (Pa.) ball orchard is only a block away from Raspberry street. . . . The Oklahoma Golf association has hung out the "no crapshooting" sign at all tournaments. . . . Ernie Kish, Ohio university outfielder, has turned down three offers to play major league ball. . . . Joe DiMaggio says he is ready to go, but another Joe (McCarthy) hates to break up a winning combination to get a guy like DiMag in there. . . . Connie Mack, Jr., who may succeed his dad some day, is pitching for a Philadelphia soft ball team.

Irons and irony.

Sock market Why don't they throw Bob Pastor in there vs. Joe Louis in September if Lou Nova decides on another year of schooling? Is that hate between the rival managers still on? . . . Another 1940 white hope is young Billy Conn. He's just had his tonsils removed and the docs tell him he'll pick up 20 pounds and be a full-fledged heavy before he knows it. . . . Of course, the well-known Mr. Galento can gum everything up by spilling the dope June 28, but all youse guys and gals who think he will, please go stand on your heads. . . . No volunteers, eh?

He should kick!

Larry MacPhail called it a "low American league trick" to rent the Yankee ball park for a fight in opposition to a night game in Brooklyn. . . . Gee whiz, Mike Jacobs is the guy with the squawk coming. . . . The box score showed: ball game, 32,574 fans; fight, 18,325 addicts.

Heard and seen: Earl Averill is the hard-hitting outfielder the Dodgers tried to get—but didn't—out of the American league. . . . Mrs. Max Baer has asked Max to hang 'em up for keeps this time. . . . The Miami area will send 28 players 700 miles to Atlanta for the Southern tennis championships, which is one way to take a sock at that California monopoly. . . . With Joe Gordon a fixture, the Yanks may let the Indians have Gerry Priddy, starring at second base for Kansas City.

One for the book.

If this isn't old, it's the best baseball story of the year. . . . The Lee High and Grandville ball teams of Grand Rapids, Mich., played a double no hitter. . . . Lee High won, 2-1. . . . All the runs were scored on walks and sacrifices. . . . If scouts are interested, the pitchers were Sietsema for Lee High and Verberg and Austin for Grandville.

GUS KALLIO TO RETURN TO RING THURSDAY NIGHT

Former Middleweight Champion Will Wrestle Cyclone Mackey In Monroe

An announcement which wrestling fans of the Monroe area have been anticipating for several months was made yesterday afternoon when Gus Kallio, Monroe wrestling promoter and former middleweight champion of the world, said he would wrestle Cyclone Mackey, of El Paso, Tex., in the main event of the weekly program next Thursday night at the local arena, 310 Walnut street.

An athlete who habitually keeps his health and physique in Spartan-like condition, Kallio has been training in the ring and with roadwork for several weeks against the possibility that the persistent demands for his appearance in the ring could not be denied. He is a man who prefers to perform only one task at a time, and to give his utmost towards making a success of that one task. He knew, almost to a certainty, that the fans would demand that he break into his work as a promoter by returning to the ring, and when the fans finally gave him an ultimatum, he was able to say he would be ready when the starting bell sounded.

At last Thursday night's wrestling program, Berny Oakland, well known Monroe man and deputy state athletic commissioner, in complying with insistent demands made upon him by the fans, after Kallio had given them a deaf ear, entered the ring between bouts and called for a vote of the fans on the question of whether or not they wanted him to use his influence to persuade Kallio to return to the ring. The fans voiced a thunderous affirmative answer.

Mr. Oakland and fans who remained at the arena following the weekly program, and numerous fans contacted by Kallio here Friday and Saturday, were of the opinion that either Bob (Buck) Davidson of Terre Haute, Ind., or Cyclone Mackey would make a good match against Kallio. A majority of the fans believed the veteran Mackey, with his bag full of tricks gained in long experience, would tax the famed wrestling science of the former middleweight champion, and it was Mackey who was elected to face Kallio in the ring.

Mackey has defeated three opponents in three appearances here. He is as fast as younger wrestlers and far more clever. Although he will face in Kallio a grappler who admittedly is one of the greatest wrestlers of all time, he will hold a weight advantage.

Kallio is the only wrestler in modern records who has held three championships, the welterweight, junior middleweight and middleweight championships. Although as a middleweight he wrestled some of the world's outstanding light heavyweights, he never made the weight limit for a light heavyweight championship bout.

Kallio lost the middleweight championship belt—an emblem he held for 10 years, seven months and 19 days—to Octavia Gaona, a Mexican, at Mexico City last January 19. Kallio lost the match when Gaona crippled him with a kick in a vital spot and then twisted his arm so severely that tendons were broken from their fastenings. The Monroe promoter doesn't squawk about the Mexican "rules" which permitted Gaona to win after using such tactics, but would like a chance to win the championship back by defeating its present holder, Carlos Lopez, Mexican who won the title from Gaona after the other held it for about two months.

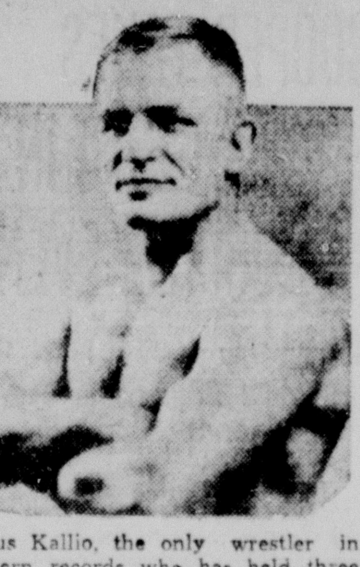
Kallio and a group of southern promoters are endeavoring to make up a guaranteed purse for Lopez in event he will come to this country for title matches. The promoters already have received from the National Wrestling association the assurance that the association will declare the championship vacant if Lopez refuses to wrestle in this country after due notice.

In event Lopez comes to this country to defend his title in several southern cities, Kallio will be one of several wrestlers who will meet him in the ring. For the present, all of this is somewhat far-fetched, but a world championship bout in Monroe is considered a possibility developing eventually from Kallio's return to the ring here next Thursday night.

In the semi-final bout next Thursday, Sailor Watkins, of Amarillo Tex., the rugged former navy champion, will meet an opponent yet to be selected. Kallio is endeavoring to pick a grappler who will make a worthy opponent for the rough Texan and who will be either a newcomer or one who has not appeared here in some weeks, so that the fans will have variety in the persons of two of the evening's performers, Kallio and Watkins' opponent.

If your family likes variety, add a little spice to your pie crusts. A quarter teaspoon each of cinnamon and cloves will be enough for each one-and-a-half cups of flour. It's mighty good with fresh fruit or berry pies.

MAT SCIENTIST



Gus Kallio, the only wrestler in modern records who has held three championships, the welterweight, junior middleweight and middleweight titles, will return to the ring Thursday night for a match here with Cyclose Mackey, of El Paso, Tex.

GOVERNOR LECHE HORSESHOE CHAMP

Wins Title At Harvey Couch House-Party By Defeating Farley

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 3.—(AP)—Gov. Richard W. Leche of Louisiana late today won the horseshoe pitching championship of Harvey C. Couch's house-party for notables at Couchwood, rustic retreat on Lake Catherine where the railroad-utilities executive entertained 100 distinguished men of affairs from the southwest.

Louisiana's chief executive put out Gov. Carl E. Bailey of Arkansas, 15 to 11, in a semi-final round and went ahead to the title with a 15-12 decision over Postmaster General Farley.

Farley previously had eliminated Wallace Townsend, Republican national committeeman for Arkansas, 15-2, remarking: "I gave him those two—Maine and Vermont."

Point-scoring was used in the contest, with 15 a winner. Leche landed a ringer for five points to take Farley's measure.

The horseshoe horse-play was typical of the entertainment arranged by Couch for his guests in connection with a barbecue tonight at the side of the lake, followed by music by a mountain band and a show put on by backwoods entertainers. Motion pictures were run off in the main lodge later in the evening.

With informality the keynote, guests fished on the lake, or sat about under the tall trees and talked during the afternoon and evening.

NEW FIELDHOUSE AT NOTRE DAME ROCKNE MEMORIAL

Dedication Ceremony Highlights 95th Commencement Of University

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 3.—(AP)—The dream of his lifetime came true in death today for the late Knute K. Rockne as Notre Dame's new memorial fieldhouse was dedicated to his memory.

The former Notre Dame athletic director and football coach was killed in an airplane crash in 1931. For years he had hoped to see the culmination of his university's athletics program which today's ceremonies marked.

Highlighting Notre Dame's 95th annual commencement, the dedicatory addresses in memory of "Rock" were made from a platform in front of the fieldhouse.

His football and track teammates of yesteryear sat together, recalling the "Rock" of cinder path and gridiron. His widow and their two sons sat together on the platform, looking on with poignant memories of "Rock," the husband and father. Old grads who were his mates in the silver jubilee class of 1914 were in the audience.

A flag-draped color photograph of the former coach topped the platform, which was flanked by the university band and the university choir.

Monsignor William Murphy, 83, of Sandusky, O., who married the Rocknes, paid his first visit to Notre Dame. The Rev. Michael Shea, author of the "Notre Dame Victory March," which spurred many a Rockne team to victory, came from Ossining, N. Y.

Speakers included Arch Ward, Chicago Tribune sports editor, master of ceremonies; the Rev. John F. O'Hara, Notre Dame president; Major John L. Griffith, Big Ten commissioner; Charles E. (Gus) Dorais, University of Detroit athletic director; Frank E. Hering, first Notre Dame coach and now a university trustee; Elmer E. Layden, present athletic director, and Captain William Wood of West Point, Army football coach.

The $600,000 building is an 182-by-210-foot Gothic structure and was designed to provide for inter-hall athletics—an activity in which Rockne always was intensely interested.

BATON ROUGE HIGH WINS S. A. A. U. MEET

NEW ORLEANS, June 3.—(AP)—Billy Christopher, J. D. Tucker and Dan Wells, Baton Rouge High school's three-man track team, won the annual junior track and field meet of the Southern Amateur Athletic union today.

The three won team honors with 28 points. Warren Easton and Fortier High schools of New Orleans tied for second at 18 each, followed by Jesuit of New Orleans with 12; Tioga 7; New Orleans Y. M. C. A. 5; Peters High of New Orleans 4; New Orleans Athletic club 3, and Rayville 2. Independents scored 54 points.

The Baton Rouge trio was a part of the school's state championship team which won the state rally track and field title.

Christopher was high point man, with first places in the high jump, broad jump and [illegible] jump.

R. L. Wingfield of Shreveport took two first places and one second. I. Johnson of Easton High was the only other double winner.

Tucker of the capital trio did the 100-yard dash in 9.7 seconds, bettering Jack Burnett's 9.8 mark set in 1931, but will not get credit for a record because of a 20-mile wind at his back.

Frank Argete, Fortier shot putter, tossed the 12-pound ball 46 feet, 3 1-4 inches. It was the first time the event was held in the junior meet.

INTERNATIONAL LEADS AGAIN!

Two-to-one over any other truck in the heavy-duty field

Cold facts are the best argument we know when you want to talk trucks. It's the same story the country over. International sells more heavy-duty units, 2-ton and up, than any other three manufacturers combined. Out of all the trucks now being sold by forty makers in this field, one out of every three is an International. Come in and get the reasons for International leadership.

Tommy Bolt Of Shreveport Only Out-Of-Towner In Championship Battle

Three Monroe golfers and one from Shreveport remained in the battle for the championship of the third annual Twin City golf tournament here yesterday following completion of first and second round matches.

Tommy Bolt, a former caddy, was the lone Shreveport survivor, while Ben Downing, Jr., who recently won his third consecutive state high school championship; E. S. "Shep" Girault, runner-up in the first Twin City tourney and last week's winner of the McGuire club title; and Cramer Haas, former city champion, represented the local club in the semi-finals.

In the second flight matches, Downing defeated Al Mailhes, of Shreveport, the 1937 champion, 1 up in 19 holes; Girault shaded L. L. Vann, of New Orleans, 2 and 1; Bolt eliminated Morton Braswell, of Monroe, 3 and 2; and Haas trimmed Wesley Shafto, of Monroe, 6 and 5.

The result of yesterday's matches assures McGuire park of a new Twin City champion. Henry Castillo, the 1938 winner, failed to compete, and Mailhes, first winner of the event, lost a hard battle trying to stay in the running.

Mailhes, upon reaching the 18th hole with Downing, apparently was sure to win when Downing barely missed a long putt from the edge of the green, while he, Mailhes, had to make only a short put of about four feet to win. Mailhes was probably a little too sure of himself, and the putt stopped beside the cup. As both finished even on the 18th, they went into the extra hole, playing No. 1.

But Mailhes never finished. Downing, in two drives, placed his ball at the green, but Mailhes, after an initial drive that matched Downing's first drive for the 19th, drove two more balls into the lake to the left, and thus, seeing victory slipping, conceded Downing the victory.

Despite a course made soggy by rain, there was plenty of good golf shot. Haas was the "hottest" on the links, shooting sub-par on the outgoing nine. He barely missed a hole-in-one on one of the short holes.

In the first round Downing shaded K. E. Holt, McGuire park golfer, 1 up in 19 holes; Mailhes defeated Allen Andrews, of Bastrop, 5 and 4; Vann advanced by default from J. L. Keenan, of Monroe; Girault gained the second round by default from Dr. D. H. Allen, of Tallulah; Bolt trimmed Ben Downing, Sr., of Monroe, 5 and 4; Braswell eliminated L. D. Hepinstall, of Houston, Tex., 1 up; Shafto advanced over Dr. Nat Gaston, of Monroe, 6 and 5; and Haas beat Ray Alleman, of Monroe, 2 and 1.

In this morning's semi-finals Downing meets Girault and Bolt meets Haas. The 18-hole finals will be played this afternoon in all flights.

Dickey And Arnovich Leading Major League Batters

17-POINT CLIMB REGISTERED BY SLUGGING YANK

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—For the first time this season the major league batting leadership came to rest during the week with the eastern clubs as Bill Dickey of the New York Yankees inflated his average 17 points to take over the American league pace and Moe Arnovich of the Phillies moved into the National league lead.

Both players were close to the leaders all spring, but couldn't match the early rush of St. Louis, Cincinnati and Chicago hitters.

Including games up to and including Friday Dickey had a percentage of .372 compared with the .355 which landed him in sixth place a week ago.

Arnovich also jumped, but hadn't so far to go. He was in second place last week with .374 and now has a .377 mark.

Pepper Martin of the St. Louis Cardinals, who led both leagues a week ago with .382, slipped to fifth in the senior circuit this week on .330 while George McQuinn of the St. Louis Browns, last week's leader in the American with .369, dropped to Dickey's deserted sixth spot with .344.

Mel Mazzera of the Browns, an early hitting leader, slumped out of the first ten American leaguers altogether along with Ken Keltner of Cleveland and Dee Miles of the Philadelphia Athletics. Their places were taken by Bruce Campbell of the Indians, Bill Sullivan of the Browns, Pinky Higgins of Detroit and Barney McCosky, his rookie teammate, who tied for tenth.

Four changes in the National league saw Joe Medwick of the Cardinals, Augie Galan of the Chicago Cubs, Lee Handley of Pittsburgh and Joe Demaree of the New York Giants give way to Lonnie Frey of Cincinnati, Zeke Bonura of the Giants, Tony Cuccinello of the Boston Bees and Gil Brack of the Phillies.

The first ten in each league.

Ace Of Washington Mound Corps Can't Speak English

Alejandro Carrasquel Of Venezuela Looks Older Than He Admits

By Eddy Gillmore

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(AP)—The toast of the Washington Senators' pitching staff is a fellow who can't even pronounce the word baseball.

Alejandro Carrasquel is his name, but beyond that President Clark Griffith of the Senators has been able to learn but little. He can't find out, for instance, Carrasquel's age.

"He says 24," said Rene.

"He looks a lot older than that," suggested another newsman. "Ask him again."

"He says 26," Rene corrected.

Later in the day another sports writer looked up the two Latins.

"Ask him if it isn't true that he's 30 or older."

Carrasquel nodded his head affirmatively.

Since winning three games for the faltering Senators and losing another in which he hit a home run and allowed but four hits, Alex has settled down to the age of 27 and is more or less sticking to it.

Carrasquel has shown a great coolness for the English language. He hasn't learned a single word, or if he has, he pretends he hasn't.

He made his debut under as trying a situation as a rookie could experience. The Senators were playing the world champion Yankees, the bases were full and Joe DiMaggio was at bat when Alex was sent in to pitch his first official game in the United States.

He did all right—Joe popped out.

Carrasquel was born in Caracas, Venezuela, but has done most of his pitching in Cuba and Mexico. To get him into the United States the Senators had to post a $400 bond to guarantee that he would not become a burden on the government if he should get out of work.

"Right now," said Griffith, "his chances of permanent employment are better than those of any pitcher we've got."

Former Middleweight Champion Will Wrestle Cyclone Mackey In Monroe

An announcement which wrestling fans of the Monroe area have been anticipating for several months was made yesterday afternoon when Gus Kallio, Monroe wrestling promoter and former middleweight champion of the world, said he would wrestle Cyclone Mackey, of El Paso, Tex., in the main event of the weekly program next Thursday night at the local arena, 310 Walnut street.

An athlete who habitually keeps his health and physique in Spartan-like condition, Kallio has been training in the ring and with roadwork for several weeks against the possibility that the persistent demands for his appearance in the ring could not be denied. He is a man who prefers to perform only one task at a time, and to give his utmost towards making a success of that one task. He knew almost to a certainty, that the fans would demand that he break into his work as a promoter by returning to the ring, and when the fans finally gave him an ultimatum, he was able to say he would be ready when the starting bell sounded.

At last Thursday night's wrestling program, Berny Oakland, well known Monroe man and deputy state athletic commissioner, in complying with insistent demands made upon him by the fans after Kallio had given them a deaf ear, entered the ring between bouts and called for a vote of the fans on the question of whether or not they wanted him to use his influence to persuade Kallio to return to the ring. The fans voiced a thunderous affirmative answer.

Mr. Oakland and fans who remained at the arena following the weekly program, and numerous fans contacted by Kallio here Friday and Saturday, were of the opinion that either Bob (Buck) Davidson of Terre Haute, Ind., or Cyclone Mackey would make a good match against Kallio. A majority of the fans believed the veteran Mackey, with his bag full of tricks gained in long experience, would tax the famed wrestling science of the former middleweight champion, and it was Mackey who was elected to face Kallio in the ring.

Mackey has defeated three opponents in three appearances here. He is as fast as younger wrestlers and far more clever. Although he will face in Kallio a grappler who admittedly is one of the greatest wrestlers of all time, he will hold a weight advantage.

Kallio is the only wrestler in modern records who has held three championships, the welterweight, junior middleweight and middleweight championships. Although as a middleweight he wrestled some of the world's outstanding light heavyweights, he never made the weight limit for a light heavyweight championship bout.

Kallio lost the middleweight championship belt, an emblem he held for 10 years, seven months and 19 days, to Octavia Gaona, a Mexican, at Mexico City last January 19. Kallio lost the match when Gaona crippled him with a kick in a vital spot and then twisted his arm so severely that tendons were broken from their fastenings. The Monroe promoter doesn't squawk about the Mexican "rules" which permitted Gaona to win after using such tactics, but would like a chance to win the championship back by defeating its present holder, Carlos Lopez, Mexican who won the title from Gaona after the other held it for about two months.

Kallio and a group of southern promoters are endeavoring to make up a guaranteed purse for Lopez in event he will come to this country for title matches. The promoters already have received from the National Wrestling association the assurance that the association will declare the championship vacant if Lopez refuses to wrestle in this country after due notice.

In event Lopez comes to this country to defend his title in several southern cities, Kallio will be one of several wrestlers who will meet him in the ring. For the present, all of this is somewhat far-fetched, but a world championship bout in Monroe is considered a possibility developing eventually from Kallio's return to the ring here next Thursday night.

In the semi-final bout next Thursday, Sailor Watkins, of Amarillo Tex., the rugged former navy champion, will meet an opponent yet to be selected. Kallio is endeavoring to pick a grappler who will make a worthy opponent for the rough Texan and who will be either a newcomer or one who has not appeared here in some weeks, so that the fans will have variety in the persons of two of the evening's performers, Kallio and Watkins' opponent.

If your family likes variety, add a little spice to your pie crusts. A quarter teaspoon each of cinnamon and cloves will be enough for each one-and-a-half cups of flour. It's mighty good with fresh fruit or berry pies.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Observation ward. The Erie (Pa.) ball orchard is only a block away from Raspberry street. . . . The Oklahoma Golf association has hung out the "no crap-shooting" sign at all tournaments. . . . Ernie Kish, Ohio university outfielder, has turned down three offers to play major league ball. . . . Joe DiMaggio says he is ready to go, but another Joe (McCarthy) hates to break up a winning combination to get a guy like DiMag in there. . . . Connie Mack, Jr., who may succeed his dad some day, is pitching for a Philadelphia soft ball team.

Irons and irony.

Sock market. Why don't they throw Bob Pastor in there vs. Joe Louis in September if Lou Nova decides on another year of schooling? Is that hate between the rival managers still on? . . . Another 1940 white hope is young Billy Conn. He's just had his tonsils removed and the docs tell him he'll pick up 20 pounds and be a full-fledged heavy before he knows it. . . . Of course, the well-known Mr. Galento can gum everything up by spilling the dope June 28, but all youse guys and gals who think he will, please go stand on your heads. . . . No volunteers, eh?

He should kick!

Larry MacPhail called it a "low American league trick" to rent the Yankee ball park for a fight in opposition to a night game in Brooklyn. . . . Gee whiz, Mike Jacobs is the guy with the squawk coming. . . . The box score showed: ball game, 32,574 fans; fight, 18,325 addicts.

Heard and seen: Earl Averill is the hard-hitting outfielder the Dodgers tried to get—but didn't—out of the American league. . . . Mrs. Max Baer has asked Max to hang 'em up for keeps this time. . . . The Miami area will send 28 players 700 miles to Atlanta for the Southern tennis championships, which is one way to take a sock at that California monopoly. . . . With Joe Gordon a fixture, the Yanks may let the Indians have Gerry Priddy, starting at second base for Kansas City.

One for the book.

If this isn't old, it's the best baseball story of the year. . . . The Lee High and Grandville ball teams of Grand Rapids, Mich., played a double no hitter. . . . Lee High won, 2-1. . . . All the runs were scored on walks and sacrifices. . . . If scouts are interested, the pitchers were Sietsema for Lee High and Verberg and Austin for Grandville.

MAT SCIENTIST

Gus Kallio, the only wrestler in modern records who has held three championships, the welterweight, junior middleweight and middleweight titles, will return to the ring Thursday night for a match here with Cyclone Mackey, of El Paso, Tex.

GOVERNOR LECHE HORSESHOE CHAMP

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 3.—(AP)—Gov. Richard W. Leche of Louisiana late today won the horseshoe pitching championship of Harvey C. Couch's house-party for notables at Couchwood, rustic retreat on Lake Catherine where the railroad-utilities executive entertained 100 distinguished men of affairs from the southwest.

Louisiana's chief executive put out Gov. Carl E. Bailey of Arkansas, 15 to 11, in a semi-final round and went ahead to the title with a 15-12 decision over Postmaster General Farley.

Farley previously had eliminated Wallace Townsend, Republican national committeeman for Arkansas, 15-2, remarking "I gave him those two—Maine and Vermont."

Point-scoring was used in the contest, with 15 a winner. Leche landed a ringer for five points to take Farley's measure.

The horseshoe horse-play was typical of the entertainment arranged by Couch for his guests in connection with a barbecue tonight at the side of the lake followed by music by a mountain band and a show put on by backwoods entertainers. Motion pictures were run off in the main lodge later in the evening.

With informality the keynote guests fished on the lake or sat about under the tall trees and talked during the afternoon and evening.

NEW FIELDHOUSE AT NOTRE DAME ROCKNE MEMORIAL

Dedication Ceremony Highlights 95th Commencement Of University

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 3—(AP)—The dream of his lifetime came true in death today for the late Knute K. Rockne as Notre Dame's new memorial fieldhouse was dedicated to his memory.

The former Notre Dame athletic director and football coach was killed in an airplane crash in 1931. For years he had hoped to see the culmination of his university's athletics program which today's ceremonies marked.

Highlighting Notre Dame's 95th annual commencement, the dedicatory addresses in memory of "Rock" were made from a platform in front of the fieldhouse.

His football and track teammates of yesteryear sat together, recalling the "Rock" of cinder path and gridiron. His widow and their two sons sat together on the platform looking on with poignant memories of "Rock," the husband and father. Old grads who were his mates in the silver jubilee class of 1914 were in the audience.

A flag-draped color photograph of the former coach topped the platform, which was flanked by the university band and the university choir.

Monsignor William Murphy, 82, of Sandusky, O., who married the Rocknes, paid his first visit to Notre Dame. The Rev. Michael Shea, author of the "Notre Dame Victory March," which spurred many a Rockne team to victory, came from Ossining, N. Y.

Speakers included Arch Ward, Chicago Tribune sports editor, master of ceremonies; the Rev. John F. O'Hara, Notre Dame president; Major John L. Griffith, Big Ten commissioner; Charles E. (Gus) Dorais, University of Detroit athletic director; Frank E. Hering, first Notre Dame coach and now a university trustee; Elmer F. Layden, present athletic director, and Captain William Wood of West Point, Army football coach.

The $600,000 building is an 182-by-210-foot Gothic structure and was designed to provide for intramural athletics—an activity in which Rockne always was intensely interested.

BATON ROUGE HIGH WINS S. A. A. U. MEET

NEW ORLEANS, June 3.—(AP)—Billy Christopher, J. D. Tucker and Dan Wells, Baton Rouge High school's three-man track team, won the annual junior track and field meet of the Southern Amateur Athletic union today.

The three won team honors with 28 points. Warren Easton and Fortier High schools of New Orleans tied for second at 18 each, followed by Jesuit of New Orleans with 17, Tioga 7, New Orleans Y. M. C. A. 5, Peters High of New Orleans 4, New Orleans Athletic club 3 and Bastrop 2. Independents scored 54 points.

The Baton Rouge trio was a part of the school's state championship team which won the state rally track and field title.

Christopher was high point man, with first places in the high jump, broad jump and the hop, step and jump.

R. L. Wingfield of Shreveport took two first places and one second. J. Johnson of Easton High was the only other double winner.

Tucker of the capital trio did the 100-yard dash in 9.7 seconds, bettering Jack Burnett's 9.8 mark set in 1931, but will not get credit for a record because of a 20-mile wind at his back.

Frank Argete, Fortier shot putter, tossed the 12-pound ball 46 feet 3 1-4 inches. It was the first time the event was held in the junior meet.

Line Drive Hits Pitcher Full In Face, Breaks Nose, Gashes Cheek

BOSTON, June 3.—(AP)—The seventh-place Boston Bees, beaten seven straight times by the Cincinnati Reds, turned the tables on the National league leaders today and whipped them, 4 to 3, but temporarily lost the services of Pitcher Jim Turner.

The Bees' hurler took a hard line drive from Ival Goodman full in the face in the sixth inning, suffering a broken nose and a badly-gashed right cheek. Before he was taken to a hospital a doctor called from the stands sewed five stitches in Turner's cheek.

Before being literally knocked out of the game, Turner did yoeman service on the mound and at bat, driving in Boston's first two runs. In the fourth, after Eddie Miller and Al Lopez singled, Turner doubled with two out and scored that pair.

The Reds also scored in the fourth when Frank McCormick doubled and came home on Ernie Lombardi's single.

Turner walked Bill Werber in the sixth. Werber was sacrificed to second and took third on Goodman's blow which felled Turner. Joe Sullivan then took the mound and McCormick singled to bring in Werber with the tying score.

Boston took the lead again in the sixth, however. Lefty Grissom, who was charged with the loss, was removed when Miller singled and scored on Lopez' third homer of the year.

The Reds counted their final score of the day in the eighth on an error by Lopez. Goodman, who had singled and had been advanced to third on McCormick's double, scored when Lopez dropped the third strike on Harry Craft and the ball went to the backstop.

CUBS TROUNCE DODGERS

BROOKLYN, June 3.—(AP)—Rookie Glen Russell led the Chicago Cubs to a 10 to 5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today with a home run, a double and a single which were good for four runs.

The game was decided by a six-run rally in the eighth inning when the Cubs chased Tot Pressnell with four singles, two walks and two doubles, including Russell's. His homer had tied the score in the fifth.

Yanks Win Final, 3-2, To Sweep Series With Indians

NEW YORK PUTS ACROSS WINNING TALLY IN EIGHTH

Hadley Credited With Fifth Pitching Victory Without Defeat

CLEVELAND, June 3.—(AP)—The New York Yankees were hauled down from their rarefied hitting heights today but squeezed out a 3 to 2 victory over the Cleveland Indians nevertheless to sweep their three-game series.

Mel Harder, the Tribe's well-seasoned right-hander, scattered ten hits but these proved enough for the world champions. Babe Dahlgren, who took over Lou Gehrig's first base job last month, got the third of three singles the Yankes bunched for a run in the second inning and his fourth homer of the season for a run in the fifth.

The deciding tally was punched across in the eighth on a single by Bill Dickey and a double by George Selkirk.

Bump Hadley, pitching five-hit ball, joined two Yankee teammates who have won five games without losing, but he had to be helped in the ninth by Johnny Murphy.

The Indians, who had scored in the fourth on two singles sandwiched around a stolen base, and in the seventh on a walk, an error and a force-out, loaded the bases with none out in their final turn at bat, but didn't score.

Jeff Heath corralled three of his team's hits and scored one of the runs.

CHISOX SHADE INDIANS

CHICAGO, June 3.—(AP)—Catcher Angelo Giuliani's error on a throw from Pitcher Joe Krakauskas allowed Gee Walker to score the winning run today as Chicago defeated Washington, 8 to 7.

Walker, attempting to steal home in the eighth inning, first was called out, then safe when the catcher dropped the ball, untying the score after the Senators had pulled up even with two runs off Eddie Smith in the seventh.

A'S BEAT BROWN TWICE

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—(AP)—The baffled St. Louis Browns are finding the lane longer and longer, with still no turn to victory.

They dropped their tenth and eleventh games in a row today, falling before the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 3 and 8 to 6, in a double header. The twin victories put the A's in sixth place.

Philadelphia rallied in the ninth inning of each game. They were losing, 6 to 3, when they put on a five-run storm in the nightcap, the principal damage being done by Joe Gantenbein's homer and Sam Chapman's with two men on the bases.

BASEBALL'S FIREMEN BROWNS DO ALL RIGHT

Clint Brown, Mace Brown and Walter Brown are three topnotch relief specialists—sometimes called "firemen" because they have to quench the opposition when it gets hot. All three answered alarms today and all were credited with victories.

Clint pitched the Chicago White Sox to an 8-7 triumph over the Washington Senators. Mace worked a seven-inning trick in the Pittsburgh Pirates' 10-7 victory over the Phillies, and Walter led the New York Giants to a 6-5 edge over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The St. Louis Browns meanwhile stretched their losing streak to 11 games by dropping a double header to the Philadelphia Athletics.

FAVORITES ELIMINATED FOR GOLF TOURNAMENT

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 3.—(AP)—The two heavy favorites—Scudday Horner of Montgomery and Sam Perry, Birmingham, last year's medalist—were eliminated today from the Beauvoir Country club's 28th annual invitational golf tournament.

Gene Vinson, Meridian, Miss., defeated Horner one-up in the afternoon round after the Montgomery youngster, a member of the Beauvoir's "Golfing Horners" family, earlier had rolled a long putt on the 18th green to whip Jack Rhea, Rome, Ga., high school boy.

Perry faltered on the last nine and lost a one-up match to Weldon Doe, Jr., Montgomery.

at bat. He knocked in one run and scored twice himself. No Cracker got more than one hit, but Bob Hill, Frank Hargrove, Bobby Schang and Murrell Jones each got two hits for the visitors.

The White Sox opened the scoring with two runs in the third inning. Bob Hill singled, and Frank Hargrove was safe on Eddie Amelung's error. Johnny Conway sacrificed them up a base on a bunt, and Manager Doug Taitt walked to load the bases. Frank Hackney flied to center, Hill scoring after the catch. "Red" Pruitt singled into center to score Hargrove. Bobby Schang grounded out, second to first.

Then in the sixth frame, the visitors came through with another run. Pruitt singled into center field, Schang singled into right, sending Pruitt to third. With Murrell Jones at bat and three balls called, Hardin replaced Embler on the mound for Greenwood. Jones then flied out to center, but Pruitt scored after the catch. George Taitt sacrificed Schang to second, but Hill flied out to center field.

The Crackers came through with their first and only run in their half of the sixth. With one out, Woody Hargrove doubled against the left field fence, and scored on Brown's single to right. George Taitt was then pulled from the mound and John Yelovic sent in to pitch for Monroe. Yelovic fanned Nig Lipscomb, and John Taylor forced Brown at second.

A FORTUNATE BUY

When the White Sox picked up Floyd Speer at more or less a bargain price last winter, they really picked up a gem, if early-season indications mean anything.

Speer has been the work-horse of the Monroe pitching staff this spring just as was Al Bronkhurst last year. The lad apparently can take it, and Manager Doug Taitt is taking full advantage of this asset.

Speer pitched the second game of the double header at El Dorado last Sunday. It was a seven-inning affair, and the Lions won 3 to 0. Speer pitched creditable ball—nobody can win if his team doesn't get him any runs. Then Tuesday night Floyd hurled nearly two innings of ball when Les Dunkle was hit in the head by a batted ball. Wednesday night the former Hot Springs chunker worked six innings and got credit for winning the game against Greenville when he relieved Maxfield with nobody out in the third frame. And today Speer probably will pitch for the Sox in the battle with Jimmy Powell's Greenville Buckshots.

If Floyd maintains his present pace, he's a logical candidate for the honor of being Monroe's most valuable player of 1939.

What is reported to be an aid for safe flying is the "receding" wing tip. The extra section of wing extends outward from the tip of the wing and is said to eliminate lateral sway at low landing speeds.

mark, which he probably will live to regret.

Jacobs was elated over obtaining his second's license.

"That's all I wanted," he grinned. "What do I care whether I get a license to serve as his manager? I got a contract with him, haven't I?"

The manager's license remarks were pertinent since his application is before the commission, but has not been approved. The commission denied today it had even been mentioned in today's session.

Louis' other manager, John Roxborough, explained the champion's absence by saying that they had planned to open the Pompton Lakes camp today and Joe was scheduled to box there this afternoon, so he didn't have time to come to town for the signing.

The commission thought that was all right and General Phelan even explained that there was no feeling of being slighted, since Julian Black's signature was as good as Louis'.

"And maybe Louis didn't know of the ceremony today," he said.

MRS. NEBLETT AND MRS. WOLF REACH TOURNEY FINALS

Veterans To Clash For Title In State Women's Golf Championship

NEW ORLEANS, June 3.—(AP)—Two veterans, Mrs. Leon Wolf, Jr., and Mrs. Tom Neblett, both of New Orleans, battled their way today into the final round of the Louisiana Women's golf championship tournament.

Mrs. Neblett trounced Miss Peggy Brenchley, 5 and 3, on the Metairie club course while Mrs. Wolf was overcoming Mrs. S. J. Gillard, 3 and 2.

The pair will match strokes tomorrow over a 36-hole route with Mrs. Wolf hoping she can repeat her recent 2-and-1 victory over Mrs. Neblett in the City tournament.

This is Mrs. Wolf's second bid for the title. She went into the finals last year only to be trimmed in a 39-hole duel by Miss Edna Saenger of Shreveport, who did not defend her crown this time.

Mrs. Wolf has stroked her way into the finals in the City, State and Southern tournaments, only to be turned back in all except the City match. Betty Jamison defeated her in the Southern title tilt in 1934.

This is the first Louisiana State tournament for Mrs. Neblett, who came here two years ago from Minneapolis, where she went up to the state finals in 1937 but was downed by Patty Berg, present National champion. The Minnesota woman has played in the Western Open, Western Closed, Southern, National and several tournaments on the Florida winter circuit.

Both winners today were well over women's par on the windswept course. Mrs. Neblett was 12 over par for 15 holes of her match, while Mrs. Wolf was 14 over for 16 holes.

The Wolf-Gillard battle was tough up to the 12th hole, when the women were all square but on that hole Mrs. Gillard putted too hard and rimmed the cup, taking a five. Mrs. Wolf tapped hers in for her winning four to go 1 up.

Mrs. Neblett had an easier time brushing Miss Brenchley out of her path to the title match.

LOU GEHRIG TO UNDERGO CHECK-UP AT MAYO CLINIC

CLEVELAND, June 3.—(AP)—Manager Joe McCarthy and First Baseman Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees said today they were undecided when Gehrig would go to the Mayo clinic for a physical check-up. They added, however, the Yanks' visit to Chicago for a series starting June 7 probably would offer a good opportunity.

Gehrig's plans to go to the Rochester, Minn., hospital became known here Thursday, but at first were denied by the "Iron Man," who recently dropped out of the Yankee lineup after playing 2,130 consecutive games.

"I think a thorough examination will be a good idea," Gehrig said today.

"What Lou decides will be O. K. with me," McCarthy supplemented.

BOSTON HURLER, TURNER, INJURED BY BATTED BALL

BOSTON, June 3—(AP)—The seventh-place Boston Bees, beaten seven straight times by the Cincinnati Reds, turned the tables on the National league leaders today and whipped them, 4 to 3, but temporarily lost the services of Pitcher Jim Turner.

The Bees' hurler took a hard line drive from Ival Goodman full in the face in the sixth inning, suffering a broken nose and a badly-gashed right cheek. Before he was taken to a hospital a doctor called from the stands sewed five stitches in Turner's cheek.

Before being literally knocked out of the game, Turner did yeoman service on the mound and at bat, driving in Boston's first two runs. In the [illegible] after Eddie Miller and Al Lopez singled, Turner doubled with [illegible] and scored that pair.

The Reds also scored in the fourth when Frank McCormick doubled and came home on Ernie Lombardi's single.

Turner walked Bill Werber in the sixth. Werber was sacrificed to second and took third on Goodman's [illegible] which felled Turner. Joe Sullivan [illegible] took the mound and McCormick singled to bring in Werber with the tying score.

Boston took the lead again in the [illegible], however. Lefty Grissom, who was charged with the loss, was [illegible] Miller's single and scored on Lopez' [illegible] of the year.

The Reds counted their final score of the day in the eighth on an error [illegible] Lopez. Goodman, who had singled and had been advanced to third on [illegible], scored when [illegible] dropped the third strike on Harry Craft and the ball went to the backstop.

Relief Pitcher Walter Brown allowed no hits and struck out five men in his 2 1-3 inning trick, and got credit for the victory.

NEW YORK PUTS ACROSS WINNING TALLY IN EIGHTH

Hadley Credited With Fifth Pitching Victory Without Defeat

CLEVELAND, June 3—(AP)—The New York Yankees were hauled down from their rarefied hitting heights today but squeezed out a 3 to 2 victory over the Cleveland Indians nevertheless to sweep their three-game series.

Mel Harder, the Tribe's well-seasoned right-hander, scattered ten hits but these proved enough for the world champions. Babe Dahlgren, who took over Lou Gehrig's first base job last month, got the third of three singles the Yankees bunched for a run in the second inning and his fourth homer of the season for a run in the fifth.

The deciding tally was punched across in the eighth on a single by Bill Dickey and a double by George Selkirk.

Bump Hadley, pitching five-hit ball, joined two Yankee teammates who have won five games without losing, but he had to be helped in the ninth by Johnny Murphy.

The Indians, who had scored in the fourth on two singles sandwiched around a stolen base, and in the seventh on a walk, an error and a force-out, loaded the bases with none out in their final turn at bat, but didn't score.

Jeff Heath corralled three of his team's hits and scored one of the runs.

CHISOX SHADE INDIANS

CHICAGO, June 3—(AP)—Catcher Angelo Giuliani's error on a throw from Pitcher Joe Krakauskas allowed Gee Walker to score the winning run today as Chicago defeated Washington, 8 to 7.

Walker, attempting to steal home in the eighth inning, first was called out, then safe when the catcher dropped the ball, untying the score after the Senators had pulled up even with two runs off Eddie Smith in the seventh.

A'S BEAT BROWN TWICE

ST. LOUIS, June 3—(AP)—The baffled St. Louis Browns are finding the lane longer and longer, with still no turn to victory.

They dropped their tenth and eleventh games in a row today, falling before the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 3 and 8 to 6, in a double header. The twin victories put the A's in sixth place.

Philadelphia rallied in the ninth inning of each game. They were losing, 6 to 3, when they put on a five-run storm in the nightcap, the principal damage being done by Joe Gantenbein's homer and Sam Chapman's with two men on the bases.

BASEBALL'S FIREMEN BROWNS DO ALL RIGHT

Clint Brown, Mace Brown and Walter Brown are three topnotch relief specialists—sometimes called "firemen" because they have to quench the opposition when it gets hot. All three answered alarms today, and all were credited with victories.

Clint pitched the Chicago White Sox to an 8-7 triumph over the Washington Senators. Mace worked a seven-inning trick in the Pittsburgh Pirates' 10-7 victory over the Phillies, and Walter led the New York Giants to a 6-5 edge over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The St. Louis Browns meanwhile stretched their losing streak to 11 games by dropping a double header to the Philadelphia Athletics.

FAVORITES ELIMINATED FOR GOLF TOURNAMENT

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 3—(AP)—The two heavy favorites—Scaiday Horner of Montgomery and Sam Perry, Birmingham, last year's medalist—were eliminated today from the Beauvoir Country club's 28th annual invitational golf tournament.

Gene Vinson, Meridian, Miss., defeated Horner one-up in the afternoon round after the Montgomery youngster, a member of the Beauvoir's Golfing Horners family, earlier had rolled a long putt on the 18th green to whip Jack Rhea, Rome, Ga., high school boy.

Perry faltered on the last nine and lost a one-up match to Weldon Doe Jr., Montgomery.

A FORTUNATE BUY

When the White Sox picked up Floyd Speer at more or less a bargain price last winter, they really picked up a gem of early-season [illegible] [illegible] mean anything.

Speer has been the work-horse of the Monroe pitching staff this spring just as was Al Brockmann last year. The lad apparently can take it and Manager Doug Taitt is taking full advantage of this asset.

Speer pitched the second game of the double header at El Dorado last Sunday. It was a seven-inning affair, and the Lions won 3 to 0. Speer pitched creditable ball—nobody can win if his team doesn't get him any runs. Then Tuesday night Floyd hurled nearly two innings of ball when Les Dinkle was hit in the head by a batted ball. Wednesday night the former Hot Springs chunker worked six innings and got credit for winning the game against Greenville when he relieved Maxfield with nobody out in the third frame. And today Speer probably will pitch for the Sox in the battle with Jimmy Powell's Greenville Buckshots.

If Floyd maintains his present pace he's a logical candidate for the honor of being Monroe's most valuable player of 1939.

What is reported to be an aid for safe flying is the "receding" wing tip. The extra section of wing extends outward from the tip of the wing and is said to eliminate lateral sway at low landing speeds.

"2. Learn to control your expenditures. Do not buy this or that on $10 down and $10 a month so that you will, before you know it, have a monthly budget of $300, perhaps with only a $200 monthly income.

"3. Make your savings multiply by investing your savings where they will earn compound interest and constantly pile up more funds for your later life.

"4. Do not invest your earnings all in one place, do not 'put all your eggs in one basket.' Diversify your investments.

"5. One must, in order to increase his earning powers, ever be a student working to improve on his ability to perform his work in life.

"Persons who have earned no more than $200 a month have often, when they reached their fifties, had far more saved up than have men who have earned $500 monthly and, with no plan of savings followed, have spent nearly all as they went along.

"I suggest that you start out and save so that in later years you may receive dividends. But there are other dividends that are paid through thrift. There is the dividend of having the knowledge that all bills are paid, satisfaction of having a material reserve, the pleasure of the power of careful saving, and still another dividend—that of self-control and self-discipline. Lastly there is a feeling of independance.

"I know that right now, with political and economic situations the country over being much in chaos, that there is uncertainty and a degree of unrest but I believe that there never will be a time when individual effort will not be rewarded.

"But then there is another thrift which may be termed emotional thrift. Life is many-sided. There is another viewpoint. I suggest that you endeavor to save a portion of your lives. Experience is the best teacher. Out of life's experiences you will do well to save a portion of your experiences and you will know how to act under trying times. I would say that emotional thrift is as important as economic thrift. Out of each experience try to save something. Save in memory for your future guidance and conduct.

"Enjoy the keen exercise of powers of observation. I know men who go to and from their work and never see anything as they go. These remarks are general but I think they are purposeful.

"I say to you that there is no boredom or loneliness. These are impossible to an alert mind. Everyone is of interest if you look for a point of interest. Everyone you contact can bestow something upon you.

"Youth is called by some the happiest time of life. But would you say that the base of a mountain peak is where the best view is obtained? It is only when you reach the summit that you get a panorama of the entire countryside. So it is with life. So why is youth the very happiest time of all? You should endeavor to live abundantly. Horizons broaden as life goes on—the whole world is at one's feet. I would advise that you graduates possess economic and emotional thrift with an increase of knowledge and understanding as years roll by. Thus you can be wealthy, economically, emotionally and spiritually."

"Spring Greeting-The Blue Danube Waltz" (Bliss-Strauss) was rendered by a mixed glee club.

Mrs. Stella Courtney, in behalf of the United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary, presented the annual medal to Aline Smith, after which the D. A. R. medal was presented to Bobby Farr by Mrs. Eunice Williamson.

Diplomas were awarded by Fred G. Thatcher of the school board and benediction was by Rev. W. C. Scott.

ALABAMA GIRL WINS 'MISS AVIATION' TITLE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 3.—(AP)—An Alabama girl representing Transcontinental-Western Airlines tonight was named "Miss American Aviation" in the annual beauty contest of the National Air carnival.

Katherine Wilson, a statuesque blonde from San Francisco and formerly of Demopolis, Ala., won over a nationwide field of contestants, including "Miss America" of 1937, Bette Cooper of Bertrand Island, N. J.

Selection of the T. W. A. hostess as aviation's beauty queen climaxed a busy first day for participants in the carnival. Traffic police estimated 100,000 spectators craned their necks and sunburned their noses today squinting at the nation's leading speed and stunt pilots.

Miss Wilson was awarded the beauty title by a committee of judges that included Major Al Williams, former United States marine ace; Ross Hadley, Hollywood sportsman flier; Devon Francis, Associated Press aviation editor; A. C. Burnham, president of the Sportsmen's Pilots association, and Jim Wheeler of St. Louis.

Aviation's new queen will reign jointly tomorrow with Joy Hodges, stage and screen actress, who came here from California to participate in the air-party.

Photographs of attempts to tow the Thetis out of the mud yesterday indicated that a broken cable may have cost the lives of the 98 men.

When the Thetis was found early yesterday morning about 18 feet of her stern was sticking out of the water. Officials then considered trying to cut the stern off but, apparently, decided first to try to pull the vessel loose.

The two ships gradually increased pressure on the cable until the great grey fin of the Thetis rose higher out of the water.

Tonight her great, crippled hulk lay at the bottom, her gear gently tapping in a running tide.

There were several theories as to what caused the Thetis catastrophe.

One held by shipping circles was that in making a speed dive she might have encountered more than one current—flowing at different speeds—below the surface.

R. S. Johnson, managing director of Cammell Laird, Ltd., said the submarine conceivably could have struck wreckage but he acknowledged "we do not know."

off would Huey's policies become more fully understood and revered.

At Louisiana State university where Russell was graduated Monday night the boy tried out his political wings and successfully campaigned for nearly every major class office. He employed such election stunts as hiring swing bands, having girls in bathing suits display "Long" stickers on their bare backs and handing out free ice cream cones at his mass meetings.

By serving as a clerk in the state senate Russell is well acquainted with most politicians now controlling the strong organization his father left in power over the state government.

No invitations were issued for Russell's wedding today and the church was scarcely half filled.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Rita Rust Hattic and the late Fred C. Hattic, formerly of Vicksburg, Miss., wore a toast-tinted costume with matching accessories and an orchid at the shoulder. She carried a white prayer book. Russell wore a white linen suit with white lilies of the valley as a boutonniere.

The church was decorated with quantities of lemon yellow day lilies in baskets set in a background of green smilax, palms and bamboo. The bride's mother wore navy blue and the groom's mother rose chiffon with both carrying rose corsages.

The groom's sister, Mrs. McFarland, was the bride's only attendant and William Jaubert Dugan, Russell's classmate at the university, was best man. Serving as ushers were Palmer Reid Long, Russell's only brother; and Harry Krone, Louis I. Tyler, Jr., and Wilton Williams, all three of Shreveport.

The newlyweds left on a honeymoon to New York, Canada and Alaska planning to return in late summer. Russell will enter the L. S. U. law school in the fall. The bride, just completing her junior year in Teachers college at the university, is undecided whether she will continue school.

of Maryland, who presided at the trial, remarked significantly that, if the motion were denied, sentencing would follow immediately.

Manton's face was red as the jury's decision was announced. His eyes, which seemed dimmed, blinked rapidly several times and he leaned forward, pressing two fingers against a fleshy cheek.

His co-defendant, Spector, remained impassive.

JUDGE MARTIN FREED OF BRIBERY CHARGE

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Kings County Court Judge George W. Martin was acquitted by a supreme court jury tonight of charges of accepting a $1,000 bribe to dismiss a Brooklyn abortion case.

Spectators in the courtroom broke into a frenzy of shouts as the jury announced its verdict.

The jury deliberated three hours before freeing the natty 63-year-old jurist.

The state had contended Judge Martin requested and received the bribe two years ago to dismiss an indictment charging abortion against Dr. Louis I. Duke, Brooklyn physician, and three nurses.

The $25,000-a-year judge was specifically charged with bribery, receiving an unlawful fee and conspiracy to obstruct justice, involving a maximum penalty of 13 years in prison.

Martin was also acquitted of the charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice and demanding an unlawful fee.

"Naturally, what can I say? I am a very happy man," Judge Martin told reporters.

Special Assistant Attorney General John Harlan Amen, smiling despite his defeat, said "I told the jury to bring in a verdict that was in their hearts, a verdict that they thought was right and they did, and I'm satisfied."

COTTON

New York

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Cotton futures turned strong toward the close today, advancing as much as 15 points before profit taking pared extreme gains. The market was stimulated by aggressive trade buying and professional absorption in active turnover. Offerings were relatively scarce, coming on a scale up from New Orleans brokers and southern spot dealers.

The market was steady in early trading, 1 to 3 higher around midmorning as scattered price fixing orders and small foreign purchases met offerings from southern spot interests and New Orleans accounts. Liverpool buying was less aggressive. Some hedge sales went into new crop positions. July touched the nine-cent level for a gain of three and May was up a like amount at 7.79.

WILL ASK PLACE AT CONVENTION

tal by breaking his self-imposed rule of silence and speaking out on national issues during the next few months.

Reports were that Garner has listened attentively to that suggestion, but has given no signs as to what course he will take.

Figuring also in current political talk on Capitol hill are reports that some senators, looking forward to 1940, now are seeking actively to heal differences between Democratic factions.

Well-advised legislators said one harmony effort was a senate luncheon this week for Thomas G. Corcoran, New Deal adviser, given by Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona. The luncheon was attended by such administration followers as Senators Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, and Schwellenbach, Democrat, Washington, and such non-New Deal senators as Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, and Byrnes, Democrat, South Carolina.

The luncheon was similar to earlier ones given for Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board and Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Senator Brown, Democrat, Michigan, chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, also has been planning a series of informal get-togethers among representatives of divergent party factions.

Sharing attention with Democratic political developments, there was capital talk about the recent statement of Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, indicating his availability for the G. O. P. presidential nomination.

Vandenberg said today he had received numerous letters from all sections of the country saying his was a "good statement." Asserting he would have nothing more to say about the G. O. P. nomination at present, he reiterated that he was primarily concerned with his duties as a senator and his projected race for reelection.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Further mild convalescence was exhibited by the stock market today but the buying pulse was still well below normal.

While selected steels, motors, rubbers, mail orders and specialties managed to hold gains of fractions to around a point, numerous issues were virtually at a standstill when the closing gong sounded.

The two-hour turnover of approximately 200,000 shares was one of the smallest for several weeks.

Steels received support on word the navy had placed orders for two new battleship giants and 22 other war craft amounting to some $350,000,000. In addition, the steel mill operating rate was expected again to slant upward next week.

Motors did fairly well most of the time as talk was heard of better than anticipated second quarter earnings for the major manufacturers despite the recent sharp let-down occasioned mainly by labor difficulties at Detroit and the Memorial day shut-down.

"Easy money" was once more stressed by action of Socony-Vacuum in filing for registration with the SEC a $50,000,000 issue of 3 per cent debentures with which to retire the same amount of 3 1-2 per cent debentures.

Although potential stock sellers were restrained by thoughts of a big administration spending program, speculative circles were none too confident the projected government-business conferences would get any further than previous peace movements. At the same time, signs of a flattening out of the recent downward business curve were to be seen here and there.

Not so pleasing to Wall Street were reports the president might complicate the tax revision plans of congress by vetoing the huge farm bill to which the senate added $388,000,000 of unbudgeted benefit payments without voting new taxes to finance them.

European clues were lacking as the start of summer Saturday closings today by the Amsterdam market made for a complete stoppage of trading in all important foreign centers.

Bonds and commodities followed a narrow trail.

Ahead in the curb were Standard Steel Spring, Lockheed, Electric Bond and Share and Columbia Oil and Gas. Heyden Chemical dropped 2.

Oil And Gas News

NEW ORLEANS, June 3.—(AP)—Ten new wells in Louisiana oil fields, with a total initial daily production of 3,344 barrels, were today listed in the weekly report of the conservation department.

Among the new producers was another large distillate well in the Cotton Valley well in Webster parish, which through a three-eighths inch choke flowed at the rate of 420 barrels of distillate a day. Best south Louisiana well was in the Ville Platte field, which had a 426 barrel pipeline oil producer on a three-sixteenths inch choke.

Only 14 permits for new operations were issued during the week, a figure materially below the average for the past month. Eight of the permits were for south Louisiana wells, including a wildcat near the mouth of the Mississippi river.

Daily production of oil in Louisiana for the week ending May 27 was estimated by the department at 267,960 barrels, of which 195,100 barrels were produced in gulf fields and 72,860 barrels in north Louisiana.

New wells listed in the report, with date of completion ranging from May 8 to May 28:

Bancroft, Beauregard parish, Republic Production company, No. 8 Columbia Land and Timber company, 300 barrels, three-sixteenths inch choke.

Cotton Valley, Webster parish, Midstate Oil corporation, No. 1 T. K. Giddens, 285 barrels, three-sixteenths inch choke; Ohio Oil company, No. 5 Bodcau Lumber company, account 4,420 barrels, three-eighths inch choke (distillate).

Pine Island, Caddo parish, The Texas company, No. 22 D. H. Raines, 403 barrels, two inch choke.

Shreveport, Caddo parish, R. E. Allison Drilling company, No. 8 Ellerbe, 264 barrels, quarter inch choke, No. 3 Ellerbe, 562 barrels, five-sixteenths inch choke, No. 10 Ellerbe 298 barrels, quarter inch choke; Wardell Oil company, No. 1 Clark and Hutchinson, 312 barrels, three-eighths inch choke.

Ville Platte, Evangeline parish, Continental Oil company, No. 3 Folanis Tate, 426 barrels, three-sixteenths inch choke.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 3.—(AP)—Wheat prices sagged fractionally again today to the lowest level in more than a week as a result of further good rains in the grain belt. Some traders expressed belief yesterday's average of private crop estimates suggesting a probable 1939 United States harvest of 700,000,000 bushels may be revised upward in view of recent widespread moisture.

Wheat opened 1-4 to 1-2 lower, July 77 1-4 to 1-8, September 77 1-8 to 77, and corn was unchanged to 3-8 down, July 50 7-8, September 52 1-2 to 1-4.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1-2 lower compared with yesterday, July 77 3-8 to 1-2, September 77 1-8 to 77; corn 1-4 to 1-2 down, July 50 3-4, September 52 14; oats unchanged to 1-4 off.

"2. Learn to control your expenditures. Do not buy this or that on $10 down and $10 a month so that you will, before you know it, have a monthly budget of $300, perhaps with only a $200 monthly income.

"3. Make your savings multiply by investing your savings where they will earn compound interest and constantly pile up more funds for your later life.

"4. Do not invest your earnings all in one place, do not 'put all your eggs in one basket.' Diversify your investments.

"5. One must, in order to increase his earning powers, ever be a student working to improve on his ability to perform his work in life.

"Persons who have earned no more than $200 a month have often, when they reached their fifties, had far more saved up than have men who have earned $500 monthly and, with no plan of savings followed, have spent nearly all as they went along.

"I suggest that you start out and save so that in later years you may receive dividends. But there are other dividends that are paid through thrift. There is the dividend of having the knowledge that all bills are paid, satisfaction of having a material reserve, the pleasure of the power of careful saving, and still another dividend—that of self-control and self-discipline. Lastly there is a feeling of independence.

"I know that right now, with political and economic situations the country over being much in chaos, that there is uncertainty and a degree of unrest but I believe that there never will be a time when individual effort will not be rewarded.

"But then there is another thrift which may be termed emotional thrift. Life is many-sided. There is another viewpoint. I suggest that you endeavor to save a portion of your lives. Experience is the best teacher. Out of life's experiences you will do well to save a portion of your experiences and you will know how to act under trying times. I would say that emotional thrift is as important as economic thrift. Out of each experience try to save something. Save in memory for your future guidance and conduct.

"Enjoy the keen exercise of powers of observation. I know men who go to and from their work and never see anything as they go. These remarks are general but I think they are purposeful.

"I say to you that there is no boredom or loneliness. These are impossible to an alert mind. Everyone is of interest if you look for a point of interest. Everyone you contact can bestow something upon you.

"Youth is called by some the happiest time of life. But would you say that the base of a mountain peak is where the best view is obtained? It is only when you reach the summit that you get a panorama of the entire countryside. So it is with life. So why is youth the very happiest time of all? You should endeavor to live abundantly. Horizons broaden as life goes on—the whole world is at one's feet. I would advise that you graduates possess economic and emotional thrift with an increase of knowledge and understanding as years roll by. Thus you can be wealthy, economically, emotionally and spiritually."

Mrs. Stella Courtney, in behalf of the United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary, presented the annual medal to Aline Smith, after which the D. A. R. medal was presented to Bobby Farr by Mrs. Eunice Williamson.

ALABAMA GIRL WINS 'MISS AVIATION' TITLE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 3.—(AP)—An Alabama girl representing Transcontinental-Western Airlines tonight was named "Miss American Aviation" in the annual beauty contest of the National Air carnival.

Katherine Wilson, a statuesque blonde from San Francisco and formerly of Demopolis, Ala., won over a nationwide field of contestants, including "Miss America" of 1937, Bette Cooper of Bertrand Island, N. J.

Selection of the T. W. A. hostess as aviation's beauty queen climaxed a busy first day for participants in the carnival. Traffic police estimated 100,000 spectators craned their necks and sunburned their noses today squinting at the nation's leading speed and stunt pilots.

Miss Wilson was awarded the beauty title by a committee of judges that included Major Al Williams, former United States marine ace; Ross Hadley, Hollywood sportsman flier; Devon Francis, Associated Press aviation editor; A. C. Burnham, president of the Sportsmen's Pilots association, and Jim Wheeler of St. Louis.

Aviation's new queen will reign jointly tomorrow with Joy Hodges, stage and screen actress, who came here from California to participate in the air-party.

CLOTHES FOUND ON DOCK

NEW ORLEANS, June 3.—(AP)—Police found a spotless shirt and a pair of trousers on the river docks here today together with a note signed Jim, reading: "I'm sorry it had to be this way. Goodbye." Officers considered it a prank.

SANITARY MATTRESS COVERS

To keep mattresses clean and sanitary and free from dust and lint, it is essential that they be provided with efficient protectors. Covers made of a new transparent material are said to do all these things as well as affording relief for individuals allergic to certain types of mattress fillings. These are tailored to fit twin and double size mattresses (crib size, too), are said to be washable and may even be dipped into a mild antiseptic solution without harm to their special processing.

Garland Shell, formerly with Penn Mutual Life Insurance company, has just been appointed a special representative of Terminix of Louisiana, with headquarters in the Bernhardt building here, according to an announcement made yesterday by Corby Jamerson, manager. Prior to joining Terminix, Mr. Shell, who graduated from Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. in 1937, had the distinction of being the youngest employe of Penn Mutual writing insurance and was program chairman of the Life Underwriters' association. An accomplished musician, he was at one time a News-Star—World carrier-salesman.

RELATIVES TOLD HOPE ABANDONED

were in when they left the submarine.

Photographs of attempts to tow the Thetis out of the mud yesterday indicated that a broken cable may have cost the lives of the 98 men.

When the Thetis was found early yesterday morning about 18 feet of her stern was sticking out of the water. Officials then considered trying to cut the stern off but, apparently, decided first to try to pull the vessel loose.

The two ships gradually increased pressure on the cable until the great grey fin of the Thetis rose higher out of the water.

Tonight her great, crippled hulk lay at the bottom, her gear gently tapping in a running tide.

There were several theories as to what caused the Thetis catastrophe. One held by shipping circles was that in making a speed dive she might have encountered more than one current—flowing at different speeds—below the surface.

R. S. Johnson, managing director of Cammell Laird, Ltd., said the submarine conceivably could have struck wreckage but he acknowledged "we do not know."

off would Huey's policies become more fully understood and revered.

At Louisiana State university where Russell was graduated Monday night the boy tried out his political wings and successfully campaigned for nearly every major class office. He employed such election stunts as hiring swing bands, having girls in bathing suits display "Long" stickers on their bare backs and handing out free ice cream cones at his mass meetings.

By serving as a clerk in the state senate Russell is well acquainted with most politicians now controlling the strong organization his father left in power over the state government.

No invitations were issued for Russell's wedding today and the church was scarcely half filled.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Rita Rust Hattic and the late Fred C. Hattic, formerly of Vicksburg, Miss., wore a toast-tinted costume with matching accessories and an orchid at the shoulder. She carried a white prayer book. Russell wore a white linen suit with white lilies of the valley as a boutonniere.

The church was decorated with quantities of lemon yellow day lilies in baskets set in a background of green smilax, palms and bamboo. The bride's mother wore navy blue and the groom's mother rose chiffon with both carrying rose corsages.

The groom's sister, Mrs. McFarland, was the bride's only attendant and William Jaubert Dugan, Russell's classmate at the university, was best man. Serving as ushers were Palmer Reed Long, Russell's only brother, and Harry Krone, Louis I. Tyler, Jr., and Wilton Williams, all three of Shreveport.

The newlyweds left on a honeymoon to New York, Canada and Alaska planning to return in late summer. Russell will enter the L. S. U. law school in the fall. The bride, just completing her junior year in Teachers college at the university, is undecided whether she will continue school.

JUDGE MARTIN FREED OF BRIBERY CHARGE

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Kings County Court Judge George W. Martin was acquitted by a supreme court jury tonight of charges of accepting a $1,000 bribe to dismiss a Brooklyn abortion case.

Spectators in the courtroom broke into a frenzy of shouts as the jury announced its verdict.

The jury deliberated three hours before freeing the natty 63-year-old jurist.

The state had contended Judge Martin requested and received the bribe two years ago to dismiss an indictment charging abortion against Dr. Louis I. Duke, Brooklyn physician, and three nurses.

The $25,000-a-year judge was specifically charged with bribery, receiving an unlawful fee and conspiracy to obstruct justice, involving a maximum penalty of 13 years in prison.

Martin was also acquitted of the charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice and demanding an unlawful fee.

"Naturally, what can I say? I am a very happy man," Judge Martin told reporters.

Special Assistant Attorney General John Harlan Amen, smiling despite his defeat, said "I told the jury to bring in a verdict that was in their hearts, a verdict that they thought was right and they did, and I'm satisfied."

tal by breaking his self-imposed rule of silence and speaking out on national issues during the next few months.

Reports were that Garner has listened attentively to that suggestion but has given no signs as to what course he will take.

Figuring also in current political talk on Capitol hill are reports that some senators, looking forward to 1940, now are seeking actively to heal differences between Democratic factions.

Well-advised legislators said one harmony effort was a senate luncheon this week for Thomas G. Corcoran, New Deal adviser, given by Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona. The luncheon was attended by such administration followers as Senators Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, and Schwellenbach, Democrat, Washington, and such non-New Deal senators as Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, and Byrnes, Democrat, South Carolina.

The luncheon was similar to earlier ones given for Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board and Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Senator Brown, Democrat, Michigan, chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, also has been planning a series of informal get-togethers among representatives of divergent party factions.

Sharing attention with Democratic political developments, there was capital talk about the recent statement of Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, indicating his availability for the G. O. P. presidential nomination.

Vandenberg said today he had received numerous letters from all sections of the country saying his was a "good statement." Asserting he would have nothing more to say about the G. O. P. nomination at present, he reiterated that he was primarily concerned with his duties as a senator and his projected race for re-election.

COTTON

New York

NEW YORK, June 3—(AP)—Cotton futures turned strong toward the close today, advancing as much as 15 points before profit taking pared extreme gains. The market was stimulated by aggressive trade buying and professional absorption in active turnover. Offerings were relatively scarce, coming on a scale up from New Orleans brokers and southern spot dealers.

The market was steady in early trading, 1 to 3 higher around midmorning as scattered price fixing orders and small foreign purchases met offerings from southern spot interests and New Orleans accounts. Liverpool buying was less aggressive. Some hedge sales went into new crop positions. July touched the nine-cent level for a gain of three and May was up a like amount at 7.79.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Further mild convalescence was exhibited by the stock market today but the buying pulse was still well below normal.

While selected steels, motors, rubbers, mail orders and specialties managed to hold gains of fractions to around a point, numerous issues were virtually at a standstill when the closing gong sounded.

The two-hour turnover of approximately 200,000 shares was one of the smallest for several weeks.

Steels received support on word the navy had placed orders for two new battleship giants and 22 other war craft amounting to some $350,000,000. In addition, the steel mill operating rate was expected again to slant upward next week.

Motors did fairly well most of the time as talk was heard of better than anticipated second quarter earnings for the major manufacturers despite the recent sharp let-down occasioned mainly by labor difficulties at Detroit and the Memorial day shut-down.

"Easy money" was once more stressed by action of Socony-Vacuum in filing for registration with the SEC a $50,000,000 issue of 3 per cent debentures with which to retire the same amount of 3 1-2 per cent debentures.

Although potential stock sellers were restrained by thoughts of a big administration spending program, speculative circles were none too confident the projected government-business conferences would get any further than previous peace movements. At the same time signs of a flattening out of the recent downward business curve were to be seen here and there.

Not so pleasing to Wall Street were reports the president might complicate the tax revision plans of congress by [illegible]

Oil And Gas News

NEW ORLEANS, June 3.—(AP)—Ten new wells in Louisiana oil fields, with a total initial daily production of 3,341 barrels, were today listed in the weekly report of the conservation department.

Among the new producers was another large distillate well in the Cotton Valley well in Webster parish, which through a three-eighths inch choke flowed at the rate of 420 barrels of distillate a day. Best south Louisiana well was in the Ville Platte field, which had a 426 barrel pipeline oil production on a three-sixteenths inch choke.

Only 14 permits for new operations were issued during the week, a figure materially below the average for the past month. Eight of the permits were for north Louisiana wells, including a wildcat near the mouth of the Mississippi river.

Daily production of oil in Louisiana for the week ending May 27 was estimated by the department at 267,960 barrels, of which [illegible] barrels were produced in north Louisiana and 12,560 barrels in [illegible] Louisiana.

RUSTON MAY BUY CHURCH AND LOT

Circulate Petitions On Question Of Purchasing Old Methodist Property

RUSTON, La., June 3.—(Special)—Petitions are being circulated among Ruston property owners to ascertain their wishes in regard to the city's purchase of the old Methodist church building and lot.

Women's clubs and civic groups are said to have originated the suggestion that the city buy the property for remodeling into a community center, and as a consequence city officials are sponsoring a survey of public opinion on the matter.

The petitions, asking for a "yes" or "no" vote by the property holders, specify a price of $17,500 for the brick building and lot.

The lot was deeded to the Methodists of Ruston by Robert E. Russ, for whom the city of Ruston is named. The building to be sold was erected in 1903 as the second Methodist church here. A new Methodist church one block east of the old church was formally dedicated on April 2.

After the new church was built, the Russ heirs sought to prevent sale of the old church and lot by the Methodists on the grounds that the property was deeded to the Methodists exclusively for church purposes. As a result of litigation, the Methodists were granted the right to sell the property.

CAMP FIRE

Okeehee

The Okeehee group met at the Bawcomville recreation center Saturday morning with Miss Junie McRamey. After the meeting was called to order and the roll called, the group reviewed the 12 requirements of the trail-seeker rank. Plans were made for the summer Camp Fire meetings and a discussion of the camp to be held beginning July 2 was conducted.

Those present were Leora Lewis, Georgette Bowie, Margie Reese, Vera Mal Anding, Lillie Mae Lewis, Betty Bawcom, Virginia Butler, Winnie Smith, Allie Mae Clark, Clarice Davis.

Tawanka

The Tawanka group met at the home of its guardian, Mrs. Fred Hemler, on Sherrouse avenue, Thursday afternoon. The president, Elizabeth Siegle, called the meeting to order and the roll was called by Betty Benson, secretary. As each girl's name was called, she stood and repeated the trail-seeker desire. Mrs. Hemler gave the group sevral new requirments of the trail-seeker rank to be fulfilled during the next week.

Blue Birds

The Blue Birds met at the Mitchell school with Miss Hazel Fairchild Wednesday afternoon. Cutting out paper dolls was the chief interest of the meeting this afternoon. Paper dolls to be cut out were passed around until each girl had a whole family of dolls.

The Blue Birds will meet at Dorothy Odom's home next week and more dolls will be given.

After the meeting candy was passed to Janette Pace, Jonita Bellmore, Aline Edney, Annette Pace, Eloise Hobbs, Mary Jo Vernon, Dorothy Odom, Frances Sue Breck.

Wacherlovan Nos. 1 And 2

The Wacherlovan groups Nos. 1 and 2 met at the Camp Fire headquarters with Mrs. Neelley Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Neelley gave the groups a review in the form of a match on the 12 requirements of the trail-seeker rank. A group council fire was discussed and will be held this month.

Plans were made for a hike and swimming party in the place of the next regular meeting. The groups will assemble at Camp Fire headquarters Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All members of these two groups are urged to be there.

After the meeting cookies were passed. Those present were Frances Cooper, Carolyn Watts, Judith Roberts, Marion Sims, Florence Reynolds, Betty Brown, Betty Firnberg, Barbara Wallace, Martha Brown, Helen Brothers, Helen Hooper Stein, Elaine Sittason, Barbara Cash, Myrtle Worley, Nan Evans, Marguerite Aston, Gwendolyn Hathaway, Dorothy Jo Jones, Shirley Courtney.

Wicaka

The Wicaka group met at the Mitchell school with its guardian, Miss Hazel Fairchild, Monday afternoon. The group chose designing paper doll dresses for its next meeting. There were lots of pretty dresses made.

The Wicaka group has planned a swimming party to take the place of the regular meeting next Monday and will meet at the amp Fire headquarters at 2 p.m.

After the meeting candy was passed to Dolores Masset, Evelyn Gannaway, Loiuse Williams, Norma Jean Warren, Lucille Bellmore, Eloise Woods, Patsy Ruth Gandy, Mildred White, Jackie White.

RUSTON MAY BUY CHURCH AND LOT

RUSTON, La., June 3—(Special)—Petitions are being circulated among Ruston property owners to ascertain their wishes in regard to the city's purchase of the old Methodist church building and lot.

Women's clubs and civic groups are said to have originated the suggestion that the city buy the property for remodeling into a community center, and as a consequence city officials are sponsoring a survey of public opinion on the matter.

The petitions, asking for a "yes" or "no" vote by the property holders, specify a price of $17,500 for the brick building and lot.

The lot was deeded to the Methodists of Ruston by Robert E. Russ, for whom the city of Ruston is named. The building to be sold was erected in 1903 as the second Methodist church here. A new Methodist church one block east of the old church was formally dedicated on April 2.

After the new church was built the Russ heirs sought to prevent sale of the old church and lot by the Methodists on the grounds that the property was deeded to the Methodists exclusively for church purposes. As a result of litigation the Methodists were granted the right to sell the property.

V. M. I. ALUMNI TO GATHER JUNE 10

All Classes To Attend Reunion During Centennial Commencement

LEXINGTON, Va., June 3.—Virginia Military institute alumni from every state are expected to attend reunions of all classes during the Centennial commencement exercises from June 10 to June 14. Major Herbert Jacob, alumni secretary, estimates that at least one-third of the more than 5,300 living ex-cadets will be present.

A crowded program of military, social and academic activities has been announced by Major-General Charles E. Kilbourne, the sixth superintendent to serve the institute since its founding on November 11, 1839.

Mounted and dismounted drills of Saturday, June 10, will be followed by a regimental review before the board of visitors and a dress parade at which military trophies will be awarded. The monogram club hop, first of a set of three formal dances, will be held in William H. Coke ('94) hall.

On Sunday, designated as "Patrons' Day," inspection of arms and quarters will be followed by services in Jackson Memorial hall. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by Dr. Sparks W. Melton, astor of the Freemason Street Baptist church of Norfolk. In the evening a reception for alumni will be held in Alumni hall.

"Military Day," Monday, June 12, will be featured by infantry, cavalry, and artillery drills and a garrison review of all military units. Academic exhibits will be made from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. At 10 p.m., the graduating class of 156 members, largest in the history of the institute, will present an elaborate figure to open the final german.

Governor James H. Price will address the alumni on Tuesday as a highlight of "Alumni Day." A garrison review for the governor and alumni will follow. At 2:30 p.m. a white marble statue representing the "Spirit of Youth" will be unveiled in the Memorial Garden. The statue, in memory of the late General William H. Cocke, fourth superintendent, is the gift of Mrs. Cocke. The sculptor is Attillio Piccirilli of New York and the landscape artist is Charles F. Gillette.

FIFTH DISTRICT GROUP TO MEET

Medical Society Members To Hold June Session At Hotel Virginia

The Fifth District Medical society will meet at Hotel Virginia Tuesday at 5:30 p.m.

Dr. Dunbar Newell, of Chattanooga, Tenn., "Treatment of General Fractures," with lantern slides.

Dr. Chaille Jamison, professor of internal medicine, Tulane university, "Diseases of the Heart," with lantern slides.

Dr. George A. Mayer, professor of gynecology, Louisiana State university medical school, "Complications of Breech Presentations"; with motion picture demonstrations.

Preceding the scientific program, there will be a banquet, during which routine business will be transacted.

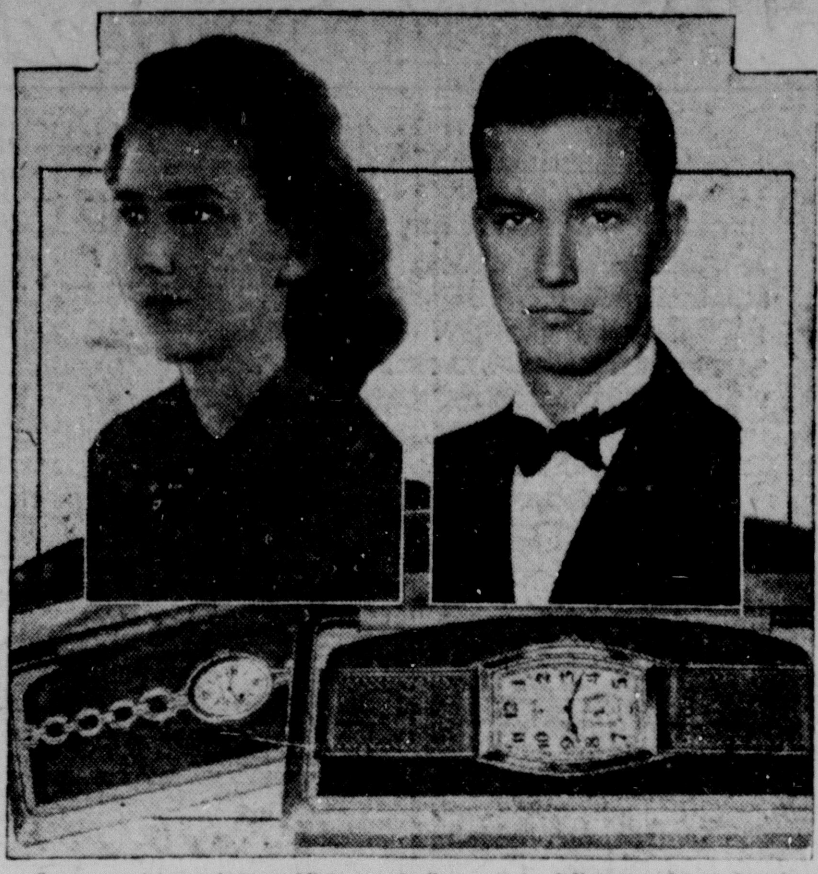
AWARDED FOR 'UNSELFISH SERVICE'



In recognition of "unselfish service" to their fellow students for four years, these two students have been awarded gold watches by an anonymous Ruston business man. Merle Harmon, left, who has just graduated from the Ruston High school, is the first recipient of the service watch to be given to a graduate of the high school. She plans to enter Louisiana Tech as a freshman in the music department this fall. John L. Stewart, right, of Farmerville, who graduated this week from Tech as an honor student and class valedictorian, is one of several Tech seniors to be awarded a gold watch by the unannounced donor in the past several years. He has a fellowship for advanced study at Louisiana State university for the next school year. The watches, given as surprises at commencement exercises, are pictured above with their winners. (Tech News Bureau photos.)

Tallulah Home Art Club Makes Enviable Record

TALLULAH, La., June 3.—(Specal)—A notable achievement, born of a vision of unselfish service five years ago and unequalled in Louisiana or in the United States, has reached its climax at this commencement season. The background of this unusual enterprise may be traced to the fall of 1930 when there came to Tallulah a young teacher, Miss Ethel V. Morgan, filled with enthusiasm for her job and pioneer spirit of overcoming difficulties. She began her task with 23 girls enrolled in the home economics department of the high school.

Although confronted with meager and inadequate equipment, Miss Morgan was not discouraged but in meeting obstacles as opportunities, the students, inspired with her example and leadership, determined to improve their department. The girls were organized into the "Home Art club," which was soon affiliated with the state and national organization. Monthly meetings were held with programs of interest on topics pertaining to their work. Dues were five cents per month.

Feeling the need of better tools with which to work and a desire to make the room of their department more attractive, they began raising funds for the purpose. First there were egg days—when each girl brought an egg, these being sold to local merchants; cake, candy, sandwiches and Coca-Cola sales at recess and at football games (this was before the days of the school cafeteria), and rummage sales on the streets of the town on Saturdays added to the fund.

With much pride and satisfaction they bought material and made curtains for the sewing and dining rooms, purchased books for the home economics library, a lamp, pictures, a set of silver, occasional articles of furniture and grocery containers for the kitchen. With added proficiency gained through knowledge and experience within the next year or two they undertook the next venture of preparing and serving banquets for the athletic association and luncheons and dinners for other school organizations. They also sponsored benefit picture shows, took orders for Christmas cards and sold advertisements for the local paper.

Since the school board, because of insufficient finances, was unable to provide new equipment to replace the worn out oil stoves, the club with its earnings paid for having the kitchen piped for gas and purchased three gas ranges and three hot plates, also some necessary kitchen utensils. Now that the department was furnished for satisfactory work the girls conceived the idea of continuing their efforts at money-making for the purpose of assisting some ambitious girl to pursue her home economics training in college who would not otherwise be enabled to do so. Accordingly they set as their goal the establishment of a loan scholarship fund.

When the 1935 commencement came $175 had been placed in the bank as the first installment for the scholarship. With the assistance of Parish Superintendent of Education James R. Linton and others, a charter was drawn up and rules and regulations governing the scholarship were formulated and a committee decided on the beneficiary. At the graduating exercises Miss Lela Tomlinson, assistant state supervisor of home economics, made the presentation to Miss Lillian Dicks Purdy, one of the graduates, who as the first recipient of the scholarship she and other schoolmates had created, was overjoyed at the unexpected privilege of going to college.

Each year the Home Art club with its everchanging membership caused by graduation of seniors and incoming freshmen had grown in numbers and interest, keeping ever before them the financial goal of the year, maintaining their enthusiasm for their work through regular meetings, participation in district and state meetings and the gala event of each year when they entertained at the exhibit and tea on "Parents' day." Through cooperation with the Red Cross and welfare agencies at Christmas and at other times when the need was presented their sympathies were broadened in service to the less fortunate.

In the meantime, Miss Purdy, with continued appreciation for her opportunities and in gratitude to her beloved teacher, now Mrs. G. M. Fuller, and friends of her alma mater, has pursued her studies at Southwestern Louisiana institute at Lafayette, where she was graduated with the class of 1939. She was present at the commencement exercises in Tallulah this spring when the presentation of the home economics scholarship was made to the popular valedictorian, Grace Brownlee, by Miss Clyde Mobley, supervisor of home economics for Louisiana. Thus the vision of five years ago has become a splendid reality.

Month Of June Brings Announcements Of Weddings And Plans For Vacations

Armand McHenry, Jr., Given Trip To Fair

Mr. And Mrs. Frisbie Already In Ozarks; Louis Guerriero To Study At Drama Institute

JUNE is here, bringing romance, happiness and honeymoons. For June is the month that is plucked from the calendar and presented to brides and grooms on a silver platter. June means bridal showers, weddings and receptions with champagne to toast the bride and groom and rice to speed them on their way. Over the countryside will come echoing the joyous strains of "Here Comes the Bride," and many a "lass with a delicate air" will be slipping into a new white gown and her grandmother's wedding veil, confident of living happily ever after. A thin gold band on a slender finger will be a reminder that it will be "until death do us part."

Ann Platt and Francis Payne will step altarward during the month of June and we trust sincerely the fairy tale ending will come true. Destiny seems to have led Ann altarward in spite of the dreams she entertained when a child, of becoming a famous writer. We well remember Ann as a child, when she held the center of the stage among playmates who listened enchanted to her tales of life, love and futility. A sparkling and incisive mind, an eloquent tongue, fascinating ideas and intellectual vitality—all the requisites for a great writer are hers. Let us hope that domesticity will aid rather than hinder her literary talent and in years to come the novel she always intended to write will become a tangible, living thing.

Ann's literary yen found an outlook in the letters she wrote home when touring Europe. Even common place things were rendered glamorous and exciting under Ann's magic pen.

Another interesting June wedding is that of Jane Burgess and Bill Adams. They will take their vows under the giant trees in the Porter Burgess gardens along the margin of the bayou. It will be a garden wedding and will be a pageant of flowers, lovely maids and we hope, a gorgeous sunset. Jane will be the ideal bride all wrapped up in white mousseline and with flowers in her wavy hair.

They say that home-loving hearts are happiest but what of the hordes who yearn for greener pastures beyond the horizon the minute June arrives? Roving feet take them to faraway places although this year the world's fair will be the mecca for the restless souls. Maud Stubbs found so many people wanted to take advantage of the tour she is arranging that the number, of necessity, had to be divided in two parts.

The happiest young man attending the fair from this city will be Armand McHenry, Jr. His trip is a graduation gift from his uncle, Carl McHenry.

The Roger Frisbies have already hied themselves to the Ozark mountains, where they will spend a portion of the summer fishing for rainbow trout in the cool mountain streams and let some of the tranquility and quietude of the mountains creep into their soul. Everyone who works and especially those who are in a class room day after day, need the solitude of wide open spaces.

So many of our favorite Little Theater workers will spend the summer profitably and close to their heart's desire. Sue Hefley, for instance, will leave next week for New London, N. H., where she will work with the New London players throughout the summer. It will be a happy experience as she will be doing the work she loves and for which she is so well fitted. Her work in the Monroe Little Theater during the past few years was presented with allure and infinite style.

A memory to cherish—Johnette Register, tall, straight and slim in a floor-length, pastel pink gown, singing convincingly and appealingly the beautiful solo, "There Is No Power Apart From God." Her voice is truly magnificent and properly attuned to such songs as "I Know I Shall Not Pass This Way Again," and "How Beautiful Upon the Mountain." She sings every Sunday morning at First Church of Christ, Scientist, and surpassed all other efforts last Sunday when she sang the beautiful song, the words of which were taken from the scriptures.

Marion Learned's telephone jingled at an early hour two weeks ago. The voice was that of her son, Alvah. He inquired from Houston if she could get ready for a trip to Mexico City the following day. If you know Marion Learned then you know she was ready for an early morning start the next day with not a single detail overlooked. She met Alvah in Houston later in the day, and together they continued their journey. In 13 days they covered a distance of 3,400 miles. Quite significant of the fact that they delved into every nook and cranny and really saw Mexico City, Marion brought back all sorts of knick-knacks but the most interesting of all is the collection of dolls.

We have always heard that a man's best friend is his mother but seldom do mother and son make such perfect traveling companions as Marion and Alvah. A telegram arriving the day after she returned home speaks for itself. It read: "Didn't we have a gorgeous time!"

Sorority Gives Al Fresco Affair

Summer days inspire al fresco entertaining, especially for members of the younger set who don cotton frocks, slacks and shorts, and spend every waking moment out of doors.

A mecca these days for the younger set is Bernstein park, where facilities for al fresco dining and barbecuing are at their disposal.

Members of Lambda Sigma Chi sorority motored to the park on a moonlight night last week and broiled steaks over the glowing coals. They also dined on salads, rolls and iced drinks.

Others present were Helen Ann Ford, Irma Grant Ensminger, Alice Rae Goza, Evelyn Aden, Jeanette Clarkson, Peggy Morrison, "Bunny" Zeigin, Cornelia McHenry, Dorothea Girault and Sybil Daughtery.

Miss Dieterich Weds Albert Bentley Marine

A June wedding characterized by simplicity and engaging the interest of friends was that of Miss Doris Elaine Dieterich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dieterich, and Mr. Albert Bentley Marine, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Marine, Friday, June 2, at 7 o'clock in the morning.

An improvised altar was fashioned of pastel shaded gladioli and flanked with baskets of blue hydrangea and pink roses.

Mr. Eugene Chapman served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Marine left for the gulf coast, where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will be at home at 4006 DeSiard street.

Mrs. Marine is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school and Northeast Junior college. Mr. Marine attended Neville High school. He is associated with the American Railway Express company in this city.

Elbertine Moore Presented In Recital

On the side of things charming was the studio piano recital presenting Miss Elbertine Moore, student of Florence Ziegler Allbritton, last week.

The program, enthusiastically received by music lovers of this city, opened effectively with Bach's two-part inventions, d minor and c minor, and Scarlatti's Sonata in E major.

Miss Moore exhibited considerable refinement of taste and great regard for detail in Mozart's "Romanza." Beethoven compositions also received fine treatment in her hands.

In the Chopin Prelude there was profound feeling and tonal depth. The waltz in E minor made a brilliant ending for this group and was greeted with unrestrainable applause.

Bartok's "Bear Dance," an odd selection from the moderns was cleverly done, followed by the exhilirating "Sequidillas" of Albeniz which was given a remarkable performance by one so young. The quiet "Tryst" of Nearing was an appealing bit of music, displaying the poetic tendencies of Miss Moore's nature. The closing "Bolero" was spirited and powerful giving evidence of fine technic and command of the keyboard. An encore demanded by the enthusiastic audience was performed with assurance and brilliance, bringing to a close a beautiful program of music.

Incidentally, Miss Moore has received high honors recently in various portions of the state, competing with students from all parts of Louisiana. A few months ago she was heard by Rudolph Ganz, a composer and teacher of international note and reputation who has developed some of the outstanding young artists before the musical world of today. Mr. Ganz expressed the opinion that Miss Moore has all the prerequisites for a brilliant future if she continues to advance.

The program was presented, in full, as follows:

Two-Part Inventions d minor c minor	Bach
Sonata in E major	Scarlatti
Romanza in A-flat major	Mozart
Ecossaises	Beethoven
German Dance	Beethoven
Prelude op. 28 No. 20	Chopin
Prelude op. 28 No. 7	Chopin
Prelude op. 28 No. 6	Chopin
Waltz in E Minor	Chopin
Bear Dance	Bartok
Seguidillas	Albeniz
Tryst	Nearing
Bolero de Concert	Mana-Zucca

Miss Thompson Weds William Ray Alexander

Of interest to their many friends in this section of the state is the marriage of Miss Marjorie Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thompson of Bernice, and Mr. William Ray Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Alexander of Hilly, which was solemnized Monday evening, May 29, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. T. Mitchell of Bernice, in the presence of a few relatives and close friends.

The bride is a graduate of Louisiana Tech and has been a member of the Summerfield High school faculty for several years.

Mr. Alexander is supervisor of the Farm Security administration for Union parish at Farmerville, where he and his bride will reside after a honeymoon to the gulf coast.

Mrs. Whitaker Fetes Weekly Bridge Club

Mrs. E. R. Whitaker made a gala occasion of her weekly bridge club entertainment by inviting a few additional guests and placing an extravagant array of garden flowers in the spacious reception suite. Floor length mirrors reflected the flowers and the guests in their summery frocks.

At the conclusion of the interesting games Mrs. J. M. Hilton and Mrs. John Kramer were presented with quaint crystal vases for high score. Mrs. S. E. Burgoyne received a pottery pitcher and Mrs. J. Fuller for consolation received a deck of Congress playing cards.

The serving of a delicious salad course and sherbet completed the courtesies extended by the hostess to Mrs. Fred E. Bennett, Mrs. John Kramer, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Dan Dennit, Mrs. Carl Stillman, Mrs. George Guerriero, Mrs. Jo Fuller, Mrs. J. M. Menefee, Mrs. S. E. Burgoyne, Mrs. Sid Walker, Mrs. Z. P. Stone, Mrs. O. N. Reynolds, Mrs. A. O. Evans, Mrs. J. N. Pardue, Mrs. J. M. Hilton, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell.

Claiming prominence among the many charming courtesies of a pre-nuptial nature honoring Miss Mary Wigley, whose marriage will take place during the month of June, was the luncheon in the Cameo room of the Virginia hotel with Mrs. F. A. Jones and Mrs. J. R. Berry hostesses.

The oval table was developed in white and rose with an oblong plaque, encircling the table, fashioned entirely of rose-colored sweet peas bordered with Queen Ann's lace.

An exquisite corsage of gardenias marked the cover reserved for the guest of honor. Corsages of rose-colored sweet peas were the favors bestowed upon the guests.

Following the serving of a delicious four-course luncheon, a social hour ensued and the hostesses presented their honor guest with a set of handsome rock crystal goblets.

The guests in addition to Miss Wigley, were Mrs. Edward Shaver, Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. R. H. Carpenter, Miss Maud Leigh Taylor, Miss Wilma Nobles, Miss Martha Bassett.

The Y. W. C. A. resident girls are looking forward to a happy summer, overflowing with social activities. Since organizing the "Y Girls" club plans have been made for early morning breakfast parties, swimming parties and a series of picnics. The first of the series took place at Bernstein park where an early morning breakfast was served.

Miss Mable Hunt To Wed Edgar Hemphill

Marriage Will Take Place Today At Grace Church; Many Affairs Given For Bride-Elect

A lovely bride, Miss Mable Gertrude Hunt, daughter of Mrs. Ruby B. Hunt and the late T. J. Hunt, this morning at 9 o'clock will become the bride of Mr. Edgar N. Hemphill, son of Mrs. J. C. Hemphill.

The ceremony will be performed by Rev. E. F. Hayward at Grace Episcopal church in the presence of friends and relatives.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride and bridegroom will motor to the Ozark mountains where they will spend their honeymoon at Lake of the Ozarks.

The engagement days of Miss Hunt were filled with charming pre-nuptial courtesies, outstanding being the tea yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Hunt as hostess at her home on Louisville avenue.

The initial courtesy took place May 14 when members of the senior guild of Grace church entertained with a miscellaneous shower and tea at the home of Mrs. Fred Fudickar.

Each day following found Miss Hunt the central figure at bridge affairs, luncheons and morning coffee hours. Miss Mary Mulhearn's compliment was a bridge affair and Misses Elizabeth and Annie Benton and Mrs. A. B. Smelser entertained with a miscellaneous shower.

Miss Alice Daniels entertained with a bridge party and Mrs. Walter Rhodes and Mrs. Ashton Holloway entertained with a luncheon. Mrs. William Smith and Miss Ella Pearl Sutton were hostesses at a handkerchief shower. Mrs. Cordell Calhoun entertained with a luncheon and Miss Sara Guy was hostess at a pallet and breakfast party.

The tea June 1 with Mrs. Carroll Boyce and Mrs. John Sholars hostesses was one of the loveliest compliments extended Miss Hunt.

The courtesies were concluded when Mrs. W. C. Proctor entertained with an informal conversational hour for intimate friends Friday afternoon.

Miss Grayson Fetes Miss Dieterich

Miss Dorothy Grayson's compliment to Miss Doris Dieterich, who became the bride of Mr. Albert B. Marine on June 2, was a miscellaneous shower at her home last week.

Beautiful flowers arranged with artistry formed the background for the guests who were served delicious refreshments following the presentation of the gifts.

The tea table in the dining room held assorted cakes and confections, served by Mrs. R. L. Grayson, Mrs. Harvard Nix and Mrs. Mae J. Williams.

The guests included Misses Snow Drew, Sybil Renaud, Hettie Virginia Nettles, Cissy Mahr, June Moffett, Yvonne Williams, Barbara Butler, Helen Benton, Martha Myatt, Frances Reitzel, Melba Busby, Evelyn Bales, Nina Carter, Frances Thompson, Delores Grant, Gladys Emma Whitfield, Myrtle Dieterich, Mrs. J. J. Dieterich and Miss Flora Mae Dieterich.

They say that home-loving hearts are happiest but what of the hordes who yearn for greener pastures beyond the horizon the minute June arrives? Roving feet take them to faraway places although this year the world's fair will be the mecca for the restless souls. Maud Stubbs found so many people wanted to take advantage of the tour she is arranging that the number, of necessity, had to be divided in two parts.

The happiest young man attending the fair from this city will be Armand McHenry, Jr. His trip is a graduation gift from his uncle, Carl McHenry.

The Roger Frisbies have already hied themselves to the Ozark mountains, where they will spend a portion of the summer fishing for rainbow trout in the cool mountain streams and let some of the tranquility and quietude of the mountains creep into their soul. Everyone who works and especially those who are in a class room day after day, need the solitude of wide open spaces.

So many of our favorite Little Theater workers will spend the summer profitably and close to their heart's desire. Sue Hefley, for instance, will leave next week for New London, N. H., where she will work with the New London players throughout the summer. It will be a happy experience as she will be doing the work she loves and for which she is so well fitted. Her work in the Monroe Little Theater during the past few years was presented with allure and infinite style.

A memory to cherish—Johnette Register, tall, straight and slim in a floor-length, pastel pink gown, singing convincingly and appealingly the beautiful solo, "There Is No Power Apart From God." Her voice is truly magnificent and properly attuned to such songs as "I Know I Shall Not Pass This Way Again," and "How Beautiful Upon the Mountain." She sings every Sunday morning at First Church of Christ, Scientist, and surpassed all other efforts last Sunday when she sang the beautiful song, the words of which were taken from the scriptures.

Marion Learned's telephone jingled at an early hour two weeks ago. The voice was that of her son, Alvah. He inquired from Houston if she could get ready for a trip to Mexico City the following day. If you know Marion Learned then you know she was ready for an early morning start the next day with not a single detail overlooked. She met Alvah in Houston later in the day, and together they continued their journey. In 13 days they covered a distance of 3,400 miles. Quite significant of the fact that they delved into every nook and cranny and really saw Mexico City, Marion brought back all sorts of knick-knacks but the most interesting of all is the collection of dolls.

We have always heard that a man's best friend is his mother but seldom do mother and son make such perfect traveling companions as Marion and Alvah. A telegram arriving the day after she returned home speaks for itself. It read: "Didn't we have a gorgeous time!"

Sorority Gives Al Fresco Affair

Summer days inspire al fresco entertaining, especially for members of the younger set who don cotton frocks, slacks and shorts, and spend every waking moment out of doors.

A mecca these days for the younger set is Bernstein park, where facilities for al fresco dining and barbecuing are at their disposal.

Members of Lambda Sigma Chi sorority motored to the park on a moonlight night last week and broiled steaks over the glowing coals. They also dined on salads, rolls and iced drinks.

Others present were Helen Ann Ford, Irma Grant Ensminger, Alice Rae Goza, Evelyn Aden, Jeanette Clarkson, Peggy Morrison, "Bunny" Zeigin, Cornelia McHenry, Dorothea Girault and Sybil Daughtery.

Miss Dieterich Weds Albert Bentley Marine

A June wedding characterized by simplicity and engaging the interest of friends was that of Miss Doris Elaine Dieterich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dieterich, and Mr. Albert Bentley Marine, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Marine, Friday, June 2, at 7 o'clock in the morning.

An improvised altar was fashioned of pastel shaded gladioli and flanked with baskets of blue hydrangea and pink roses.

Miss Dorothy Grayson, the bride's attendant, wore a blue flowered model with navy blue accessories.

Mr. Eugene Chapman served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Marine left for the gulf coast, where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will be at home at 4006 DeSiard street.

Mrs. Marine is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school and Northeast Junior college. Mr. Marine attended Neville High school. He is associated with the American Railway Express company in this city.

Elbertine Moore Presented In Recital

On the side of things charming was the studio piano recital presenting Miss Elbertine Moore, student of Florence Ziegler Allbritton, last week.

The program, enthusiastically received by music lovers of this city, opened effectively with Bach's two-part inventions, d minor and c minor, and Scarlatti's Sonata in E major.

Miss Moore exhibited considerable refinement of taste and great regard for detail in Mozart's "Romanza." Beethoven compositions also received fine treatment in her hands.

In the Chopin Prelude there was profound feeling and tonal depth. The waltz in E minor made a brilliant ending for this group and was greeted with unrestrainable applause.

Bartok's "Bear Dance," an odd selection from the moderns was cleverly done, followed by the exhilarating "Sequidillas" of Albeniz which was given a remarkable performance by one so young. The quiet "Tryst" of Nearing was an appealing bit of music, displaying the poetic tendencies of Miss Moore's nature. The closing "Bolero" was spirited and powerful giving evidence of fine technic and command of the keyboard. An encore demanded by the enthusiastic audience was performed with assurance and brilliance, bringing to a close a beautiful program of music.

Incidentally, Miss Moore has received high honors recently in various portions of the state, competing with students from all parts of Louisiana. A few months ago she was heard by Rudolph Ganz, a composer and teacher of international note and reputation who has developed some of the outstanding young artists before the musical world of today. Mr. Ganz expressed the opinion that Miss Moore has all the prerequisites for a brilliant future if she continues to advance.

The program was presented, in full, as follows:

Two-Part Inventions d minor c minor	Bach
Sonata in E major	Scarlatti
Romanza in A-flat major	Mozart
Ecossaises	Beethoven
German Dance	Beethoven
Prelude op. 28 No. 20	Chopin
Prelude op. 28 No. 7	Chopin
Prelude op. 28 No. 6	Chopin
Waltz in E Minor	Chopin
Bear Dance	Bartok
Seguidillas	Albeniz
Tryst	Nearing
Bolero de Concert	Mana-Zucca

Miss Thompson Weds William Ray Alexander

Of interest to their many friends in this section of the state is the marriage of Miss Marjorie Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thompson of Bernice, and Mr. William Ray Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Alexander of Hilly, which was solemnized Monday evening, May 29, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. T. Mitchell of Bernice, in the presence of a few relatives and close friends.

The bride is a graduate of Louisiana Tech and has been a member of the Summerfield High school faculty for several years.

Mr. Alexander is supervisor of the Farm Security administration for Union parish at Farmerville, where he and his bride will reside after a honeymoon to the gulf coast.

Mrs. Whitaker Fetes Weekly Bridge Club

Mrs. E. R. Whitaker made a gala occasion of her weekly bridge club entertainment by inviting a few additional guests and placing an extravagant array of garden flowers in the spacious reception suite. Floor length mirrors reflected the flowers and the guests in their summery frocks.

At the conclusion of the interesting games Mrs. J. M. Hilton and Mrs. John Kramer were presented with quaint crystal vases for high score. Mrs. S. E. Burgoyne received a pottery pitcher and Mrs. J. Fuller for consolation received a deck of Congress playing cards.

The serving of a delicious salad course and sherbet completed the courtesies extended by the hostess to Mrs. Fred E. Bennett, Mrs. John Kramer, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Dan Dennit, Mrs. Carl Stillman, Mrs. George Guerriero, Mrs. Jo Fuller, Mrs. J. M. Menefee, Mrs. S. E. Burgoyne, Mrs. Sid Walker, Mrs. Z. P. Stone, Mrs. O. N. Reynolds, Mrs. A. O. Claiming prominence among the many charming courtesies of a prenuptial nature honoring Miss Mary Wigley, whose marriage will take place during the month of June, was the luncheon in the Cameo room of the Virginia hotel with Mrs. F. A. Jones and Mrs. J. R. Berry hostesses.

The oval table was developed in white and rose with an oblong plaque, encircling the table, fashioned entirely of rose-colored sweet peas bordered with Queen Ann's lace.

An exquisite corsage of gardenias marked the cover reserved for the guest of honor. Corsages of rose-colored sweet peas were the favors bestowed upon the guests.

Following the serving of a delicious four-course luncheon, a social hour ensued and the hostesses presented their honor guest with a set of handsome rock crystal goblets.

The guests in addition to Miss Wigley, were Mrs. Edward Shaver, Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. R. H. Carpenter, Miss Maud Leigh Taylor, Miss Wilma Nobles, Miss Martha Bassett.

The Y. W. C. A. resident girls are looking forward to a happy summer, overflowing with social activities. Since organizing the "Y Girls" club plans have been made for early morning breakfast parties, swimming parties and a series of picnics. The first of the series took place at Bernstein park where an early morning breakfast was served.

Miss Mable Hunt To Wed Edgar Hemphill

Marriage Will Take Place Today At Grace Church; Many Affairs Given For Bride-Elect

A lovely bride, Miss Mable Gertrude Hunt, daughter of Mrs. Ruby B. Hunt and the late T. J. Hunt, this morning at 9 o'clock will become the bride of Mr. Edgar N. Hemphill, son of Mrs. J. C. Hemphill.

The ceremony will be performed by Rev. E. F. Hayward at Grace Episcopal church in the presence of friends and relatives.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride and bridegroom will motor to the Ozark mountains where they will spend their honeymoon at Lake of the Ozarks.

The engagement days of Miss Hunt were filled with charming pre-nuptial courtesies, outstanding being the tea yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Hunt as hostess at her home on Louisville avenue.

The initial courtesy took place May 14 when members of the senior guild of Grace church entertained with a miscellaneous shower and tea at the home of Mrs. Fred Fudickar.

Each day following found Miss Hunt the central figure at bridge affairs, luncheons and morning coffee hours. Miss Mary Mulhearn's compliment was a bridge affair and Misses Elizabeth and Annie Benton and Mrs. A. B. Smelser entertained with a miscellaneous shower.

Miss Alice Daniels entertained with a bridge party and Mrs. Walter Rhodes and Mrs. Ashton Holloway entertained with a luncheon. Mrs. William Smith and Miss Ella Pearl Sutton were hostesses at a handkerchief shower. Mrs. Cordell Calhoun entertained with a luncheon and Miss Sara Guy was hostess at a pallet and breakfast party.

The tea June 1 with Mrs. Carroll Boyce and Mrs. John Shoiars hostesses was one of the loveliest compliments extended Miss Hunt.

The courtesies were concluded when Mrs. W. C. Proctor entertained with an informal conversational hour for intimate friends Friday afternoon.

Miss Grayson Fetes Miss Dieterich

Miss Dorothy Grayson's compliment to Miss Doris Dieterich, who became the bride of Mr. Albert B. Marine on June 2, was a miscellaneous shower at her home last week.

Beautiful flowers arranged with artistry formed the background for the guests who were served delicious refreshments following the presentation of the gifts.

The tea table in the dining room held assorted cakes and confections served by Mrs. R. L. Grayson, Mrs. Harvard Nix and Mrs. Mae J. Williams.

Marriages Of Ann Platt And Jane Burgess Will Take Place Here This Month

Announcements Claim Considerable Interest

Miss Platt Will Wed Francis Cameron Payne And Miss Burgess Will Wed William Adams

The years roll by, "chance and change and busy ever," but June continues to be the month of brides. Stars for a day in the one romantic drama that even in this modern age of commercialism, materialism and realism still survive. The survival of the sentimental, so to speak.

Two June weddings of considerable social import are being announced today. One will take place on June 17 and the other on June 28.

The announcements follow:

Mr. John Warren Platt announces the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Ann, to Mr. Francis Cameron Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith Benjamin Payne of Greenville, Miss.

The wedding, a quiet one, will take place June 28, at Grace church with relatives and intimate friends in attendance.

Miss Platt, one of Monroe's most charming personalities, is the daughter of Mr. John Warren Platt and the late Olive Reily Platt. She is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school, of which her mother was a member of the faculty before her marriage. Miss Platt was graduated from the Louisiana state university, class of 1934, and is a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

Mr. Payne, a resident of Shreveport, is a graduate of Tulane university, class of 1933, and is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter Burgess announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jane, to Mr. William Adams, son of Mrs. J. L. Adams and the late Dr. Jesse Adams, the wedding to take place June 17.

Miss Burgess, charming member of the younger set, is a graduate of Gulf Park college, Gulfport, Miss., and attended Stephens college, Columbia, Mo.

Mr. Adams was graduated from the Louisiana State university and is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

The wedding will be a fashionable al fresco event, taking place in the gardens of the Burgess home on the bank of Bayou DeSiard at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. George Anzelmo and daughter, of 801 Pine street, are leaving today for Chicago for a month's visit with Mrs. Anzelmo's mother.

After a short visit in the home of Mrs. E. L. McNeill, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Thomas Evans are returning today to their home in New Orleans, accompanied by their little niece, Jayne Pearce, and her nurse. Jayne will be the guest of her aunt and uncle during the summer months while her mother, Mrs. Addie Pearce, is engaged in a special course of study at the University of Arkansas.

P.-T. A. News

Mr. Clinton Miller, who has been employed by the Louisiana Central Lumber company to direct the recreative program being sponsored by the Clarks P.-T. A. unit for the summer months, was present at the meeting of the unit held at the Baptist church on Tuesday evening, and made an interesting talk on "Physical Education." He outlined his plan of activities for all ages, and extended a cordial invitation to all persons to participate.

Mr. Miller also urged all persons to cooperate in getting the band members of the Columbia, Grayson and Clarks school bands to attend the band classes to be held at Clarks, once each two weeks during the summer months. Mr. Stopher, band director of Caldwell parish school bands during the last year, has also been employed by the Louisiana Central Lumber company of Clarks under the recreative schedule of the local P.-T. A. unit, to return to Clarks to conduct these classes during the summer months.

The following officers and committees that have been elected or appointed to serve the unit for the ensuing year were announced by Mrs. Walter Crowell, presiding at this meeting: Mrs. V. E. Lewis, president; Mrs. W. L. McDermott, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. H. O. Cooksey, vice-president; Mrs. Mayo M. Iles, Mrs. H. A. Cobb and Mrs. Katie Harris, publicity committee; Mrs. H. O. Cooksey, Mrs. W. P. Banks, Mrs. George Streetman, Mrs. Grady Johnson and Miss Fannie Beam, membership committee; Mrs. E. P. Chapman, and Mrs. Waymon Johnston, hospitality committee; Miss Vivian Jones, Mrs. Walter Crowell and Mrs. P. E. Cooksey, program committee; and Mr. Clinton Miller, Mr. E. P. Chapman, Sr., and Mr. Sam Bass, Sr., recreation committee.

These officers and committees and others to be appointed will assume their official duties at the next meeting of the unit, to be held on the last Tuesday in June, at the Baptist church.

Of interest to friends in this section is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mable Williams of Quitman, and Mr. Grover Brown of Forrest.

The wedding was solemnized in Monroe, Saturday evening, May 27.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams of Quitman. Mr. Brown attended Louisiana Tech at Ruston and is a member of the Quitman High school faculty.

Judge and Mrs. Benjamin Dawkins have returned from a visit in Shreveport where they were privileged to make the acquaintance of their first grandchild, Cynthia Ashley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Dawkins, Jr., who arrived at the Tri-State hospital, May 30.

Miss Jane Dawkins left Thursday for Staunton, Va., to attend commencement at her alma mater, Mary Baldwin college. Later she will visit friends in Newport News, Va., and then continue her journey to New York City where she will join Mrs. F. P. Stubbs on a conducted tour including a visit to the World's fair.

Mrs. Fred Fudickar has returned from Columbia, Mo., where she was privileged to attend the graduation of her daughter, Miss Mary Louise Fudickar, from Stephens college. Miss Fudickar accompanied her mother home.

Mrs. Benton Holt, accompanied by her son, Benton, Jr., motored to Baton Rouge to be present at the graduation of her daughter, Miss Thyra Holt, from the state university. Miss Holt accompanied them home for the summer. She will return to the university in September to complete a course in library science.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Winkler, Jr., last week were Miss Minnie Cairnes of Baltimore, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grace and Miss Rose Lee Grace of Plaquemine.

Mrs. E. N. LeVasseur and daughter, Ernestine, are visiting Mrs. LeVasseur's mother and other relatives at Spring Hill.

SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC'

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER XIII

If Emily had expected her blunt statement to surprise Eric, she was not disappointed.

"You're doing what?" he shouted over the wire.

"But I can't leave the dam now, Emily. Things are in bad shape here. The water is rising—"

"Please, Eric." The appeal in her voice could not be denied. "You are the only person I could turn to. I need you."

"Well . . . all right. I'll be there within an hour."

But it was almost two hours before she let him in the door, wet and dripping. His clothes, his boots were mud spattered. There were dark circles under his eyes, as if he had not slept for nights.

The moment he saw her all the love he had tried so hard to put from him, claimed him again. She was so small, so helpless, so forlornly alone. Her eyes were red from weeping, but she managed a wry smile as he took her hands. Eric wanted to enfold her in his arms, comfort her, tell her of his love. Instead he said:

"Just what is this all about? What's this about your leaving Alan?" He tried to make his voice sound stern, matter of fact.

"It's true," Emily answered. "I am leaving. I'll got back to St. Louis, then to Reno. I can't go on here."

"What happened, Emily? Why this sudden decision? Don't rush into anything you'll regret later."

"I know what I'm doing—and I won't regret it, Eric. Alan turned down the chance to go to St. Louis tonight. Wired Dr. Peterson that he was staying in Sumner. . . . Well—I'm not!" Emily's eyes blazed.

"Where is Alan now?" Eric asked.

"At the hospital—with one of the patients that helped wreck our marriage. Oh, I'm not blaming them, entirely," she added quickly. "If it hadn't been Mrs. Howland and Grandma Frank it would have been someone else. There always would have been someone he couldn't leave.

"It's been wrong ever since I came here. You saw only a little of it, while you were here—it's been like that for a year—"

Self-pity welled up within her. Eric listened understandingly while she poured out her story of that hateful year—a year of loneliness and discontent. Try as he would to defend Alan's actions, Eric found himself admitting that Emily's decision was not without justification. He let her talk on and on, and her returning composure was his reward.

A sudden meeting, a girl he could not forget, and a blizzard had drawn him, as if by fate, into the tangled pattern of their lives. What role was he to play? Would Alan believe that he had nothing to do with Emily's decision? Was there any hope of the future—with Emily? Could he face Alan, secretly happy, as he had to admit he was, that Emily soon would be free? Emily's voice was lost in the flood of questions that assailed him. Suddenly he realized that she had stopped speaking.

"What do you plan to do, Emily?" he asked.

"Reno, first; after that, I suppose I'll go back home and try to pick up where I left off a year ago. Work and play can make one forget.

A question trembled on Eric's lips. He did not want to ask it, but he could not help himself. Loving Emily, he had to know.

"Is there any place in your plans for me?" he asked slowly.

"Frankly, Eric, I don't know." Eric knew she was telling the truth. "Please don't forget me; please don't leave me to face it alone. Together, perhaps, we can find the old gang and all the old fun at home again. You will help me, won't you?"

"I want to marry you, Emily," he said simply.

"You're sweet, and kind, Eric," Emily said. "But I'm not sure. Right now I'm still married to Alan—and I'm still in love with him. That sounds funny, doesn't it? But it is true. One can't idolize a man for five years and then suddenly get over it all at once.

"Ever since we came to Sumner, Alan apparently has been trying to kill my love for him. Love can't last forever if it is not returned. Alan's profession, not his wife, is his real love. His practice always comes first; I really don't matter much to him. Even tonight, when I needed him most, he left me."

"He's a doctor, Emily. Did you expect him to stay?"

"No. . . . But you—you were having trouble at the dam, you are not my husband—yet when I called you . . . you came."

"I'll always be here if you need me. I love you, Emily."

"I know you do, Eric. . . . That's why it's so difficult to tell you—to ask you to wait, just a little longer."

"I've waited six years, with a lot less hope than I have now." Kane paused. "Okay. You make the rules; I'll play your way. Perhaps—some day—"

"Thanks, Eric."

"But there's one thing I must do," Eric said. "I have to tell Alan. He must know that I love you. I can't have him thinking that I came into his home and deliberately tried to steal his wife—"

"He knows. . . . I told him that you had kissed me, the night of the dance. And he doesn't blame you, Eric," Emily continued. "It was your kiss, I am sure, that brought him to his senses, made him accept Dr. Peterson's offer. He wrote the letter the next day. But when the time came to sign the contract, to get away from Sumner, he wouldn't do it. He never will."

"Don't judge too hastily," Eric advised. "If the thought that you—that some other man was in love with you—made him accept the offer, maybe the threat of a divorce will make him change his mind."

Loyal to Alan, Eric grasped at anything in an effort to save Alan's happiness. Alan had saved his life. He felt he must pay that debt, if he could, even if it cost him Emily.

"You don't know Alan," Emily said. "He's made up his mind and nothing will ever change him. After I told him I was leaving, there was still time to catch the midnight train—still time to reach Dr. Peterson. But he went to the hospital. No, Eric, if our marriage is to go on, I'll have to be the one to give in; Alan never will."

Kane knew she was right. That stubborn devotion to purpose was evident in everything Alan did. Although Alan was slow to jump at conclusions, slow to make decisions when he did make them they were final and irrevocable. His tentative acceptance of the St. Louis offer had been, Eric realized, only an effort to gain more time, to stave off the inevitable showdown.

Yes, Emily was right. If there was to be any surrender, she must make it. Alan was staying in Sumner, with or without Emily.

And if Emily did not surrender, if she did get her divorce, could he even hope—? Eric put the selfish thought from his mind. His dreams, his future had no place here. First he must make every effort to save Alan's home.

That Galahad spirit must be contagious, he thought, smiling. But it was not being Galahad alone that made him want to do all in his power to hold Emily and Alan together. If the break did come, Emily must be thoroughly convinced that it was all over—that there would be no returning. Only when she was certain of that, only when she was sure that all her love for Alan was dead, would she turn to Eric. Right now she regarded him as her best friend, a friend who sympathized, who understood. That was the role in which she had cast him; that was the role he must accept, for a time at least.

He hardly noticed when Emily left the room to answer the doorbell, so engrossed was he in his thoughts. Then he heard Dr. Farrell's voice, echoing throughout the house. Farrell here, too? What brought him?

Farrell greeted him without warmth. Eric could see that the doctor did not welcome his presence. But Farrell had little time for Kane. Almost savagely the old physician, now suddenly grown older, turned to Emily.

"My God, Emily," he asked, his voice trembling with emotion, "what have you done to Alan?"

Young Man and Young Woman Graduate, Your Future Is in Your Hands---Have You Made Any Plans for Insuring the Future?

B. M. I. was founded for the purpose of bridging the gap between general education and the definite requirements of the highly specialized profession known as business. The standard of this institution has been held high for it is our conviction that a mediocre training is not sufficient. This policy accounts for so many of our graduates being in executive and semi-executive positions.

Most of you who finished high school this week plan on attending some advanced educational institution. All of you will not choose business, yet many of you will, and to those of you who do, B. M. I. has many excellent advantages to offer.

There are many advantages to entering B. M. I. NOW, chiefly, your mind will be active and naturally better work can be done. Also, by beginning at once, you will be three months ahead of the person who waits until September—three months saved in the beginning will mean employment that much earlier. Join the large number of young men and women who have already enrolled—start insuring your future tomorrow!

Marriages Of Ann Platt And Jane Burgess Will Take Place Here This Month

Announcements Claim Considerable Interest

The years roll by, "chance and change and busy ever," but June continues to be the month of brides. Stars for a day in the one romantic drama that even in this modern age of commercialism, materialism and realism still survive. The survival of the sentimental, so to speak.

Two June weddings of considerable social import are being announced today. One will take place on June 17 and the other on June 28.

The announcements follow:

Mr. John Warren Platt announces the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Ann, to Mr. Francis Cameron Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith Benjamin Payne of Greenville, Miss.

The wedding, a quiet one, will take place June 28, at Grace church with relatives and intimate friends in attendance.

Miss Platt, one of Monroe's most charming personalities, is the daughter of Mr. John Warren Platt and the late Olive Bell Platt. She is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school, of which her mother was a member of the faculty before her marriage. Miss Platt was graduated from the Louisiana State university, class of 1931 and is a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

Mr. Payne, a resident of Shreveport, is a graduate of Tulane university, class of [illegible], and is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Burgess announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jane, to Mr. William Adams, son of Mrs. J. L. Adams and the late Dr. Jesse Adams, the wedding to take place June 17.

Miss Burgess, charming member of the younger set, is a graduate of Gulf Park college, Gulfport, Miss., and attended Stephens college, Columbia, Mo.

Mr. Adams was graduated from the Louisiana State university and is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

The wedding will be a fashionable al fresco event taking place in the garden of the Burgess home on the bank of Bayou DeSiard at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. George Ar[illegible] and daughter of 801 Pine street are leaving today for Chicago for a month's visit with Mrs. Ar[illegible] [illegible].

After a short visit in the home of Mrs. E. L. McN[illegible], Mr. and Mrs. Neal Thomas Fo[illegible] [illegible] their home in [illegible] accompanied by their [illegible] Pearce and [illegible] the guest of her a[illegible] during the summer [illegible] mother, Mrs. [illegible] Pearce is engaged in a special course of study at the University of Arkansas.

P.-T. A. News

Mr. Clinton Miller, who has been employed by the Louisiana Central Lumber company to direct the recreative program being sponsored by the Clarks P.-T. A. unit for the summer months, was present at the meeting of the unit held at the Baptist church on Tuesday evening, and made an interesting talk on "Physical Education." He outlined his plan of activities for all ages, and extended a cordial invitation to all persons to participate.

Mr. Miller also urged all persons to cooperate in getting the band members of the Columbia, Grayson and Clarks school bands to attend the band classes to be held at Clarks, once each two weeks during the summer months. Mr. Stopher, band director of Caldwell parish school bands during the last year, has also been employed by the Louisiana Central Lumber company of Clarks under the recreative schedule of the local P.-T. A. unit to return to Clarks to conduct these classes during the summer months.

The following officers and committees that have been elected or appointed to serve the unit for the ensuing year were announced by Mrs. Walter Caldwell, presiding at this meeting: Mrs. V. E. Lewis, president; Mrs. W. L. McDermott, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. H. O. Cooksey, vice-president; Mrs. Mayo Miles, Mrs. H. A. Cobb and Mrs. Katie Harris, publicity committee; Mrs. H. O. Cooksey, Mrs. W. P. Banks, Mrs. George Streetman, Mrs. Grady Johnson and Miss Fannie Beam, membership committee; Mrs. E. P. Chapman and Mrs. Wa[illegible], hospitality committee; Miss Vivian Jones, Mrs. Walter Crowell and Mrs. P. F. Cooksey, program committee, and Mr. Clinton Miller, Mr. E. P. Chapman, Sr., and Mr. Sam Ross, Sr., recreation committee.

These officers and committees and others to be appointed will assume their official duties at the next meeting of the unit to be held on the last Tuesday in June at the Baptist church.

Of interest to friends in this section is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mable Williams of Quitman and Mr. Grover Brown of [illegible].

The wedding was solemnized in Monroe Saturday evening, May 27.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams of Quitman. Mr. Brown attended Louisiana Tech at Ruston and is a member of the Quitman High school faculty.

Judge and Mrs. Benjamin Dawkins have returned from a visit in Shreveport where they were privileged to make the acquaintance of their first grandchild, Cynthia Ashley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Dawkins, Jr., who arrived at the Tri-State hospital May 23.

Mrs. Jane Dawkins left Thursday for Staunton, Va., to attend commencement at her alma mater, Mary Baldwin college. Later she will visit friends in Newport News, Va., and then continue her journey to New York City where she will join Mrs. F. P. Stubbs on a conducted tour including a visit to the World's fair.

Mrs. Fred Fudickar has returned from Columbia, Mo., where she was privileged to attend the graduation of her daughter, Miss Mary Louise Fudickar, from Stephens college. Miss Fudickar accompanied her mother home.

Mrs. Burton Hall, accompanied by her son Burton, Jr., motored to Baton Rouge to be present at the graduation of her daughter, Miss Thora Hall, from the state university. Miss Hall accompanied them home for the summer. She will return to the university in September to complete a course in library science.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. W[illegible], Jr., last week were Miss M[illegible] of Baltimore, Md., Mr. and Mrs. A[illegible] and Miss Rose Lee [illegible] of Plaquemine.

Mrs. F. N. DeV[illegible] and daughter [illegible] are visiting Mrs. DeV[illegible]'s mother and other relatives at Spring H[illegible].

SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC'

BY TOM HORNER

CHAPTER XIII

If Emily had expected her blunt statement to surprise Eric, she was not disappointed.

"You're doing what?" he shouted over the wire.

"But I can't leave the farm now, Emily. Things are in bad shape here. The water is rising."

"Please, Eric." The appeal in her voice could not be denied. "You are the only person I could turn to. I need you."

But it was almost two hours before she let him in the door, wet and [illegible]. His clothes, his boots, were mud-spattered. There were dark circles under his eyes, as if he had not slept for nights.

The moment he saw her all the love he had tried so hard to put from him, came to him again. She was so small, so helpless, so forlornly alone. Her eyes were red from weeping, but she managed a wan smile as he took her hand. Eric wanted to enfold her in his arms, comfort her, tell her of his love. Instead he said:

"Just what is this all about? What's this about your leaving Alan?" He tried to make his voice sound stern, matter of fact.

"It's true," Emily answered. "I am leaving. I'll go back to St. Louis, then to Reno. I can't go on here."

"What happened, Emily? Why this sudden decision? Don't rush into anything you'll regret later."

"I know what I'm doing—and I won't regret it, Eric. Alan turned down the chance to go to St. Louis tonight. Wired Dr. Peterson that he was staying in Sumner . . . Well—I'm not!" Emily's eyes blazed.

B. M. I. SUMMER TERM
BEGINS TOMORROW!

Young Man and Young Woman Graduate, Your Future Is in Your Hands---Have You Made Any Plans for Insuring the Future?

B. M. I. was founded for the purpose of bridging the gap between general education and the definite requirements of the highly specialized profession known as business. The standard of this institution has been held high for it is our conviction that a mediocre training is not sufficient. This policy accounts for so many of our graduates being in executive and semi-executive positions.

Most of you who finished high school this week plan on attending some advanced educational institution. All of you will not choose business, yet many of you will, and to those of you who do, B. M. I. has many excellent advantages to offer.

There are many advantages to entering B. M. I. NOW, chiefly, your mind will be active and naturally better work can be done. Also, by beginning at once, you will be three months ahead of the person who waits until September—three months saved in the beginning will mean employment that much earlier. Join the large number of young men and women who have already enrolled—start insuring your future tomorrow!

NOW! COMPLETELY AIR-COOLED!
Workmen will in the next few days begin the installation of a new, modern air-cooling system for your comfort!

To these Carrier-Salesmen who are graduating from school. The money they earned helped to pay their school expenses and buy their clothes. Thus, they not only earn money that helps to pay their expenses while in school, but acquire business fundamentals of BUSINESS SERVICE, COLLECTING, SALESMANSHIP and BOOKKEEPING. The experience they gain as Carrier-Salesmen will be of great value to them in any business or profession they choose to enter.

Misses Cole, McHenry Feted At Plantation

Mrs. A. R. Taylor Gives Informal Affair With Two Local Graduates As Guests Of Honor

Formality was conspicuous by its absence at the plantation home of Mrs. A. R. Taylor last night where guests were given a generous slice of rustic life by their charming hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Minnie Ruffin.

Miss Mable Cole and Miss Martha Wilton McHenry, popular members of this year's high school graduating class, were the inspiration for this delightful evening in Mrs. Taylor's hospitable country home.

City life was just a dim reality in this quiet spot where candles supplied the illumination indoors and lanterns shed a thin ray of light along the driveway.

Scraping of "fiddles" was the signal for everyone to salute his partner in the Virginia reel and the old fashioned square dance in the spacious living room where candles gleamed in the background.

A buffet was set in the dining room where guests were privileged to serve themselves throughout the evening. Trays of baked ham, salads, pastries and other edibles associated with the abundant life enjoyed by our country friends were placed along the candlelit, flower adorned buffet.

Guests were also privileged to enjoy the beauty of the moonlit garden where the barbecue pits with glowing coals invited those who so desired to roast "wieners," and dine al fresco.

Thirty or more guests, including the two guests of honor, Miss Cole and Miss McHenry, in crisp cotton frocks, enjoyed this gracious hospitality.

Mangham

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Hixon had as recent guest W. P. Webb of Gloster, Miss.

Mrs. Mable Nash entertained at bridge. Those enjoying the evening were Mrs. Dow Case, Mrs. Linda Pardue, Mrs. E. D. Baker, Mrs. M. K. McConnell, Miss George Huff, Miss Elizabeth Parham, Miss Ethel Watson and Mrs. Nash.

Miss Ethel Watson and mother, Mrs. Alex Watson, were hostesses to two tables of contract at their home. Those enjoying the games were Mrs. W. E. Hixon, Mrs. Mattie Gauldon, Mrs. L. Pardue, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. McConnell and Mrs. E. D. Baker.

Among the visitors to Baton Rouge recently were Mr. W. O. Noble, Miss Bessie Noble, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Graves, Mrs. Nathan Blair and Mr. W. E. Hixon. Mr. Graves will remain in Baton Rouge for several weeks, visiting relatives.

Miss Katherine Curry visited her sister, Mrs. Shelton Poland of Jena.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. DeMoss, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Will Rogers visited friends at Tallulah and Vicksburg, Miss., recently.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Randall left for Pleasant Hill, where Mrs. Randall will reside with her mother while Mr. Randall goes to summer school at L. S. U.

Mrs. Ed Tillman had as her guest her mother, Mrs. Lige Gregory, of Castor.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Humble, Jr., visited Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Thomas of Austin, Tex.

Mrs. Foster Rowan and little son of Baton Rouge were guests of her mother, Mrs. Mae Sayre.

Mrs. Dow Case left here to join her husband, who is employed by the Louisiana highway commission at Mer Rouge.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Gladney of Farmerville were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Judd and Mrs. Gwin.

Those two frocks illustrate the fashion world's interest in backs. The evening gown is designed with a skirt alternating narrow bands of black and white lace and sweeping into fullness in the back, where it is topped by a big bustle bow of black faille to match the bodice. The tunic top of the black chiffon cocktail frock rounds upward like an apron in the back and is finished with a soft black chiffon bow. Both gowns were designed by Milgrim.

⁘ CHURCHES ⁘

ASSEMBLY OF GOD

West Monroe
E. L. Tanner, Pastor

Tonight will be the closing service of the revival. Rev. George Hayes will speak at the morning service on "The Sons of Abraham." His subject for the evening service will be "The Unpardonable Sin." Don't fail to hear him at both services today. Sunday school will meet in all departments at 9:45 a.m. with D. O. McDaniel superintendent. If you are not attending other church schools we invite you to meet with us, we have a class for the entire family. We begin a two weeks Daily Vacation Bible school Monday. We want every child from five years up, who live in reach of this church, to attend this school. The hours will be from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. each day except Saturday.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

R. T. Watson, Minister
Hodge Mason, Church School Supt.
Mrs. P. J. Newman, Choir Director

Church school at 9:45 a.m. A Children's Day progam will be presented during the church school hour. A special offering for foreign missions will be taken. Worship services at 10:50 a.m. There will be special music by the choir, the observance of the Lord's Supper, and a sermon, entitled, "Prerequisites of Pentecost." The Young People's C. E. society will meet at 6:45 p.m. The Intermediate C. E. society will meet at 7:15 p.m. The evening service of worship will begin at 7:45 p.m. There will be special music by the mixed quartet. The sermon will be, "A Child in the Midst." Our mid-week Bible study will be held Wednesday at 7:45 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Easterling, 2706 1-2 South Grand street. We are invited to conduct a service for the Winnsboro Christian church, Thursday evening at 7:45.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH WEST MONROE

Dr. A. E. Prince, Pastor
Prof. Dallas Goss, Music Director
Miss Beulah Doerr, Educational Director

The pastor will be in his pulpit at both services Sunday. The ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the morning service. The pastor's subject for this hour will be "Three Things at the Table of Our Lord." All members of the church should be present to observe this ordinance.

The Sunday school opens promptly at 9:45 a.m. Be on time. The B. T. U. and Brotherhood meet promptly at 7 o'clock. The pastor will preach at 8 p.m.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH

812 Mississippi Street
I. J. Brooks, Pastor

Someone has said that "The Sunday Morning Church Bell tolls the spiritual death of the member who does not come." And another has said that: "A man never gets too busy to attend his own funeral." Our church doors stand wide open every Sunday, the people and pastor invite you. The tried and tempted souls of men and women will here find hope and strength for the battle of life, if you do not go to some of the other splendid churches in the city, won't you come to the "Little Country Church," as some one has lovingly designated it. Come at 9:45 a.m. to be on time for Sunday school, and at 7:00 p.m. to be on time for B. T. U. The pastor's morning subject will be: "The Tragedy of Usefulness" (Luke 13:6-9). The evening sermon will be evangelistic.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

3400 Lee Avenue
D. D. Cantrell, Pastor

The Sunday school begins the new month today, beginning at 9:45 a.m., the children's service preceding the class work. The great lesson subject should challenge our people to our best. The entire Sunday school staff greatly desires the presence of all the enrollment today. The Bible is the text book. Bring it along with you. The morning worship service will be dedicated to those who have graduated from high school recently, and to those now in college. We urge all to be present for the morning service. The pastor's morning subject is "Youth and Yokes," the evening subject is, "Voices Calling." We welcome all our friends to worship with us in these services. A large group of our people will visit the homes of our neighborhood Sunday afternoon and take religious census. We hope all the people will welcome them in and give to us this information in order that we may know our people and prospects better. The Baptist Training union will meet today at 6:45 p.m. Be on time for the splendid program arranged for the hour; we have a group for all ages and a welcome for all people; come. Luke 6:46 is our theme thought for the day.

"Thus speaketh Christ our Lord to us:
Ye call me Master, and obey me not;
Ye call me Light, and see me not;
Ye call me Way, and walk me not;
Ye call me Life, and desire me not;
Ye call me Wise, and follow me not;
Ye call me Fair, and love me not;
Ye call me Rich, and ask me not;
Ye call me Gracious, and trust me not;
Ye call me Jesus, and fear me not;
If I condemn you, blame me not."

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

Auburn Ave. And North Second St.

"God The Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, June 4, 1939.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." (Gen. 1.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause. To grasp the reality and order of being in its science, you must begin by reckoning God as the Divine Principle of all that really is." (Pp. 207, 275.)

GRACE CHURCH

Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Services for Trinity Sunday, the octave of Pentecost or Whitsunday, are as follows: The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. Church school will convene at 9:30 a.m., and a choral celebration of the Eucharist and sermon by the rector at 10:45 o'clock. Evensong will be said and sermon preached in St. David's, Rayville, at 4 p.m. The church's services have culminated. Today they mount up to the throne of the Godhead; for, knowing the Son and the Holy Ghost, we know the Father also, and thus these three are not three Gods, but one God. The church today celebrates the glory and majesty of God in His essence and in His works. In the word Trinity, she simply sums up what is revealed concerning Him, that in substance He is One, but, in persons three. "For that which we believe of thy glory, O Father, the same we believe of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, without any difference of inequality." The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH

Harrison And D'Arbonne Streets
Sherrouse Addition
Vernon C. Grosse, Pastor

Church services will be held at the usual time, 10:45 a.m. The Rev. A. Lindner of El Dorado, Ark., will conduct the service. You are cordially invited to attend the preaching of the Word.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

'The Church With the Lighted Steeple'
Walter C. Scott, Minister

Sunday services begin at 11 in the morning and 7:45 in the evening. We invite you to worship with us. This is Communion Sunday when the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. The theme of the communion meditation will be "Which is Your Answer?" based on the Scripture found in Matthew 27:22.

The Woman's Missionary society will meet at the church on Tuesday for the business meeting. On Wednesday evening at 7:45 members of the Parker Memorial class will meet at the home of Mrs. A. R. Holloway for the social and business meeting. A full attendance is urged as this will be the last of this kind until September.

The Vacation church school will open on Monday, June 12, and last for two weeks with classes each morning from 8:30 till 11 o'clock, for primary and junior children, ages 6-11. The Intermediates, ages 12, 13, and 14, will have classes each evening from 7 to 9.

Sunday, June 11 is Layman's day and will be appropriately observed. A splendid program is being arranged by the laymen of this church. Professor William Phelps of Centenary college, an outstanding layman of Shreveport, will be the guest speaker. The public is invited.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

West Monroe
C. Karlos Smith, Pastor

This is an ideal time to attend church and Sunday school. It is not too hot or too cold and there is no reason for not having the largest congregations of any time of the year. Let us prove that the "summer slump" is just an idea without foundation. Our services will be held as usual during the summer. The Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. and the preaching services at 11:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. On last Sunday night the lights were out and we held the entire preaching service in the dark; had a great service and the people unable to see the speaker could hear the sermon just as well as though the church had been brilliantly lighted. We invite the public to every service and appreciate your attendance. R. M. McClendon, our church school superintendent, will be waiting for you Sunday a.m. at 9:45 and there will be a class for every member of your family. The music is of the most inspirational order directed by G. C. Williams assisted by Miss Madia McClendon and a fine choir.

"The church with a welcome to everybody."

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST

J. M. Alford, Pastor

All the regular services at Gordon Avenue Methodist church will be held at the usual time today with the church school opening at 9:45 a.m. with the worship service at 11:00 o'clock. The pastor will fill the pulpits at Mangham and Union today for the pastor, Rev. W. W. Perry, but will be back for the evening hour 7:45. Wallace Reeves, one of our own young men, who is a ministerial student, will occupy the pulpit for us at the morning hour. It is expected that a large congregation will assemble to hear his first message in his home church, on the subject: "The Will of God."

The subject for the evening service will be along evangelistic lines. The two Epworth leagues will assemble at 6:45 p.m. The Missionary society will meet at the church Tuesday afternoon for the regular monthly business program. We all are charmed with our new song books, "The Worship Hymnal," and the choir which meets every Friday evening for practice, is learning a number of special songs with Mrs. Walter Perkins and Mrs. Henry Deal leaders.

STONE AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH

Stone Avenue And South Third
I. L. Yeager, Pastor

Early in the Christian era, Paul and Silas, two devout followers of Christ, because of their loyalty to Him, were cast into a Philipian jail. In the midst of their persecution they prayed and sang praises unto God. Through the medium of an earthquake God recognized them, thereby opening the prison doors, loosed their bands and set them at liberty. The jailer came trembling, and cried: "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" The answer was: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." Acts 16:25-31.

This, today, is the only hope of salvation. "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ."

Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p.m. Evangelistic service at 7:30 p.m. Circle meetings Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Bible study Thursday evening at 7:30. The tenth chapter of Revelation will be the evening lesson. We invite you to attend these services.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Thomas At Richmond Street
G. M. And Ina Lee Akin, Pastors

Is it well with thee? Is it well with thy husband? Is it well with the child? These are very pointed questions which Elisha, the prophet, asked concerning her family. It is interesting to know that salvation is a family affair. It comprehends the needs of the entire household. Not one left out, or overlooked. Therefore, whoever we are, or wherever we may be, we may confidently "come boldly to the throne of grace, where we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help us in time of need." Mercy obtained and grace found by all who come. What an incentive this should be for all men everywhere!

The church offers to you the following periods of worship on the Lord's day: Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. S. P. Quigley, superintendent. Preaching at 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Morning subject: "After the Revival, What?" The theme for the evening sermon shall be, "The Most Needful Thing." The young peoples meeting shall be conducted at 6:45 o'clock in the evening. O. L. Hoskins, Mrs. E. L. Hoskins, and Miss Marie Venable shall be in charge. The W. F. M. S. will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. G. M. Akin, president. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:45 p.m.

THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Grammont At Catalpa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor

"The Final Doxology" and "Can We Hide Our Meanness?" are the themes of our messages. With your presence, we shall think together about religion at its best, what it does for the believer, and the inspiration it brings; and the obvious fact that sin cannot be covered.

Our Sabbath school has been set up for our enlightenment. Will you study the Word with us today? The happy person is the one who appreciates the book—"His delight is in the Law of the Lord and in His doth he meditate night and day."

A most urgent invitation is extended you to worship with us this Holy Sabbath. A sincere welcome awaits you.

At D. Masur

ALL MEN are born equal—but they don't grow up that way. Some are real tall and slender—others are built like giants. Then there's the fellow who is too short or too fat, and still others whose particular shapes make it next to impossible for them to buy ready-made clothes that fit properly. Men of these types will be pleased with the service that D. Masur & Sons can render them. This shop makes it their specialty to fit men who are hard to fit. Such quality as Hart Schaffner & Marx and Campus Togs will be found. But, if for any reason they prefer made-to-measure clothes they are in a position to take care of their needs at any price desired. "From the cheapest that's good to the finest that's made." Misses Cole, McHenry Feted At Plantation

Mrs. A. R. Taylor Gives Informal Affair With Two Local Graduates As Guests Of Honor

Formality was conspicuous by its absence at the plantation home of Mrs. A. R. Taylor last night where guests were given a generous slice of rustic life by their charming hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Minnie Ruffin.

Miss Mable Cole and Miss Martha Wilton McHenry, popular members of this year's high school graduating class, were the inspiration for this delightful evening in Mrs. Taylor's hospitable country home.

City life was just a dim reality in this quiet spot where candles supplied the illumination indoors and lanterns shed a thin ray of light along the driveway.

Scraping of "fiddles" was the signal for everyone to salute his partner in the Virginia reel and the old fashioned square dance in the spacious living room where candles gleamed in the background.

A buffet was set in the dining room where guests were privileged to serve themselves throughout the evening. Trays of baked ham, salads, pastries and other edibles associated with the abundant life enjoyed by our country friends were placed along the candlelit, flower adorned buffet.

Guests were also privileged to enjoy the beauty of the moonlit garden where the barbecue pits with glowing coals invited those who so desired to roast "wieners," and dine al fresco.

Thirty or more guests, including the two guests of honor, Miss Cole and Miss McHenry, in crisp cotton frocks, enjoyed this gracious hospitality.

Mangham

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Hixon had as recent guest W. P. Webb of Gloster, Miss.

Mrs. Mable Nash entertained at bridge. Those enjoying the evening were Mrs. Dow Case, Mrs. Linda Pardue, Mrs. E. D. Baker, Mrs. M. K. McConnell, Miss George Huff, Miss Elizabeth Parham, Miss Ethel Watson and Mrs. Nash.

Miss Ethel Watson and mother, Mrs. Alex Watson, were hostesses to two tables of contract at their home. Those enjoying the games were Mrs. W. E. Hixon, Mrs. Mattie Gaulden, Mrs. L. Pardue, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. McConnell and Mrs. E. D. Baker.

Among the visitors to Baton Rouge recently were Mr. W. O. Noble, Miss Bessie Noble, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Graves, Mrs. Nathan Bivar and Mr. W. E. Hixon. Mr. Graves will remain in Baton Rouge for several weeks visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. DeMoss Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Will Rogers visited friends at Tallulah and Vicksburg, Miss., recently.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Randall left for Pleasant Hill, where Mrs. Randall will reside with her mother while Mr. Randall goes to summer school at L. S. U.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Humble Jr. visited Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Thomas of Austin, Tex.

Mrs. Foster Rowan and little son of Baton Rouge were guests of her mother, Mrs. Mae Sayre.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Gladney of Farmerville were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Judd and Mrs. Goin.

These two frocks illustrate the fashion world's interest in backs. The evening gown is designed with a skirt alternating narrow bands of black and white lace and sweeping into fullness in the back where it is topped by a big bustle bow of black faille to match the bodice. The tunic top of the black chiffon cocktail frock rounds upward like an apron in the back and is finished with a soft black chiffon bow. Both gowns were designed by Milgrim.

CHURCHES

ASSEMBLY OF GOD
West Monroe
E. L. Tanner, Pastor

Tonight will be the closing service of the revival. Rev. George Hayes will speak at the morning service on "The Sons of Abraham." His subject for the evening service will be "The Unpardonable Sin." Don't fail to hear him at both services today. Sunday school will meet in all departments at 9:45 a.m. with D. O. McDaniel, superintendent. If you are not attending other Sunday schools we invite you to meet with us, as we have a class for the entire family. We are having a two weeks Daily Vacation Bible school. Monday. We want every child from five years up who lives in reach of the church to attend this school. The hours will be from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. each day except Saturday.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
R. T. Watson, Minister
Mrs. P. J. Newman, Choir Director

Church school at 9:45 a.m. A Children's Day program will be presented during the church school hour. A special offering for foreign missions will be taken. Worship services at 10:50 a.m. There will be special music by the choir, the observance of the Lord's Supper and a sermon entitled "Prerequisites of Pentecost." The Young People's C. E. society will meet at 6:45 p.m. The Intermediate C. E. society will meet at 7:15 p.m. The evening service of worship will begin at 7:45 p.m. There will be special music by the mixed quartet. The sermon will be "A [illegible] in the Midst." Our midweek Bible study will be held Wednesday at 7:45 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Easterline, 2706 1-2 South Grand street. We are invited to conduct a service for the Winnsboro Christian church, Thursday evening at 7:45.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH WEST MONROE
Dr. A. E. Prince, Pastor
Miss Beulah Doerr, Educational Director

The pastor will be in his pulpit at both services Sunday. The ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the morning service. The pastor's subject for this hour will be "Three Things at the Table of Our Lord." All members of the church should be present to observe this ordinance.

The Sunday school opens promptly at 9:45 a.m. Be on time. The B. T. U. and Brotherhood meet promptly at 7 o'clock. The pastor will preach at 8 p.m.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH
812 Mississippi Street
I. J. Brooks, Pastor

Someone has said that "The Sunday Morning Church Bell tolls the spiritual death of the member who does not come." And another has said that, "A man never gets too busy to attend his own funeral." Our church doors stand wide open every Sunday, the people and pastor invite you. The tired and tempted souls of men and women will here find hope and strength for the battle of life. If you do not go to some of the other splendid churches in the city, won't you come to the "Little Country Church," as some one has lovingly designated it. Come at 9:45 a.m. to be on time for Sunday school, and at 7:00 p.m. to be on time for B. T. U. The pastor's morning subject will be "The Tragedy of Uselessness" (Luke 13:6-9). The evening sermon will be evangelistic.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH
3100 Lee Avenue
D. D. Cantrell, Pastor

The Sunday school begins the new month today, beginning at 9:45 a.m., the children's service preceding the class work. The great lesson subject should challenge our people to our best. The entire Sunday school staff greatly desires the presence of all the enrollment today. The Bible is the text book. Bring it along with you. The morning worship service will be dedicated to those who have graduated from high school recently, and to those now in college. We urge all to be present for the morning service. The pastor's morning subject is "Youth and Yokes," the evening subject is "Voices Calling." We welcome all our friends to worship with us in these services. A large group of our people will visit the homes of our neighborhood Sunday afternoon and take religious census. We hope all the people will welcome them in and give to us this information in order that we may know our people and prospects better. The Baptist Training Union will meet today at 6:45 p.m. Be on time for the splendid program arranged for the hour, we have a group for all ages and a welcome for all people, come. Luke 6:46 is our theme thought for the day.

"Thus speaketh Christ our Lord to us:
Ye call me Master, and obey me not,
Ye call me Light, and see me not,
Ye call me Way, and walk me not,
Ye call me Life, and desire me not,
Ye call me Wise, and follow me not,
Ye call me Fair, and love me not,
Ye call me Rich, and ask me not,
Ye call me Gracious, and trust me not,
Ye call me Jesus, and fear me not,
If I condemn you, blame me not."

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
Auburn Ave. And North Second St.

"God The Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, June 4, 1939.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." (Gen. 1:1)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause. To grasp the reality and order of being in its Science, you must begin by reckoning God as the Divine Principle of all that really is." (P. 275.)

GRACE CHURCH
Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farron Hayward, Rector

Services for Trinity Sunday, the octave of Pentecost or Whitsunday, are as follows: The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. Church school will convene at 9:30 a.m., and a choral celebration of the Eucharist and sermon by the rector at 10:45 o'clock. Evensong will be said and sermon preached in St. David's, Rayville, at 4 p.m. The church's services have culminated. Today they mount up to the throne of the Godhead; for, knowing the Son and the Holy Ghost, we know the Father also, and thus these three are not three Gods but one God. The church today celebrates the glory and majesty of God in His essence and in His works. In the word Trinity, she simply sums up what is revealed concerning Him, that in substance He is One but in persons three. "For that which we believe of thy glory, O Father, the same we believe of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, without any difference of inequality." The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH
Harrison And D'Arbonne Streets
Sherrouse Addition
Vernon C. Gresse, Pastor

Church services will be held at the usual time, 10:45 a.m. The Rev. A. Laniner of El Dorado, Ark., will conduct the service. You are cordially invited to attend the preaching of the Word.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
'The Church With the Lighted Steeple'
Walter C. Scott, Minister

Sunday services begin at 11 in the morning and 7:45 in the evening. We invite you to worship with us. This is Communion Sunday when the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. The theme of the communion meditation will be "Which is Your Answer?" based on the Scripture found in Matthew 27:22.

The Woman's Missionary society will meet at the church on Tuesday for the business meeting. On Wednesday evening at 7:45 members of the Parker Memorial class will meet at the home of Mrs. A. R. Holloway for the social and business meeting. A full attendance is urged as this will be the last of this kind until September.

The Vacation church school will open on Monday, June 12, and last for two weeks with classes each morning from 8:30 till 11 o'clock, for primary and junior children, ages 6-11. The Intermediates, ages 12, 13, and 14, will have classes each evening from 7 to 9.

Sunday, June 11 is Layman's day and will be appropriately observed. A splendid program is being arranged by the laymen of this church. Professor William Phelps of Centenary college, an outstanding layman of Shreveport, will be the guest speaker. The public is invited.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
West Monroe
C. Karlos Smith, Pastor

This is an ideal time to attend church and Sunday school. It is not too hot or too cold and there is no reason for not having the largest congregations of any time of the year. Let us prove that the "summer slump" is just an idea without foundation. Our services will be held as usual during the summer. The Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. and the preaching services at 11:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. On last Sunday night the lights were out and we held the entire preaching service in the dark; had a great service and the people unable to see the speaker could hear the sermon just as well as though the church had been brilliantly lighted. We invite the public to every service and appreciate your attendance. R. M. McClendon, our church school superintendent, will be waiting for you Sunday a.m. at 9:45 and there will be a class for every member of your family. The music is of the most inspirational order directed by G. C. Williams assisted by Miss Madia McClendon and a fine choir.

"The church with a welcome to everybody."

J. M. Alford, Pastor

All the regular services at Gordon Avenue Methodist church will be held at the usual time today with the church school opening at 9:45 a.m. with the worship service at 11:00 o'clock. The pastor will fill the pulpits at Mangham and Union today for the pastor, Rev. W. W. Perry, but will be back for the evening hour 7:45. Wallace Reeves, one of our own young men, who is a ministerial student, will occupy the pulpit for us at the morning hour. It is expected that a large congregation will assemble to hear his first message in his home church, on the subject "The Will of God."

The subject for the evening service will be along evangelistic lines. The two Epworth leagues will assemble at 6:45 p.m. The Missionary society will meet at the church Tuesday afternoon for the regular monthly business program. We all are charmed with our new song books, "The Worship Hymnal," and the choir which meets every Friday evening for practice, is learning a number of special songs with Mrs. Walter Perkins and Mrs. Henry Deal leaders.

STONE AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
Stone Avenue And South Third
I. L. Yeager, Pastor

Early in the Christian era, Paul and Silas, two devout followers of Christ, because of their loyalty to Him were cast into a Philippian jail. In the midst of their persecution they prayed and sang praises unto God. Through the medium of an earthquake God recognized them, thereby opening the prison doors, loosed their bands and set them at liberty. The jailer came trembling, and cried: "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" The answer was: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." Acts 16:25-31.

This today is the only hope of salvation. "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ."

Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p.m. Evangelistic service at 7:30 p.m. Circle meetings Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Bible study Thursday evening at 7:30. The tenth chapter of Revelation will be the evening lesson. We invite you to attend these services.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
Thomas At Richmond Street
G. M. And Ina Lee Akin, Pastors

"Is it well with thee? Is it well with thy husband? Is it well with the child?" These are very pointed questions which Elisha, the prophet, asked concerning her family. It is interesting to know that salvation is a family affair. It comprehends the needs of the entire household. Not one left out, or overlooked. Therefore, whoever we are, or wherever we may be, we may confidently "come boldly to the throne of grace, where we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help us in time of need." Mercy obtained and grace found by all who come. What an incentive this should be for all men everywhere!

The church offers to you the following periods of worship on the Lord's day: Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. S. P. Quigley, superintendent. Preaching at 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Morning subject: "After the Revival, What?" The theme for the evening sermon shall be: "The Most Needful Thing." The young peoples meeting shall be conducted at 6:45 o'clock in the evening. O. L. Hoskins, Mrs. E. L. Hoskins and Miss Marie Venable shall be in charge. The W. F. M. S. will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. G. M. Akin, president. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:45 p.m.

THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont At Catalpa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor

"The Final Doxology" and "Can We Hide Our Meanness?" are the themes of our messages. With your presence, we shall think together about religion at its best, what it does for the believer and the inspiration it brings; and the obvious fact that sin cannot be covered.

Our Sabbath school has been set up for our enlightenment. Will you study the Word with us today? The happy person is the one who appreciates the book—"His delight is in the Law of the Lord and in His doth he meditate night and day."

A most urgent invitation is extended you to worship with us this Holy Sabbath. A sincere welcome awaits you.

Dear Mr. Ewing:

In your May 31, issue of the evening News Star and in the June 1, issue of the Morning World, we ran a seven column advertisement, featuring our complete line of sports and playclothes for men, women and children.

To tie in with the ad, we had every employee wear a sports costume for the one day, Thursday June 1, to show our customers how attractive the new sports clothes actually are.

I am writing you this unsolicited letter to advise you that this sport clothes promotion was one of the most successful promotions, that we have ever held in our store and that I attribute its entire success to the pulling power of the advertisement which we ran in your newspaper. Our sales on this line of merchandise for Thursday and Friday were phenomenal and we are expecting our sales for tomorrow to be much greater than either Thursday's or Friday's sales.

I wish also at this time to thank your entire Advertising Department for the splendid cooperation we have received in the past, it is indeed a pleasure to have a splendid organization such as yours, to work with in our advertising.

Sincerely,
W. C. DeMoss

Mrs. Dickson Feted At Farewell Party

Mrs. Charles L. Kelley And Mrs. Emmett Stewart Hostesses At Affair Given At Hodge

A charming farewell gesture expressing the sincere regret over the departure of Mrs. Norman Dickson of Hodge, for her new home in Jacksonville, Fla., was the reception in the home of Mrs. Charles L. Kelley, with Mrs. Emmett Stewart co-hostess.

Lavender flowers were used exclusively for floral decor as it is Mrs. Dickson's favorite color. Lavender sweet peas were massed in the most artistic manner in the background of the recepton suite. Lavender stock overflowed from classc shaped urns in the vestibule where the hostesses stood with their guest of honor.

Miss Melba Cox, Mrs. Everett Mobley and Mrs. John Michaud alternated at the punch bowl. Delicious little gateaux embossed with the letters "L. D." were passed among the guests. A variety of other confections sustaining the lavender color theme were served.

Mrs. Claude Stewart, pianist, rendered a program of music during the receiving hours.

A stag party honoring Mr. Dickson permitted his friends to manifest their regret over his departure from Hodge, where he has been associated with the paper mill for several years.

Mr. Patrick McClosky was host on this occasion at the Hodge Country club.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation to Mr. Dickson of a handsome piece of luggage, expressive of the esteem in which he is held.

A buffet supper was served later in the evening.

'Dark Victory' Opens Engagement At Paramount Today

"Sandy," Joan Blondell and Bing Crosby in "East Side of Heaven," splendidly cast with Mischa Auer and Irene Hervey, shows at the midnight preview Saturday at the Paramount theater.

A photomontage of the stars, action and spectacle that is "Dodge City," Warner Bros.' technicolor epic co-starring Errol Flynn and Olivia DeHavilland with Ann Sheridan and Bruce Cabot. It plays Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Paramount theater.

Bette Davis Starred In Newest Hit

Strong Supporting Cast With Academy Award Winner In Film Drama

As the heroine of "Dark Victory," the Warner Brothers picture opening at the Paramount today, Bette Davis enacts what she herself considers the finest part she has ever portrayed in the course of the brilliant career that has established her indubitably as the greatest actress on the screen today.

The role is so unlike any that Bette has ever done before and the picture itself is so far from the beaten track of banal, trite theatrical formula that it is likely to create more comment and discussion than any production which has come from Hollywood in many a day.

It is a poignantly tender love story, one of the saddest and yet bravest tales ever told. On its face it is an up-to-the-minute story about hard and brittle modern people, but under that bright surface it is a narrative of elemental emotions as old as the world itself.

The girl portrayed by Bette is the gay and popular leader of a hard-riding, hard-drinking social set. There is nothing of the spoiled heiress about her, however, for she is presented as a throughly likeable modern miss.

Into her life of heedless gayety, the shadow of tragedy creeps when she becomes the victim of a mysterious malady. Taken against her will to consult a brilliant young doctor, she falls in love with him and he with her. But theirs can be no ordinary, placid romance, for, unknown to the girl, the young doctor has diagnosed her illness as one from which she cannot recover.

That is the premise from which the authors spun as moving a thread of narrative as has ever been transferred to the screen. The beautifully written screen play of Casey Robinson was based upon a stage play written by George Emerson Brewer, Jr., and Bertram Bloch.

The young doctor who shares the romance with Bette is played by George Brent, and other important characters in the story are portrayed by Humphrey Bogart, Geraldine Fitzgerald (newcomer from the stages of Dublin and New York), Ronald Reagan, Henry Travers, Cora Witherspoon and Dorothy Peterson.

The production was directed by Edmund Goulding, who has a special standing in Hollywood as a director of pictures in which "heart interest" is the chief element. His last previous picture was "White Banners," outstanding among last season's films.

Chic Young's famous comic strip, "Blondie," plays at the Paramount theater Wednesday only. Portraying the famous "Funnies" family are Penny Singleton, in the title role; Arthur Lake, as the blundering husband, and Larry Simms, as Baby Dumpling.

Guns or fists, it's all the same to burly Victor McLaglen, as he battles the foe in "Gunga Din." With his buddies, Cary Grant and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and a small detachment of native East Indian soldiers, he stands off a ferocious surprise attack by border tribesmen. Joan Fontaine is in support.

'Blackwell's Island' Now At Capitol

John Garfield Tops Cast In Spectacular Film Of Prison Life

"BLACKWELL ISLAND," the Warner Brothers picture opening today at the Capitol theater, is based, as the title indicates, upon the prison scandal which amazed New York City several years ago. It gains additional interest from the fact that it presents John Garfield, who came to public attention in his debut as a screen actor in "Four Daughters," and more recently as the star of "They Made Me a Criminal."

This time the young newcomer from the New York stage does not have, as he did in "Four Daughters," a mere supporting role but is the central character of the story and naturally the star of the picture. The production is, in fact, a response by Warner Brothers to the insistent public demand for more of Garfield which became manifest upon the release of "Four Daughters."

His part in the new picture is altogether different from the character he played in his first picture. He is, in "Blackwell's Island," a courageous, aggressive, dynamic young newspaper reporter who succeeds brilliantly in achieving the goal he sets for himself.

That goal is two-fold: First, to bring to justice the gang leader and his henchmen who have murdered the policeman brother of the girl he loves, and, second, to expose and correct the fantastic conditions at the city jail on Blackwell's Island.

As is well known as a result of a far-reaching investigation of conditions and management, the jail was virtually taken over by a gang leader and his followers. They not only live in luxury, not only come and go as they please, but have actually organized the institution as a huge racket, with the less fortunate prisoners as their customers and victims. All this is actually shown in the picture.

In order to achieve his objective, Garfield, the reporter, gets himself sentenced to "Blackwell's Island." There he is subjected to a series of persecutions which, it is planned by the gang leader, will end with his death. But he manages to escape, lay his evidence before a new and honest commissioner of correction, and cooperate with that official in a sensational raid on the jail. The raid results in the eradication of all the evils at the jail. And, of course, this gives the young reporter a swell exclusive story.

In addition to Garfield, the cast includes Rosemary Lane, Stanley Fields, Victor Jory, Dick Purcell, Morgan Conway, Granville Bates, Anthony Averill, Peggy Shannon and Charley Foy.

But he manages to escape, lay his evidence before a new and honest commissioner of correction, and cooperate with that official in a sensational raid on the jail. The raid results in the eradication of all the evils at the jail. And, of course, this gives the young reporter a swell exclusive story.

MORE JOBS FILLED IN MONROE SECTION

Continued increases in placement opportunities for Louisiana employment service registrants were reflected in May operations according to a report submitted by R. E. Young, manager of the Monroe office, to B. W. Cason, state commissioner of labor.

In the area served by the Monroe office there was a gain of more than one-third in the number of jobs filled above the level of a year ago, with a total of 309 placements, of which 282 were in private jobs.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING!

Ful-O-Fruit Ice Cream Featured By Blue Ribbon

Summer is a season of fruits. Nature has ordered it so. And such being the case, summer is the time when man's appetite demands fruits.

That's the reason why Blue Ribbon Ice Cream company, 114 Catalpa street, is featuring Ful-O-Fruit ice cream. It is a general, palate-pleasing mixture of fruits, including cherries, pineapples, peaches, bananas and oranges.

At its ice cream parlor, operated in connection with its plant at 114 Catalpa street, Blue Ribbon Ice Cream company not only retails ice cream and sherbet, but hot dogs, hamburgers and double-thick malted milks. The hot dogs and hamburgers are 5 cents each; the malted milks, 10 cents.

The retail price of Blue Ribbon's rich ice cream is: pints, 15 cents; quarts 25 cents. Orders for a pint or more are promptly delivered by the firm—delivered at the hour you designate. Just call telephone number 670.

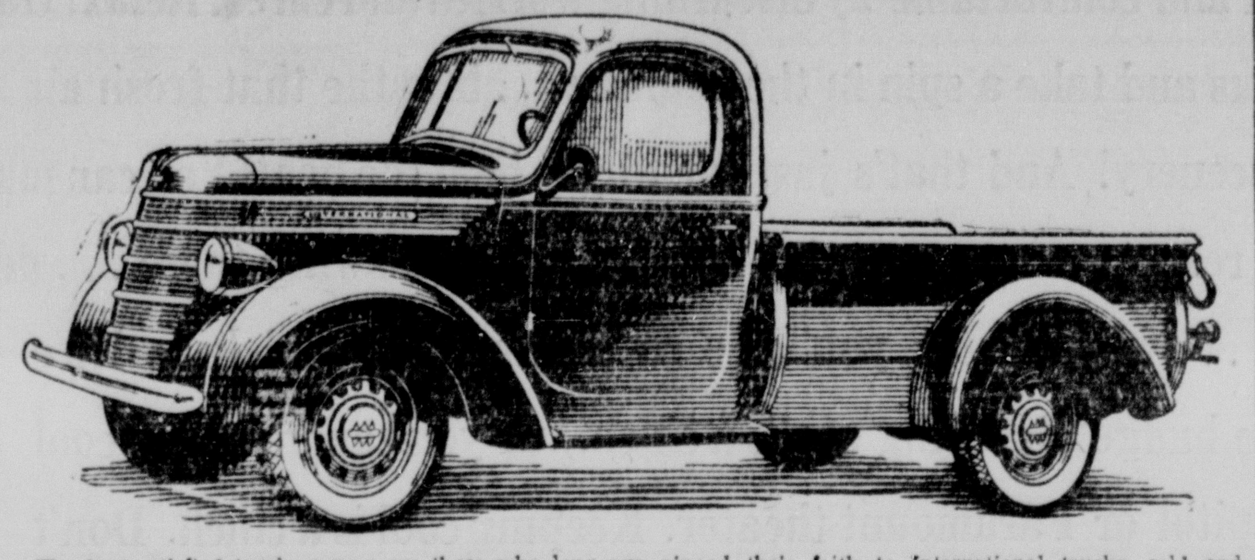
INTERNATIONAL PICK-UP MODEL



The best-satisfied truck owners are those who long ago pinned their faith to International trucks, sold and serviced here by International Harvester company, 720 DeSiard street. If you are a painstaking man with a need for trucks, take time for a few days to ask every International owner or driver you meet his opinion of International trucks and service. You'll hear nothing but praise. International trucks are motor trucks with motor truck motors. Moreover, they are motor trucks with motor truck construction. Shown here is an International pick-up model. The pick-ups come in three sizes, with capacities varying from one-half ton to one ton.

Let Bruno's Stamp Your Name In Gold On Leather Gifts

You high school graduates, before you put your presents away, why don't you definitely establish your ownership of such articles as luggage, billfolds, purses, key cases, cigarette cases, snapshot albums, memory books, diaries and annuals.

You can do this by having your names stamped in gold on them. And the place to have that done is Bruno's Electric Shoe Shop, 106 North Second street. The cost is very moderate.

Your name on an article not only enhances your pride of ownership, but establishes its ownership immediately if it is lost.

Gold embossing, however, is only one phase of the business of Bruno's Electric Shoe Shop. It engages in repairs to shoes, boots and everything made of leather. Moreover, it handles wrist-watch straps, leather belts, arch supports, shoe laces, taps for shoes, shoe dye, shoe polish and numerous other articles. Then, too, it operates a first-class shoe-shine parlor.

Incidentally, Bruno's Electric Shoe Shop maintains a free delivery service and you can have work done there while you wait.

MADE BY DEERE

Bernelle's Does Body, Fender Work

Whether you've dented a fender or wrecked your car, the place to have your automobile restored to its original fine appearance—the way it looked when it rolled from the factory assembly line—is Bernelle's Garage, 311 Ouachita avenue.

When it comes to straightening the fenders and bodies of automobiles and repainting cars, Bernelle's Garage is unsurpassed. And despite the quality of its workmanship, the firm is moderate in its charges.

It engages in every form of automobile repair work and, for the convenience of the public, remains open 24 hours a day.

Associated with Bernelle's Garage is Bernelle-Nettles Radio and Electric Service. It engages in servicing and repairing radios of all makes, both home and auto models, motors and armatures. A man with a college degree in engineering and a number of years of practical experience is in charge.

All work is guaranteed by both Bernelle's Garage and Bernelle-Nettles Radio and Electric Service. Convenient, confidential terms are offer by the garage on major repair jobs.

Tin Jobs, Roofing Properly Done By OK Metal Works

If it pertains to roofing or sheet metal work, the place to get the job done promptly and competently is OK Sheet Metal Works, corner of North Fifth and Olive streets.

All jobs are either done by or under the supervision of the proprietors of the establishment, Jim Scanlon and Paul Plyler; and they are men who have devoted their entire lives to the roofing and sheet metal trade.

OK Sheet Metal Works engages in the repairing and laying of all types of roofs except wooden shingle roofs. If its a sheet metal, metal shingle, tile, slate, composition or built-up roof, seek the services of OK Sheet Metal Works.

And if it's made of sheet metal, OK Sheet Metal Works can repair it or manufacture it. Some of the every-day items made and installed by the firm are gutters, drain pipes, ventilators, canopies for kitchen stoves, awnings for doors and windows, tanks, blowpipes for gins and conduits and other sheet metal work in connection with air conditioning.

Lasco Lessens Traffic Hazards

Lasco brake lining can "take it." It is both heat-resisting and wear-defying. World-wide use has proved its consistent performance under any conditions and its effectiveness with any equipment.

Lasco brake lining, which is especially designed to meet the requirements of today's automotive vehicles and traffic conditions, is distributed in northeast Louisiana by Hearn Piston Ring Sales, 506 North Second street. The telephone number of the establishment is 414.

Heat, hills and frequent stops hold no terror for Lasco brake lining. It is manufactured to give extra thousands of miles of safe, trouble-free service. It assures silent, safe, sustained performance at all times.

Death and destruction have met their match in Lasco brake lining. It meets the challenge of today's highway hazards with safer, more dependable, more economical braking. Specify Lasco when you have your brakes relined.

In addition to Lasco brake lining, Hearn Piston Ring Sales handles Steel Flex piston rings and Arrow Head piston and pins and engages in the reboring of cylinders and the fitting of pins.

Little Club Small In Its Name Alone

The name The Little Club is deceiving. Because, first of all, there is nothing "small" about the management. The place "belongs" to its patrons as long as they conduct themselves properly. Fun to the fullest is favored; rowdyism, frowned upon. Then, too, the place has ample accommodaton for large crowds.

There is no cover charge at The Little Club, located at 2800 DeSiard street. It maintains three separate dance floors for the enjoyment of its patrons, one large one and two small ones. This enables congenial groups to gravitate together.

Moreover, The Little Club, which has large parking facilities, permits its patrons to leave their cars around the establishment during the home games of the Monroe baseball club. Incidentally, the club is a convenient place for fans to refresh themselves before and after the games.

The Little Club serves sandwiches of every kind and operates a bar at which mixed and straight drinks and cold drinks of every kind are obtainable. Moreover, it features prompt curb service. And there is plenty of shade around the place where motorists can eat and drink in cool comfort.

Ring-Free Moves Carbon Deposited In Motors Of Cars

Meeting the demands of powerful, high-speed motors with which automobiles are now equipped, Macmillan Ring-Free oil has achieved a preeminent position in its field. These factors have enabled it to do so: greater film strength, higher heat resistance, longer cling to metal, faster penetration, non-corrosive, removes hard carbon, less affected by dilution.

Among the things accomplished by Ring-Free lubrication are: greater power with less fuel consumption; quicker acceleration and smoother power; lightened strain on motors, with corresponding lengthened life of cars, reduced repair bills and increased dependability all around.

These things have been attained to a greater degree by Ring-Free than any other oil. But more than that, Ring-Free has a quality that no other oil claims—that of removing the carbon from motors that has been deposited by the use of other oils.

Because of all these factors, Macmillan Ring-Free is truly the thrift lubricant.

When you make your next change of oil, fill up with Ring-Free. However, if your automobile has seen considerable service, don't be surprised with a slightly increased oil consumption on the first one or two changes. That results from the loosening of carbon on the piston rings and cylinder heads of your motor. The carbon removal being more or less irregular, a little more oil than usual will get by. Don't try to go too long between the first few changes. Then when Ring-Free has got in its work on the carbon, note the improvement in the performance of your car. If the oil is black and gummy during the first few changes, it is a further indication of carbon removal. By the third change of Ring-Free, the rings and pistons of your motor should be free of all carbon and your motor will take a new lease on life.

Ring-Free lubricants are distributed in this area by Hale and McNeil, 213 Olive street, and the firm stands ready to prove all claims for their products. The telephone number of the establishment is 988.

Have Your Motor Checked, Tuned Up At United Electric

With spring here, you'll be using your automobile more than ever. Well, if you want to enjoy your driving to the utmost, have your motor checked at United Electric Service, 308 North Third street. The concern has specialized equipment that reveals immediately whether the power plant of your car is in tune—functioning properly.

If it is out of adjustment, United Electric Service has the equipment and the men, all specialists in their lines, to tune it up.

It costs you nothing to find out if your motor is operating at maximum efficiency. The check-up is free.

If your motor isn't performing at its best, the sooner you get it adjusted, the better. The cost of under-par operation will cost you more in the long run than a tune-up now.

Specialized equipment utilized by United Electric Service in checking and tuning up motors include a Distrib-U-Scope, for checking and adjusting distributors; a Stroboscopic Timer, an instrument that enables a mechanic to set a timer exactly; a Dielectric Tester, for testing spark plugs; an Exhaust Analyzer, which tells whether a car is wasting gasoline; a Vacuum Gauge, which reveals whether or not a motor is in perfect balance; and an Electric R. P. M. Indicator, a mechanism that tells the speed at which a motor is traveling. It is used in connection with the other equipment to adjust motor to factory specifications at various speeds. Factory-specification charts are used in adjusting all motors.

Shorty's Wants Good Used Cars

Shorty's Body Shop and Garage, 309 Washington street, is short on good used cars. It is therefore offering premium trade-ins on machines of a year or two ago in the purchase of new Hudson automobiles.

Now is the opportune time to get the maximum trade-in value on your late model used car.

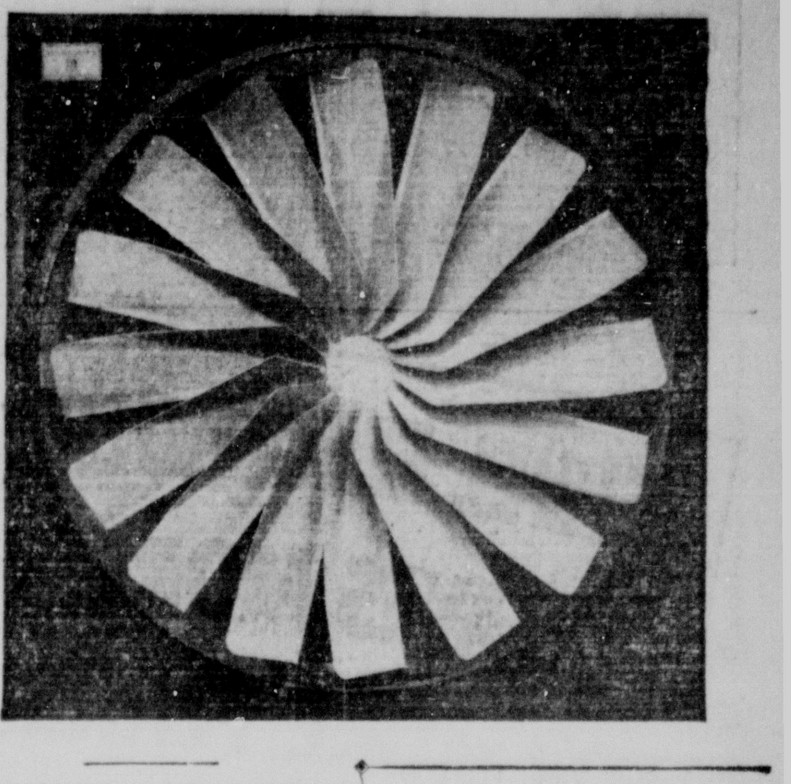
HIGH QUALITY, LOW COST



You get high quality at low cost when you buy a Harrison attic fan, one of which is pictured above. Ventilate your home with one of these fans this summer and live in cool comfort during the hottest days. Harrison attic fans, which are manufactured in three stock sizes and the prices of which have been reduced approximately 20 per cent since last year, may be purchased on easy terms.

Harrison fans were reasonably priced last year. The slash in prices now makes them available to people who have to live in accordance with a stringent budget. These fans are manufactured right here in Monroe. They are made by Monroe craftsmen at Monroe Armature Works, 2019 DeSiard street.

In addition to attic fans, however, Monroe Armature Works manufactures window fans, a sort of portable attic fan for ventilating small homes and apartments; exhaust fans, and ceiling and pedestal-mounted air circulators. Moreover, it engages in the repair of fans and motors of all makes and models.

The stock sizes of attic fans are 36 inches, 42 inches and 48 inches. Larger sizes are built to order.

Of all-steel construction, Harrison fans are guaranteed for five years. And Monroe Armature Works passes on to purchasers the manufacturers' guarantee on the electric motors that propel them.

Harrison attic fans are not only sturdy, but economical and quiet. Moreover, their air delivery is equal to the best. Quiet operation is attained by mounting both motors and bearings in rubber. The bearings are good for 2,400 hours of constant operation without regreasing.

Harrison attic fans are being sold throughout northeast Louisiana and may be had either through electrical dealers or direct from Monroe Armature Works, the telephone number of which is 98.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING!

Summer is a season of fruits. Nature has ordered it so. And such being the case, summer is the time when man's appetite demands fruits.

That's the reason why Blue Ribbon Ice Cream company, 114 Catalpa street, is featuring Ful-O-Fruit ice cream. It is a general, palate-pleasing mixture of fruits, including cherries, pineapples, peaches, bananas and oranges.

At its ice cream parlor, operated in connection with its plant at 114 Catalpa street, Blue Ribbon Ice Cream company not only retails ice cream and sherbet, but hot dogs, hamburgers and double-thick malted milks. The hot dogs and hamburgers are 5 cents each; the malted milks 10 cents.

The retail price of Blue Ribbon's rich ice cream is: pints 15 cents, quarts 25 cents. Orders for a pint or more are promptly delivered by the firm—delivered at the hour you designate. Just call telephone number 670.

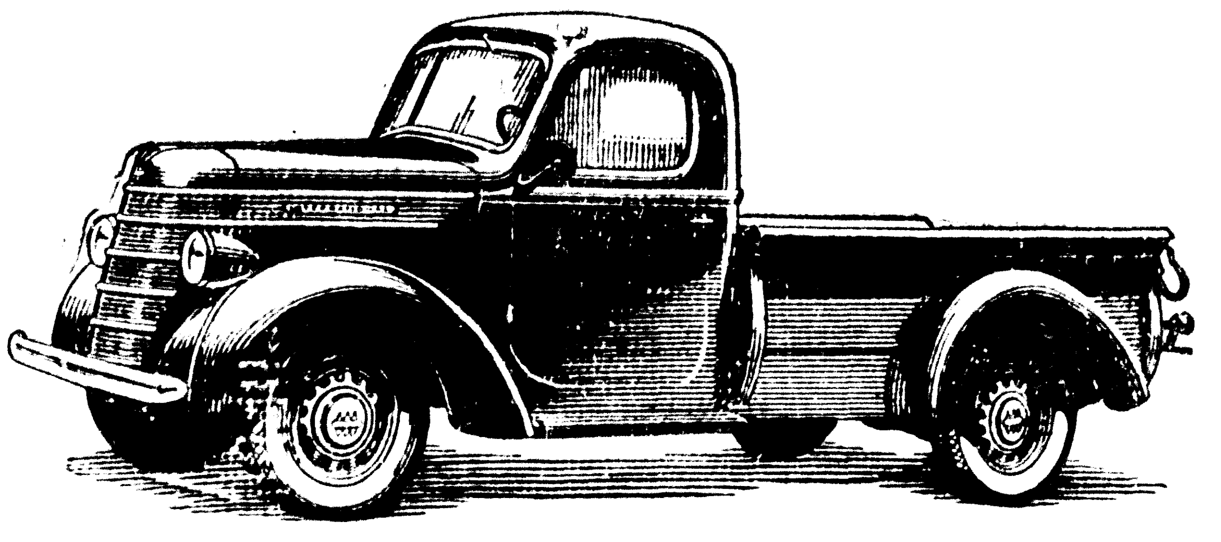
INTERNATIONAL PICK-UP MODEL



The best-satisfied truck owners are those who long ago pinned their faith to International trucks, sold and serviced here by International Harvester company, 720 DeSiard street. If you are a painstaking man with a need for trucks, take time for a few days to ask every International owner or driver you meet his opinion of International trucks and service. You'll hear nothing but praise. International trucks are motor trucks with motor truck motors. Moreover, they are motor trucks with motor truck construction. Shown here is an International pick-up model. The pick-ups come in three sizes, with capacities varying from one-half ton to one ton.

MADE BY DEERE

Bernelle's Does Body, Fender Work

Whether you've dented a fender or wrecked your car, the place to have your automobile restored to its original fine appearance, the way it looked when it rolled from the factory assembly line, is Bernelle's Garage, 311 Ouachita avenue.

When it comes to straightening the fenders and bodies of automobiles and repainting cars, Bernelle's Garage is unsurpassed. And despite the quality of its workmanship the firm is moderate in its charges.

It engages in every form of automobile repair work and, for the convenience of the public, remains open 24 hours a day.

Associated with Bernelle's Garage is Bernelle-Nettles Radio and Electric Service. It engages in servicing and repairing radios of all makes, both home and auto models, motors and armatures. A man with a college degree in engineering and a number of years of practical experience is in charge.

All work is guaranteed by both Bernelle's Garage and Bernelle-Nettles Radio and Electric Service. Convenient confidential terms are offered by the garage on major repair jobs.

Tin Jobs, Roofing Properly Done By OK Metal Works

If it pertains to roofing or sheet metal work, the place to get the job done promptly and competently is OK Sheet Metal Works, corner of North Fifth and Olive streets.

All jobs are either done by or under the supervision of the proprietors of the establishment, Jim Scanlon and Paul Plyler, and they are men who have devoted their entire lives to the roofing and sheet metal trade.

OK Sheet Metal Works engages in the repairing and laying of all types of roofs except wooden shingle roofs. If it's a sheet metal, metal shingle, tile, slate, composition or built-up roof, seek the services of OK Sheet Metal Works.

And if it's made of sheet metal, OK Sheet Metal Works can repair it or manufacture it. Some of the everyday items made and installed by the firm are gutters, drain pipes, ventilators, canopies for kitchen stoves, awnings for doors and windows, tanks, blowpipes for gins and conduits and other sheet metal work in connection with air conditioning.

Lasco Lessens Traffic Hazards

Lasco brake lining can "take it." It is both heat-resisting and wear-defying. World-wide use has proven its consistent performance under any conditions and its effectiveness with any equipment.

Lasco brake lining, which is especially designed to meet the requirements of today's automotive vehicles and traffic conditions, is distributed in northeast Louisiana by Hearn Piston Ring Sales, 506 North Second street. The telephone number of the establishment is 414.

Heat, hills and frequent stops hold no terror for Lasco brake lining. It is manufactured to give extra thousands of miles of safe, trouble-free service. It assures silent, safe, sustained performance at all times.

Death and destruction have met their match in Lasco brake lining. It meets the challenge of today's highway hazards with safer, more dependable, more economical braking. Specify Lasco when you have your brakes relined.

In addition to Lasco brake lining, Hearn Piston Ring Sales handles Steel Flex piston rings and Arrow Head piston and pins and engages in the reboring of cylinders and the fitting of pins.

Little Club Small In Its Name Alone

The name The Little Club is deceiving. Because, first of all, there is nothing "small" about the management. The place "belongs" to its patrons as long as they conduct themselves properly. Fun to the fullest is favored; rowdyism, frowned upon. Then, too, the place has ample accommodation for large crowds.

There is no cover charge at The Little Club, located at 2800 DeSiard street. It maintains three separate dance floors for the enjoyment of its patrons, one large one and two small ones. This enables congenial groups to gravitate together.

Moreover, The Little Club, which has large parking facilities, permits its patrons to leave their cars around the establishment during the home games of the Monroe baseball club. Incidentally, the club is a convenient place for fans to refresh themselves before and after the games.

The Little Club serves sandwiches of every kind and operates a bar at which mixed and straight drinks and cold drinks of every kind are obtainable. Moreover, it features prompt curb service. And there is plenty of shade around the place where motorists can eat and drink in cool comfort.

Ring-Free Moves Carbon Deposited In Motors Of Cars

Meeting the demands of powerful, high-speed motors with which automobiles are now equipped, Macmillan Ring-Free oil has achieved a preeminent position in its field. These factors have enabled it to do so: greater film strength, higher heat resistance, longer cling to metal, faster penetration, non-corrosive, removes hard carbon, less affected by dilution.

Among the things accomplished by Ring-Free lubrication are: greater power with less fuel consumption; quicker acceleration and smoother power, lightened strain on motors, with corresponding lengthened life of cars, reduced repair bills and increased dependability all around.

These things have been attained to a greater degree by Ring-Free than any other oil. But more than that, Ring-Free has a quality that no other oil claims: that of removing the carbon from motors that has been deposited by the use of other oils.

Because of all these factors, Macmillan Ring-Free is truly the thrift lubricant.

When you make your next change of oil, fill up with Ring-Free. However, if your automobile has seen considerable service, don't be surprised with a slightly increased oil consumption on the first one or two changes. That results from the loosening of carbon on the piston rings and cylinder heads of your motor. The carbon removal being more or less irregular, a little more oil than usual will get by. Don't try to go too long between the first few changes. Then when Ring-Free has got in its work on the carbon, note the improvement in the performance of your car. If the oil is black and gummy during the first few changes, it is a further indication of carbon removal. By the third change of Ring-Free, the rings and pistons of your motor should be free of all carbon and your motor will take a new lease on life.

Ring-Free lubricants are distributed in this area by Hale and McNeil, 213 Olive street, and the firm stands ready to prove all claims for their products. The telephone number of the establishment is 988.

Have Your Motor Checked, Tuned Up At United Electric

With spring here, you'll be using your automobile more than ever. Well, if you want to enjoy your driving to the utmost, have your motor checked at United Electric Service, 308 North Third street. The concern has specialized equipment that reveals immediately whether the power plant of your car is in tune—functioning properly.

If it is out of adjustment, United Electric Service has the equipment and the men, all specialists in their lines, to tune it up.

It costs you nothing to find out if your motor is operating at maximum efficiency. The check-up is free.

If your motor isn't performing at its best, the sooner you get it adjusted, the better. The cost of under-par operation will cost you more in the long run than a tune-up now.

Specialized equipment utilized by United Electric Service in checking and tuning up motors include a Distrib-U-Scope, for checking and adjusting distributors; a Stroboscopic Timer, an instrument that enables a mechanic to set a timer exactly; a Dielectric Tester, for testing spark plugs; an Exhaust Analyzer, which tells whether a car is wasting gasoline, a Vacuum Gauge, which reveals whether or not a motor is in perfect balance, and an Electric R. P. M. Indicator, a mechanism that tells the speed at which a motor is traveling. It is used in connection with the other equipment to adjust motor to factory specifications at various speeds. Factory-specification charts are used in adjusting all motors.

Shorty's Wants Good Used Cars

Shorty's Body Shop and Garage, 309 Washington street, is short on good used cars. It is therefore offering premium trade-ins on machines of a year or two ago in the purchase of new Hudson automobiles.

Now is the opportune time to get the maximum trade-in value on your late model used car.

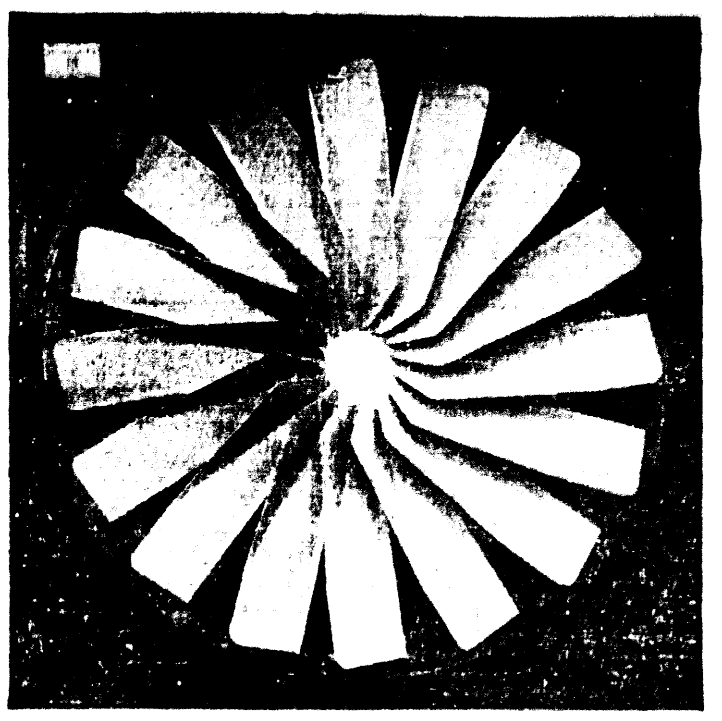
HIGH QUALITY, LOW COST



You get high quality at low cost when you buy a Harrison attic fan, one of which is pictured above. Ventilate your home with one of these fans this summer and live in cool comfort during the hottest days. Harrison attic fans, which are manufactured in three stock sizes and the prices of which have been reduced approximately 20 per cent since last year, may be purchased on easy terms.

Harrison fans were reasonably priced last year. The slash in prices now makes them available to people who have to live in accordance with a stringent budget. These fans are manufactured right here in Monroe. They are made by Monroe craftsmen at Monroe Armature Works, 2019 DeSiard street.

In addition to attic fans, however, Monroe Armature Works manufactures window fans, a sort of portable attic fan for ventilating small homes and apartments, exhaust fans, and ceiling and pedestal-mounted air circulators. Moreover, it engages in the repair of fans and motors of all makes and models.

The stock sizes of attic fans are 36 inches, 42 inches and 48 inches. Larger sizes are built to order.

Of all-steel construction, Harrison fans are guaranteed for five years. And Monroe Armature Works passes on to purchasers the manufacturers' guarantee on the electric motors that propel them.

Harrison attic fans are not only sturdy, but economical and quiet. Moreover, their air delivery is equal to the best. Quiet operation is attained by mounting both motors and bearings in rubber. The bearings are good for 2400 hours of constant operation without regreasing.

Harrison attic fans are being sold throughout northeast Louisiana and may be had either through electrical dealers or direct from Monroe Armature Works, the telephone number of which is 98.

MORE JOBS FILLED IN MONROE SECTION

Continued increases in placement opportunities for Louisiana employment service registrants were reflected in May operations according to a report submitted by R. E. Young, manager of the Monroe office, to B. W. Cason, state commissioner of labor.

In the area served by the Monroe office there was a gain of more than one-third in the number of jobs filled above the level of a year ago, with a total of 360 placements, of which 282 were in private jobs.

A moderate decrease in the number of applications received during the month was also recorded.

PLAN BIBLE SCHOOL

DELEGATES NAMED

OAK GROVE, La., June 3.—(Special)—Delegates to represent the local Lions club at the district convention to be held at New Orleans June 7 are D. B. Fiske, H. J. Long and Albert McKee, with J. Vernon Sims, C. H. Neely and R. V. Reeves alternates.

DON'T LET THE TEMPERATURE WORK ON YOUR TEMPER

You can't laugh off the heat, mister, old Sol really means business this time o'year! But you can keep cool and comfortable by discarding worries and cares! Relax! Have Fun! Hop in the old bus and take a spin in the country . . . breathe that fresh air . . . enjoy that pastoral scenery! And that's just one way to beat the heat! You can make your home a summer resort . . . new curtains here . . . a porch swing there . . . deck chairs on the lawn . . . why, mister, you'll be so comfortable and lazy-like you'll never want to budge! Keeping cool's a cinch. Or you can go to the cool air-conditioned Capitol or Paramount theater. Keeping cool is a cinch. Don't let the temperature work on your temper.

SUMMER SUITS

•LINENS •SEERSUCKERS

GERM-FREE CLEANED AND WASHED

Laundering wash suits is a perfected art with us. Long years of experience—dealing with a clientele whose taste is exacting in detail—has proved our ability to improve on garments from their original fit. Get out your last summer's linens—call us—see the results—and you will enjoy wearing your summer suits more than ever.

We have a series of special presses for different portions of linen suits, whereby you get the original shape as patterned.

DON'T LET THE TEMPERATURE WORK ON YOUR TEMPER

You can't laugh off the heat, mister, old Sol really means business this time o'year! But you can keep cool and comfortable by discarding worries and cares! Relax! Have Fun! Hop in the old bus and take a spin in the country . . . breathe that fresh air . . . enjoy that pastoral scenery! And that's just one way to beat the heat! You can make your home a summer resort . . . new curtains here . . . a porch swing there . . . deck chairs on the lawn . . . why, mister, you'll be so comfortable and lazy-like you'll never want to budge! Keeping cool's a cinch. Or you can go to the cool air-conditioned Capitol or Paramount theater. Keeping cool is a cinch. Don't let the temperature work on your temper.

SERVEL ELECTROLUX SAVES MORE FOR MORE YEARS!

NO MOVING PARTS in its freezing system MEANS:

● PERMANENT SILENCE ● CONTINUED LOW OPERATING COST ● MORE YEARS OF DEPENDABLE SERVICE ● SAVINGS THAT PAY FOR IT

SERVEL Electrolux saves enough actually to pay for itself . . . then gives you these savings for as long as you own it.

It saves first thru better food protection: cuts spoilage, keeps leftovers fresh, permits buying at quantity prices without risk of waste.

Servel Electrolux also saves since its low operating cost is never increased by the wear of moving parts.

The fact that the gas refrigerator has no moving parts in its freezing system also accounts for its permanent silence—and you know that silence is one of the first things you'd want in any automatic refrigerator!

DICK TRACY
YES, SIR, I'VE FOUND OUT WHERE THE PRINCES' VALET TAKES THEIR LAUNDRY — NOW I'VE GOT TO GET IN THERE JUST AS TRACY TOLD ME TO DO.
IN THIS DISGUISE I'VE GOT TO APPEAR STOOP-SHOULDERED. THESE ROPES WILL KEEP ME FROM FORGETTING MYSELF AND STRAIGHTENING UP.
WOW! IT'S PLENTY TOUGH TRYING TO DRESS IN A PACKING BOX- BUT I GUESS I'LL MAKE IT.
UH-HUH... NOT BAD! NOW TO TAKE MY TRAY OF BUTTONS — AND START OUT.
MEANWHILE, INSIDE THE WATERFRONT BUILDING INTO WHICH JUNIOR SAW THE VALET TAKE THE BAGS...
BUT I THOUGHT THEY WERE GOING TO BE HELD PRISONERS ON THE BOAT!
AFTER THE COAST GUARD BOARDED THE BOAT LAST WEEK, THE BOYS GOT COLD FEET. THEY DECIDED IT WAS BEST TO BRING 'EM HERE.
HOW MUCH LONGER IS "WHIP" GOING TO PLAY THIS GAME? WHY, WE'VE GOT ENOUGH STERLING, CURIOS AND JEWELRY TO RETIRE ALL OF US FOR LIFE!
YOU SCOUNDRELS WILL PAY DEARLY FOR THIS! MY GOVERNMENT WILL HAVE THE HEADS OF EVERY LAST ONE OF — QUIET, ROYALTY! IT'S PAST YOUR BEDTIME, GO TO SLEEP!
SLAM
WHO ARE — WHAT DO YOU WANT, KID?
PLEASE, SIR, WILL YOU BUY A CARD OF MY BUTTONS?
GET DOWN THOSE STAIRS BEFORE I...
EASY, YOU FOOL. DON'T YOU SEE SHE'S --CRIPPLED?
LISTEN, KID... WE DON'T WANT ANY BUTTONS.... ...BUT IF YOU'RE HUNGRY, I'LL FIX YOU A BITE TO EAT... IN THE NEXT ROOM.... COME IN.
OH, THANK YOU, MA'M.

SAY, EMMY—CAN I BORRY YOUR CAR?
INDEED YOU CAN NOT!
WELL, OUR CAR AIN'T OLD ENOUGH FOR YOU TO DRIVE IT.
OKAY—IF THAT'S TH' WAY YOU FEEL ABOUT IT. I WAS ON'Y GONNA GO DOWN TOWN AND BUY YOU A BIRTHDAY PRESENT.
WHY, OF COURSE YOU CAN, KAYO. LORD PLUSHBOTTOM WILL DRIVE YOU HISSELF AND HE CAN BUY ME A PRESENT, TOO.
HUMM—"SUMMER SALE—ALL HATS $1.98" THAT SHOULD BE A SUITABLE GIFT.... WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO GET HER, KAYO?
SOME COOKIES. I DON'T LIKE TH' KIND SHE'S GOT AT HOME.
WHO OWNS THIS CAR, KID?
LORD PLUSHBOTTOM, WHY?
NO PARKING
WELL, YOU BETTER GO TELL HIM I'LL GIVE HIM JUST TWO MINUTES TO MOVE OR I'LL HAVE TO GIVE HIM A TICKET.
HECK! THERE AIN'T ANY SENSE IN ME DOIN' THAT. I'LL MOVE IT MYSELF. ...LEMME SEE... DO YOU PUSH THIS THING OR PULL IT?...
W-WHOA!
KER-ASH
DON'T GO HOLLERIN' AT ME! I SAID "I'M SORRY!"
HERE'S A PRESENT FROM ME, EMMY—LORD PLUSHBOTTOM STAYED DOWN TOWN TO TRY AND RAISE SOME MORE DOUGH. HE LACKED ABOUT SEVENTY-SIX BUCKS OF HAVIN' ENOUGH TO—
SEVENTY-SIX DOLLARS! MY! MY! HE MUST BE BUYING SOMETHING SWELL.

THE GUMPS
EENTO THAT CAR, GUMP - WE GO FOR NICE LEETLE RIDE, YES?
THE HIGH-SPEED CAR WHIZZES OFF IN THE DEAD OF NIGHT - BIM WONDERS - IS THIS THE END
SEVERAL HOURS LATER - THE CAR, CRAWLING ALONG A NARROW, WINDING DIRT ROAD, COMES TO A HALT BEFORE THE DOOR OF A RAMSHACKLE OLD CABIN -
RUDELY SHOVING BIM AHEAD OF THEM, HIS CAPTORS ENTER THE CABIN - GET EEN THERE, PEEG!
NOW - YOU HAVE NICE QUIET PLACE EEN WHEECH TO THINK - TOMORROW WE RETURN - AND THEN EEF YOU DO NOT TELL US WHERE TO FIND THE PLANS FOR YOUR AERIAL TORPEDO -
YES - HEH - HEH! WE HAVE WAYS TO MAKE PEOPLE TALK - YES?
DON'T WORRY - HE WEEL - WON'T YOU, MY ROMEO?
AFTER A BRIEF STRUGGLE AGAINST HIS BONDS, BIM REALIZES THAT HE IS HELPLESS - WHAT IF THEY DON'T RETURN? WHAT IF THEY DO??
- - DAWN PEEPS OVER THE HORIZON, BUT IT DOES NOT BRING WITH IT HOPE -
THIS IS THE TOUGHEST SPOT I'VE EVER BEEN IN -
I CAN EXPECT NO HELP FROM THE INTELLIGENCE SERVICE - THEY WON'T THINK IT STRANGE THAT I'M MISSING - BECAUSE I'M ON MY OWN!
GUS EDSON
- AND NO HELP FROM MY FAMILY EITHER - MILLIE MIGHT EVEN THINK THAT I'VE RUN AWAY WITH THAT AWFUL MAGDA MALLIS -

GEE! YOU MEAN YOU WAS A REAL MOUNTY, MR. HOOPLE, AN' COULD LASSO AN' EVERYTHING ?
LIST AND I WILL TELL YOU OF THE TIME WHEN, AS THE MOST COURAGEOUS MAN ON THE FORCE, I WAS SENT TO CAPTURE ALIVE THE TRAPPER JACQUES LA GLUE, A DESPERATE KILLER!
T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
AFTER TRACKING HIM SOME 500 MILES THROUGH A WILD AND UNINHABITED COUNTRY, I CAME UPON THE HOT ASHES OF HIS CAMP FIRE!
HAVING DEVELOPED AN UNCANNY SENSE OF THE WAYS OF CRIMINALS, I ANTICIPATED, BY DEDUCTION, THE DIRECTION HE HAD TAKEN, AND AFTER A FORCED MARCH I SIGHTED THE MURDERER UPON A ROCKY PROMINENCE ON GREAT SLAVE LAKE!
KNOWING THAT SHOULD HE GAIN THE WATERS OF THE LAKE I WOULD FAIL IN MY MISSION, I MOVED TO CUT HIM OFF! BUT TO MY HORROR, UPON GAINING A CLIFF OVERLOOKING THE LAKE, LA GLUE HAD ALREADY LAUNCHED A HIDDEN CANOE!
SEEING A LARGE PINE ATOP A NEIGHBORING CLIFF 300 FEET AWAY, I QUICKLY LASSOED IT AND, JUMPING INTO SPACE, I SWUNG OUT OVER THE LAKE ABOVE THE KILLER'S CANOE!
TIMING HIS SPEED PERFECTLY, I LET GO AND PLUMPED SQUARELY UPON HIM!
IN THE DESPERATE STRUGGLE THAT FOLLOWED, MY EXPERT MASTERY OF FISTICUFFS AND WRESTLING SOON SUBDUED HIM!
IN MY CITATION, THE KING MENTIONED THAT OFFICER HOOPLE ALWAYS GETS HIS MAN, AND TO COMMEMORATE THAT DEED THE MOUNTIES ADOPTED THE NOW FAMOUS LINE AS THEIR MOTTO ~~ HAR-R-UMPH!
AW, C'MON! HE SLICES TH' BALONEY WITH A MEAT CLEAVER!

HYPNOTISMISMUM?
YES, HYPNOTISM, IT IS AN ART WITH WHICH I HAVE HAD SOME EXPERIENCE
FOR EXAMPLE, BY MEANS OF HYPNOTISM I CAN PERSUADE OUR FRIEND ROUGH-HOUSE, TO GIVE ME A HAMBURGER, -- A FREE ONE
HA! HA! YOU THINK SO? --
LET'S SEE YOU TRY
VERY WELL, IF WE ARE TO MAKE THE EXPERIMENT WE SHOULD HAVE A HAMBURGER
OKAY, I WILL GET ONE
NOW, YOU MUST LOOK ME IN THE EYE AND MAKE YOUR MIND A BLANK
ARE YOU READY?
YES
I HAVE PAID YOU FOR THE HAMBURGER, I HAVE PAID YOU, HAVE I NOT?
NO!
SNAP SNAP
MONEY! MONEY! MONEY! YOU HAVE YOUR MONEY!
NO!!
SNAP SNAP
MY FRIEND, I FEAR I AM UNABLE TO HYPNOTIZE YOU
I KNEW YOU COULD NOT
YOUR "WON'T-POWER" IS GREATER THAN MY "WILL-POWER". ALLOW ME TO CONGRATULATE YOU
YES, I AM KNOWN FOR MY "WON'T-POWER
